BOOKS FOR THE
ARE OUR SPECIALTY

The value of business libraries, for large as well as for small organizations, is now universally recognized, language books necessarily forming an important part of them, and of private libraries as well.

Facilitating business and social correspondence with other countries, time and effort spent in the study of foreign languages are sure to bring valuable returns, and as our stock of books in this line is unsurpassed, we invite inspection or correspondence regarding the same.

Due to present conditions, prices are subject, more or less, to fluctuations and we therefore refrain from submitting here our full price-list of language text-books, dictionaries, grammars, conversation-books etc. in foreign languages. Copies of this catalogue, our No. 17c, will be mailed gratis on application, and quotations (in conformity with the prevailing rate of exchange) for such items as may be specifically indicated by our correspondents will be cheerfully given. Our long established reputation for fair dealing makes the invariable securing of quotations before purchasing needless, as our customers may depend upon our filling all orders at the lowest prices compatible with conditions existing at the time,

From among the multitude of languages, represented by books in our stock, we would call attention especially to the following, our assortment of which is exceptionally comprehensive and up-to-date, the individual tongues also appearing in various combinations:
Czechoslovakian, Danish, Dutch (Hollandish), English, French, German, Hungarian, Italian, Portuguese, Roumanian, Russian, Spanish, Swedish.

Of the more important of these languages we always carry in stock technological and other scientific dictionaries containing the most modern terms employed in the arts and sciences.

We also beg to call attention to our large supply of text-books in Universal Languages, such as Esperanto and Ido, to which we are continually adding new publications.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF
E. STEIGER & CO.

ESTABLISHED 1864 — 49 MURRAY STREET NEW YORK — P. O. BOX 905 CITY HALL STATION

As a result of our foresight in having acquired considerable stocks of paper etc before the excessive rise in prices began, we have been able to maintain the original pre-war list prices on the language text-books of our own publication and also the trade discount of 33⅓ % on same for several years, and while we still allow the special trade discount of 33⅓ %, we regret to state that increased costs of production have obliged us to revise our price-list.

In consequence of the unsettled conditions in foreign exchange, and the lack of uniformity with which the various foreign publishers make their prices. it is not, at present, possible to quote fixed prices on all publications to be imported, but purchasers may rest assured that any order with which they may favor us will be filled as expeditiously and at as low a figure as circumstances permit.

We shall be glad to mail available prospectuses and catalogues of imported books and periodicals, and to give quotations on the same.

Having continually enlarged our department for kindergarten material and kindred school supplies, we are particularly well equipped to fill large or small orders promptly.

Estimates on School Board Contracts cheerfully furnished to the Trade.

†I, THE KING. This is the story of a man who had money, and didn't know what to do with it;—of a man who found he was happiest when responsible for the happiness of others;—of a man who was king—over no more than a small Pacific island, to be sure, but still a king. THE BEST COLLEGE SHORT STORIES

1924 - 1925

Edited by H. T. Schnittkind, Ph.D. and H. C. Baker

These stories have the crisp, fresh viewpoint of youth, unafraid, daring, brimming with life, fire and imagination. As a group, they combine skill, beauty, intelligent observation. They are unhampered by tradition, commercialism or convention. Each story differs from the others. Here are tales of which older and more experienced professional writers might be proud. The collection is a cross-section of the talent of the writers of the future.

In addition to presenting what the publishers deem stories that show sufficient talent—even genius, which might be well used as models, there are incorporated in the book:

Letters from editors of the leading magazines, giving in detail their short story requirements.
A list of the leading magazines of the country—and addresses.
Numerous articles by professional short story writers, telling how they won success. $2.50

History, Biography and Travel

BETWEEN TWO WARS

By Prof. James Mark Baldwin

A book of memories and opinions by the American philosopher, James Mark Baldwin, former professor in Princeton and Johns Hopkins, now of Paris.

Professor Baldwin (who is honorary Doctor of Oxford, Geneva, Glasgow, Sc., and Member of the Institute of France, recalls his memories extending the sixty years between our Civil War, in the midst of which he was born in Columbia, S. C., and the Great War in which he passed through many exciting and moving scenes. His personal activities and associations beginning in the reconstruction period in South Carolina from Toronto to Oxford and Paris via Mexico, include extended professional terms at Princeton and Baltimore.

Filled with anecdote and illustration, these chapters discuss Princeton, Johns Hopkins and American Education in the 80's and 90's; then life in Oxford and England where relations were established with scholars and public men. Other chapters discuss Mexico under Diaz and the American Mexican policy. The writer has been special adviser to the Mexican government and professor in the National University of Mexico. The war descriptions include accounts, with official reports and illustrations, of the torpedo attack on the "Sussex" in the English Channel in March 1916, which stirred American opinion and nearly cost the writer and his family their lives; life in Paris during the war, incidents in the trenches and on official tours made to the front as guest of the British and French governments: American political policy and American War activities and the character and rôle of President Wilson with whom Professor Baldwin was associated for ten years on the Princeton faculty. Other figures which pass under his review are those of .

William James, Grover Cleveland, Mark Twain, together with Englishmen such as Bryce and Balfour, and Frenchmen such as Poincaré, Millerand and Clemenceau, his remarks being all based on personal data.

The author has gathered together selections from his war papers and addresses, all inspired by enthusiasm for the Allied Cause, those dating from 1914 when Professor Baldwin belonged to the group of men who publicly condemned the policy of neutrality.

Included are many "Letters Received" by the author, selected from his files of correspondence. They illustrate the impressions of Mexicans in the book from President James McCosh, written in 1885 to Bergson, in 1920 from Simon Newcombe, in the nineties to Henry James. Among these letters figures a selection from a file of unpublished letters and cards from William James, a correspondence from 1890 to James' death in 1910.

Possibly the feature of the entire work, which will be of greatest interest apart from the chapters on the war is the writer's frank and deliberate characterization of Woodrow Wilson and William James. Illustrated. Two volumes. Boxed. (In Preparation) $10.00

By James J. Walsh, M.D., Ph.D., Sc.D.

Not in any single volume has there been compressed so much information about the enormous debt the world owes the Catholic Church throughout the ages.

It shows how the Church has developed the sense of beauty, strengthened man's realization of his duty, cultivated his love of philosophy and literature, spurred him on in sculpture, architecture, music, literature, painting and in the arts and crafts.

A book of genuine inspiration for both the clergy and layman, it is conceded by thousands to be one of the greatest and most brilliant of Dr. Walsh's works. It is the complete answer to those who would destroy religion.

Both in America and abroad, the book has been proclaimed the greatest Catholic book published in recent years, not alone for the great amount of information it contains, but for the concise and comprehensive manner in which it is presented. $2.00

GREAT SERMONS OF THE WORLD

Compiled and Edited by Rev. Clarence E. Macartney

"How can I get the most interesting material for my next sermon or lecture?"

This is the question which confronts every preacher and speaker continually. And the most obvious answer to this question is:—

By reading and digesting and making your own the Greatest Sermons of the World.

Here is what Henry Ward Beecher said on this subject:

"I was a great reader of the old sermonizers. . . . I received a vast amount of instruction from those old sermonizers who were as familiar to me as my own name. I preached a great many sermons while reading these old men, and upon their discourses I have founded the framework of my own."

There is no better way to gather the material and to prepare the presentation of a sermon than by assimilating the best sermons that have been preached in the past, and that still have a vital and never-ending appeal.

These great sermons of the world are collected in this volume. Each sermon is preceded by a brief biographical sketch about the preacher of that sermon. . . . $3.50

Author of The World's Debt to the Catholic Church, What Civilization Owes to Italy, Eating and Health, etc.

A search, by one of the most brilliant writers of the country into the achievements of the Irish race. HISTORIC CHURCHES OF THE WORLD

By Robert B. Ludy, M.D.

Robert B. Ludy, surgeon, lecturer and author, has gathered together in a single volume the stories of these historic places of worship—nearly 200 of them. No more interesting perspective of the history of the development of a Place of Worship has ever been presented.

Mr. Ludy's subject is vivid and inspiring, and his work is made doubly attractive by the fact that nearly every story carries a beautiful picture of each church he describes. There are 130 illustrations to go with the author's illuminating text—the illustrations themselves putting the reader of the book into intimate contact with the beauties of these historic churches of the world.

Included in the volume are the older temples of Karnak, Solomon's Temple, the Parthenon, the early christian churches of Italy, the mosques of Arabia, Egypt and Persia, the mediaeval churches and cathedrals of Italy, Spain, Switzerland, France, Germany, the Netherlands, Austria, Russia, Scandinavia and Great Britain. In the new world are the imposing cathedrals of Central America, the mission churches of California, the meeting houses of the New England colonies, middle colonies, Pennsylvania and Southern colonies.

MESSAGES OF MUSIC

By Henry Brenner, O.S.B.

This volume consists of explanations, in story form, of three hundred compositions of music. The author has had the advantage of being reared in an atmosphere of artistic beauty by relatives of highly musical aspirations. These circumstances awakened those sympathies with the beauties of nature that have since spurred him on to spend the time and labor necessary for the completion of so practical and thorough a book as "Messages of Music." $5.00

It Can Be Done

Poems of Inspiration

Collected by JOSEPH MORRIS AND ST. CLAIR ADAMS

Selections from the best poems of Edgar A. Guest, Robert W. Service, Walt Mason, Sam Walter Foss, Rudyard Kipling, Edmund Vance Cooke, Ella Wheeler Wilcox and Everard Jack Appleton, James Whitcomb Riley, Frank L. Stanton and others.

There is more optismism and inspiration crammed between the lids of this book then we have seen in print anywhere. If it is true that "a friend doubles our joys and halves our sorrows," this book should become a real friend. It is so intensely human that continued reading of it will make its pages more than paper and ink—its courage and faith and cheer will become a living part of the reader, and the world will be better, our friends happier, and we stronger because of our belief that what should be done can be done. Public speakers will find this volume well-nigh indispensable.—From The Lookout, January 1, 1922.

Facing Forward

Poems of Courage

Collected by

JOSEPH MORRIS and ST. CLAIR ADAMS

Compilers of "It Can Be Done," "Book of Baby Verse," "Book of Mother Verse"

This book, having for its theme courage, is issued as a companion volume to "It Can Be Done," Poems of Inspiration. This compilation has been done with all the conspicuous merit that has made the former book the best selling collection of poetry since Palgrave's "Golden Treasury." Not a single poem is duplicated, but such popular authors of the former volume as Kipling, Wilcox, Guest, Mason, Foss, Appleton, Stanton, Riley and a host of others are again represented. Its binding and type are identical with the previous volume, and every person who has bought "It Can Be Done" will want this new book by the same compilers.

With such a theme as courage, the poets have indeed written well. That indomitable power that has carried mankind over all its trials and difficulties is here given noble expression; and with a reading of this book you will face forward with a faith that will overcome obstacles before you, that will brighten the darkness that sometimes gathers round you, that will help bring you the rewards of the man who marches valiantly onward.

The Book of Friendship Verse

Collected by JOSEPH MORRIS AND ST. CLAIR ADAMS

There are few words that kindle a more ready response than the word Friendship. As one well-known man has said, "The very page on which it is printed seems warmer and more cheerful." Such is the power of Friendship to transfer its lambent glow even to cold print.

This book aims to be a representative collection of the poems on this subject. There are selections from the old and honored names in English and American literature, but along side of these are verses by many popular, present-day writers. Along with Shakespeare and Tennyson the reader will find poems by Eugene Field, James Whitcomb Riley, and Edgar A. Guest.

Some of the best things written about Friendship is in prose. That is, it is prose in form, but in essence there is much poetry in the famous essays on the subject. The compilers feel that the book would be incomplete withtout some representation from the essays of Cicero, Montaigne, Thoreau, Emerson, and a few others. Accorodingly some of this material has been added in the latter part of the book. At the very back of the book will be found the best quotations and sayings on Friendship.

A Little Book of Friendship

Collected by JOSEPH MORRIS and ST. CLAIR ADAMS

Here are assembled in convenient form the great prose writing on friendship by the outstanding authors on the subject: Cicero, Montaigne, Francis Bacon, Jeremy Taylor, Joseph Addison, Eustace Budgell, Samuel Johnson, Ralph Waldo Emerson, Henry David Thoreau, Hugh Black, and David Grayson. The selections are prefaced with full introductions which discuss and contrast the writer's views on friendship, and give the background for a literary appreciation of the essays. At the back of the book are extensive biographies of the writers, and there are eight full-page pictures of the leading essayists on the subject.

This book brings together material hitherto scattered in various volumes, and some of it, such as that by Taylor, Addison and Budgell not easily accessible.

The Book of Baby Verse

Collected by

JOSEPH MORRIS AND ST. CLAIR ADAMS

Compilers of "It Can Be Done"

Van Dyck's world-famous picture "Baby Stuart" in original colors, serves as a frontispiece for the volume.

This book brings together the best poetry written about babies. Breadth of appeal has been attained by including verse ranging from the distinctly classical poems of William Blake to selections of such beloved modern writers as Riley, Field, Wilcox and Guest.

The book makes an ideal gift to the young mother. In its pages she will find the deep and beautiful things she feels about her baby, said as only the poets can say them. It gives poetic expression not only to the beauty, innocence, and spiritual meaning of a baby, but to its joys at playing peek-a-boo, its playthings, its attempts at utterance, its first step, that wonderful first tooth, all the little incidents in a baby's life that are watched and talked about by its parents.

The Book of Mother Verse

Collected by JOSEPH MORRIS & ST. CLAIR ADAMS

Compilers of "It Can Be Done," "Book of Baby Verse," "Book of Friendship Verse."

This book brings together the best poetry written about mothers and motherhood—poems that express the love she evokes and the still greater love she bestows. Some of the pieces represent high literary excellence, but alongside these are many whose chief commendation is their long and sure appeal to the human heart. Among the many writers represented the reader will find such universally esteemed names as Riley, Field, Guest, Mason, Foss, Braley, Stanton, Appleton, Kipling, and Van Dyke.

This book makes an ideal gift to one's mother, for her birthday, for Christmas, or for Mother's Day. It will say for you as only the poets can the deep and tender feeling you have for your mother in remembrance for her love, her patience, and her sacrifices for you.

Mother's Baby Book 1926

This book is something really different. The best poems about babyhood are brought between its covers—poems that give poetical expression to the beauty, innocence and spiritual meaning of a baby, as well as to such momentous events in its life as its first step, its first tooth, and all the little incidents of its opening personality. The poems have great breadth of appeal. Such classical writers as Blake, Wordsworth, Tennyson, Lowell and Swinburne, as well as such popular authors as Guest, Fields, Riley, Stanton and Dunbar are included.

In the front of the book are pages for keeping the baby's record—not the old stereotyped forms of most baby books, but pages on which to preserve a human record of the baby. All the chesished little details about the baby's life may here be set down—details which must otherwise be lost with the passage of time.

A Cocktail Continentale

By Bruce Reynolds Sept., 1926

Here is a book of travel with the narrative so pronounced and interesting that the volume almost might be classed as a novel. Certainly it can be read with more enjoyment than most novels.

"A Cocktail Continentale" is side-splitting in its humor. Reynolds enjoys fun of every description; he never misses the grotesque in every situation; and yet through it all is the sanest of good sense and good taste. In a word: here is a travel book in jazz time for clever, "modern" people who want to know more about Europe than Aunt Prudence Heckleberry would tell them.

The author "did" Europe in a way that has never been written of before. He saw all the usual sights, and then he saw all the unusual ones. He peeped behind the scenes of all the "live" places in Europe, and with honesty and candor he tells what is there. It is an hilarious account of one who "went the pace" night and day. Europe has nothing too good or too bad to interest Reynolds. He did more things per minute than it is almost possible to believe. He visited twenty countries; he traveled by every means of conveyance, including the airplane; he lived hard enough to put most men in a sanitarium for the rest of their lives. And he tells it all with a staccato. dynamic style that reads like a whirlwind.

The book has a jacket in four colors, and is illustrated with many black-line drawings.

Glorious Day

By S. E. Kiser Sept., 1926

The key-note in this collection of poems is inspirational. A determination to press onward bravely and cheerfully in spite of all hindrances is to be discovered almost wherever the book may be opened. Here and there is a touch of sentiment, and now and then there is a selection that is couched in what usually is called the Lighter Vein, but in most of the poems a hopeful acceptance of the opportunities that come with each Glorious Day, and a dauntless intention to be guided by the spirit of good sportsmanship in every effort that circumstances impose will quickly be observed.

There is no sniveling in courage, and no bitterness in bravery. You will not find in these poems of courage and inspirational devotion to the advancement of good-fellowship any cynical wailing against the manner in which the Universe has been created or is being managed. There are wrongs that can be righted, there are in the world many imperfections that may be mended, and these facts are neither ignored nor passed over too lightly here, but the message the poems in this volume are intended to convey is a message of friendly, cheerful, helpfulness.

Gems from the Classics

Selected by Albert E. Padden Sept., 1926

It would be a mistake to think of this book as a mere collection of quotations. True, it is made up of "gems" from many great minds, but these selections are unified into a composite whole by their underlying moral and spiritual value.

They were gathered much like bees gather honey, a little here, and a little there. They were picked from the flower of best thought and contain only that which is good. Emersons says. "A certain awkwardness marks the use of borrowing thoughts, but as soon as we have learned what to do with them, they become our own." We shall do well if we ponder these thoughts daily, and make them our own. They, indeed, express such a noble philosophy of life that we should do more than know them. We should live them.

One Hundred Famous Love Lyrics

COMPILED BY HARVEY HAMLYN, M.A. Sept., 1926

In this volume has been brought together the "literary gold" on the subject of love. These poems which represent three centuries of the best English and American writers, treat every phase of the subject, from its light-hearted gayety to its soul-moving passion.

The manufacture of the book is in keeping with the high standard of its contents. It is bound in gray boards, and is printed on fine rag paper with deckle edges. The pages have unusually wide margins. Throughout, the aim has been to make the volume exquisitely delicate and beautiful.

This book is intended both for the general reader of cultured tastes and as a gift volume for "the lover and his lass." It would be difficult to imagine a more appropriate token of affection than "One Hundred Famous Love Lyrics."

Tad Lincoln; A True Story

BY WAYNE WHIPPLE

The author, during a score of years of intimate acquaintance with the life of Abraham Lincoln, writing, school histories and moving pictures, has made the best of his opportunities. The account of the boyish vengeance visited by Tad upon Stanton, the great War Secretary, is described by the young White House guard (afterwards a Cleveland physician) who took part in that adventure. The story of Tad's devotion of the young girl in Germany who afterwards married the Czar of All the Russias was related by the brother of the American dentist's daughter whom Tad preferred. Even the Hon. Robert Todd Lincoln, Tad's older brother, had never heard of these escapades and experiences.

Red Letter Days in Europe

With a Glimpse of Northern Africa

By GERTRUDE R. BRIGHAM, A.M., Ph.D.

This book is based upon the experiences and observations of the author's six visits to Europe. Having letters of introduction from foreign embassies and legations in Washington, she met unusual people and received courtesies not often accorded American travelers.

In this book the reader travels with her on these journeys, and learns of the most worthwhile sights of present-day Europe and Northern Africa. He witnesses a Spanish bullfight, sees King Manuel's deserted palace near Lisbon, and camps out under the stars on the Desert of Sahara at Biskra.

Besides the pleasure of travel, Dr. Brigham does not overlook its educational advantages. Especially timely are her observations on how the countries of Central Europe are meeting their after-war problems.

Here is a book for those who would have a bird's-eye view of Europe. Not only is the writer an experienced traveler, but she is the author of a treatise on art, "The Study and Enjoyment of Pictures," as well as a lecturer and teacher of note. For several years she has been the editor of the art department of a Washington newspaper, besides being one of the well-known art critics of that city.

"A Character Building Psychology"

Practical Psychology

By BURT B. FARNSWORTH

International Y. M. C. A. College, Springfield, Mass.

Professor Farnsworth is one of the best known lecturers on psychological subjects in the United States. The present book is based upon a course of psychology he has taught for a number of years. The author is interested primarily in the applications of psychology; he avoids much of the useless theoretical discussion; he writes in clear, simple language. The book presupposes no previous knowledge of psychology on the part of the reader. It is an introductory text. It explains to the reader the working of his own mind; it helps him to improve his thinking and his work; it makes it possible for him to understand others and get along well with them.

Practical Psychology is adaptable for individual reading and for class use. The book was originally, privately printed for the author's own classes. In this new edition several chapters have been added, and at the end of the volume are questions on each chapter bringing out its salient points. The book is now supplied with a full index.

It was of Professor Farnsworth's text that Edward W. Bok wrote:

"I think that Mr. Farnsworth in his 'Practical Psychology' helps us on the road to a better understanding of ourselves and other men, and, what is so important, he tells us what he has found out and experienced in a way that all can understand. His 'Practical Psychology' is, essentially, a book for the people at large to reach a clearer understanding of themselves. I like particularly, the stress which Mr. Farnsworth lays on the importance of thoroughness before speed, and accuracy before skill. Here he puts his finger on what is, if there is such a thing, the secret of success."

Keep Smiling

By Joseph Craigen

"Keep Smiling" is a book with a real message, written by one who is well known for his lectures on applied and practical psychology.

The spirit of "Keep Smiling" is one of cheer, happiness, courage, health and optimism, and will inspire one to do things.

It is written in a straight-forward manner, as one friend would talk to another, and will become a "close friend" to many in need of cheer, courage and the spirit to go ahead.

Such a book is indeed welcome, for all men and women can afford to learn to smile—and Keep Smiling.

The Road To A Loving Heart

Compiled by Helen M. Winslow

Here is a companionable little volume made up of verses and prose selections from recent periodicals and books. There are poems by such well-known writers as Herman Hagedorn, John Oxenham, Edgar A. Guest, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, as well as many fugitive pieces by lessor known writers—pieces, however, that have a gem of thought, the perfect expression of an idea, or a moment of penetrating vision.

The material in this book is especially adapted to the person who has but a few minutes now and then for inspirational reading. It is a book for those who would acquire success in their undertakings, happiness in life, and depth of personality and spirits.

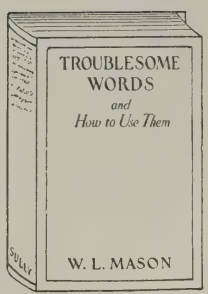
Troublesome Words

AND HOW TO USE THEM



By W. L. Mason

This is a popular handbook for people of all ages and classes containing words which are commonly found troublesome or perplexing as to spelling, accent, syllabication, pronunciation, or use.

It is intended as a handy reference book for the busy man or woman; as a desk companion for the stenographer; as an aid to the teacher in and out of the class room; as an indispensable adjunct for any one who writes.

The words are arranged in forty groups, bringing out clearly the peculiarity of all the words in every group, presenting the word first in its ordinary form, then showing it properly syllabized and accented, followed by a clear and concise definition, accompanied by a sentence illustrating its correct use, and with all of this, a note pointing out the perplexing part of the word, and showing how to overcome it.

The distinguishing feature of this book, which causes it to differ from all other similar works, is that it not only designates the "catch" in every troublesome word, but shows the user of the book how to avoid the difficulty, and to remember always to spell the word correctly.

At the end of the book a complete index gives every word in alphabetical order, with the pages and group where it can be found.

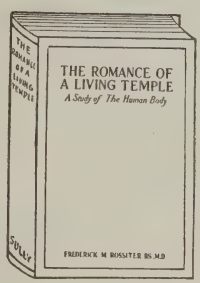
The Romance of a Living Temple

A STUDY OF THE HUMAN BODY

By Frederick M. Rossiter, B.S., MD., I.R.C.P., Lon., M.R.C.S. Eng.



This volume is really an innovation in books of physiology. By considering the body as the temple in which we live, Dr. Rossiter has brought forth its beauty and its nobility. No one can read this book without a feeling of the sanctity of his own body; and he will realize as never before its startling marvelousness.

The organs of the body are explained from a new viewpoint; their care and healthful preservation are urged; and with extraordinary force the effect of our thoughts and actions in the building of our characters is emphasized.

This book will serve admirably as a supplementary reader in all school courses in physiology; libraries will find it a most valuable addition to their children's rooms; churches and Sunday schools will especially desire this book because of its insistence upon the human body as the masterpiece of the Great Architect; and the general reader will find here an account written by an eminent physician, told with none of the dryness and pedantry of the old books on physiology.

Palmistry For Pleasure

By Dean Bryden

This handbook on palmistry gives a simple and logical treatment of the subject. The fundamentals are adequately explained, but confusing and unimportant details are excluded. From this simplicity even the casual reader can gain an amazing grasp of the subject. From the logical arrangement of the material the inter-relation of all the principles is readily understood. In this book is none of the helter-skelter hodgepodge of the usual treatises on the subject.

There are ten careful diagrams of hands and lines, and actual photographs of a man's and woman's hands. In the two chapters which are devoted to "Reading" these two typical hands, the author places in parentheses the palmistry signs which indicate the traits as he ascribes them to the hands. Another unusual feature of this handbook is a section devoted to applying palmistry to human problems, such as mating and the training of children.

A knowledge of palmistry is an excellent social asset. At any gathering, the person who can read palms skilfully and entertainly becomes the center of an admiring and wondering group. This book offers to anyone who will study it but slightly the opportunity of being "the fun of the party." To those who wish to take palmistry more seriously, it offers sound and established principles of hand-reading.

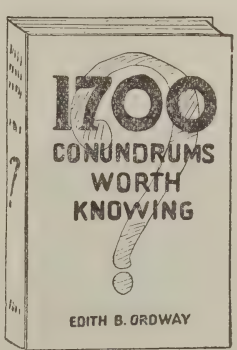
1700 Conundrums Worth Knowing



By EDITH B. ORDWAY

Cloth, 12mo., colored wrapper net, $1.25

The conundrums contained in this book are culled from the best of the old collections and the best of the new, and from historical and mythological sources. They deal with a variety of subjects, are arranged for ready reference, and contain allusions to several literatures, including Biblical. The introductory essay defines the place of the conundrum in literature and life, and gives the story of the origin of several famous ones.

A well chosen collection, including the best of the old familiar conundrums and many that are new. Its special merit is in its topical arrangement, which will enable the hostess to find quickly riddles for special entertainments and individuals."

The Art of Speech Making

By NATHANIEL C. FOWLER, JR.
12mo. Cloth. . . . . Net, $1.25

This book, like all of Mr. Fowler's works, is intensely practical. He deals with facts and information, not with theories. He analyzes every form of speech or address, from the oration of the great statesmen to the everyday "remarks" of after-dinner speakers and others who address the public formally or informally. He gets down to the very bottom of speechmaking, and gives information which has not been printed in any book, and which can not be obtained in any other way.

"An excellent book for the man who doesn't know how to make a speech and wants to know."—North Carolina Education.

Fortunes and Dreams

By ASTRA CIELO

A practical manual of fortune telling, divination and the interpretation of dreams, signs and omens.

This book has been compiled for the use of intelligent people who desire to know the various ways in which events have been prophesied by occultists the world over, and who wish to test their own faculties and consult the "Book of Fate" in their own behalf. The various methods and tables are offered to the reader at their own value, without any special claim for their accuracy or efficacy. Each inquirer must determine for himself in how far he may trust the oracle that he has consulted. Some of the material is new and is not to be found in modern books of this nature. Most of the tables have been gleaned from very old authorities.

The book is not an ordinary cyclopedia or mere book of tabulated information. It covers a thousand subjects which should be known, and which are not generally known, to the average reader. The book may be called an education in itself, so completely does it cover the information everybody needs.

The Art of Letter Writing

By NATHANIEL C. FOWLER, JR.

Cloth, 12mo., colored wrapper net, $1.25

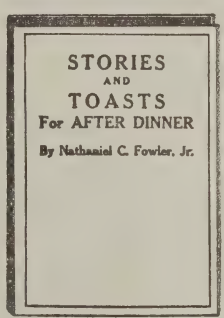
"The Art of Letter Writing" is not an old-fashioned collection of stilted forms of epistles for all occasions, but is a series of instructions as to titles, addresses and all the details of preparing letters, with directions as to letters of especial character, as those of condolence, congratulation, of introduction, etc. Outline forms of letters applying for a position are given among others. There is a brief chapter on paragraphing and one on punctuation. Much information as to postage rates, the parcel post, etc., is included. It is a practical and useful book and one that might well be in the hands of every boy and girl."—The Indianapolis Star.

"We know of no better book to recommend on this subject."—The Boston Herald.

Stories and Toasts for After Dinner



By NATHANIEL C. FOWLER, JR.

Cloth, 12mo., colored wrapper net, $1.25

This volume should not be confused with many similar books upon the market, which contain "Dried" toast and stories of prehistoric vintage. It is bright, breezy, and up-to-the minute, containing a wealth of matter for instantaneous use.

"This book contains more illuminating matter regarding the duties of a toastmaster and the material for him to use than we have seen for some time. The author gives some very necessary suggestions which if followed would make many a dinner a success.—The Bulletin, Portland, Oregon.

Signs, Omens and Superstitions

By ASTRA CIELO, author of "Fortune and Dreams."

12mo. Cloth. . . . . net, $1.25

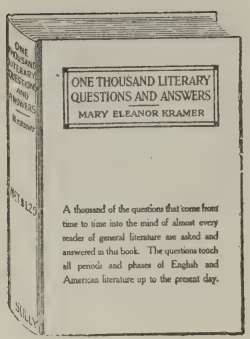
There are few persons no matter how rational or level headed who are not given to superstition in some form. With some there is a deep-seated belief that evil will result from an infraction of a rule. With others an amused idea that if a ceremony does no good it can do no harm, and so to be on the safe side they carry out some Mummery.

It is the object of this book to review the subject of superstition without prejudice or condemnation, but to present the data and explain their origin wherever possible, leaving it to the reader to reject such beliefs as seem absurd and irreconcilable with modern culture.



One Thousand Literary Questions and Answers

By MARY E. KRAMER

12mo. Cloth . . . . . net, $1.50

Revised edition, containing an additional index by title which enables one to find any quotation if the author's name is not known.

A thousand of the questions that come from time to time into the mind of almost every reader of general literature are asked and answered in this book. The questions are stated as briefly as they arise in conversation,—now a detached name of some character or book or author, again a line of poetry or the first words of some saying that has clung to memory quite unassociated with a name. The questions touch all periods and phases of English and American literature up to the present day, and are such as may reasonably be asked of any intelligent reader.

"A worth while volume for the instruction of the general reader, full of data relating to literature of many sorts and answering some of those puzzling inquiries with which the 'Want to know, you know' puzzle newspaper people."—Detroit Free Press.

Homans' First Principles of Electricity

By J. E. HOMANS

12mo, cloth, fully illustrated . net, $1.50

As either a primer of electrical science, or as a handbook of fundamental principles that would be appreciated by an advanced worker, this little book is in a class by itself. The author starts with the assumption that the reader, although, perhaps, unlearned in the science of electrics, really desires the information that one would expect in a book with such a title. He undertakes, therefore, to treat of the principles of the science, from the ground up, passing in review all the matters necessary to constitute a fundamental knowledge of all forms of electric current, with singularly lucid explanations of obscure points.

Homans' Automobile Handbook

By J. E. HOMANS

12mo, cloth, fully illustrated . net, $1.50

Like other books produced by its author, it is distinctly readable, and characterized by lucid and thorough explanations of matters unfamiliar to the average reader. Few books that have appeared of late are better calculated to inform, also to interest, while imparting information.

"A handy book for any owner who looks after his own machine."—New York World.

"No finer book to study on wet days in the garage, or to have on hand in case of difficulties."—Montreal Weekly Herald and Star.

The Stranger Star

By Allen Crafton

"The Stranger Star" belongs to that rare class of children's books that interest grown-ups as well as younger readers. The child will not have to "beg" its parents to read this story: the mother or father will be as engrossed in it as the child.

A most delightful and chatty old owl tells two children a story in which the whole sky is the playground. The stars and planets are the actors, and they are made such interesting and human creatures that they are as real as playmates. And wonderful things happen in the heavens —a little stranger star comes to the Moon-Mother's nursery, and after a long service of drudgery in making beds for all the stars when they retire during the day and shining up their clothes so they can twinkle at night, she gets a wonderful reward.

While enjoying a most interesting story, the reader becomes acquainted with the names of many of the stars; something of the great forces that revolve the heavens is portrayed; and incidentally the idea of service is inculcated without any offensive moral attached.

After reading the story, every child will vote Professor Owl, who taught mathematics to a myriad of little Star Children, one of the best story-tellers he ever heard about. This story is destined to take its place among the classics for children, and little ones enjoying it today will be reading it to their children a generation hence.

Tobytown

Helen's Babies

By John Habberton

Illustrated, 12mo, cloth. Net, $1.25

Interesting! Entertaining! Amusing! It is safe to say that no book, illustrating the doings of children, has ever been published that has reached the popularity enjoyed by "Helen's Babies." Anne, Princess of Everything

By Blanche Elizabeth Wade

12mo, cloth, illustrated and with wrapper in full color . . . . . net, $1.00

Anne Lane goes with her aunt upon an ordinary shopping trip in New York City. A touch of magic comes into her life, starting her upon the way to become a real princess. The story gives a glimpse of the stolen princess and a peep into Gerbenstein, a preposterous "Kingdom Without a Country." There is a mingling of the real and the unreal in the tale.

It is a story for girls of all ages, from little, golden-crowned Princesses to Queens of the Silver Crown.

Wooden Ships and Iron Men

By Frederick William Wallace

Author of "Blue Water", "The Viking Blood", "The Shack Locker" and "Salt Seas and Sailormen." Illustrated with rare photographs and sketches by the author.

The story of the square-rigged marine of British North America, the ships, their builders and owners, and the men who sailed them.

"There she goes—a ramping, stamping, hard-driving Bluenose—wooden ships with iron men commanding 'em." Thus commented the seamen of olden days when the big square-riggers of British North America were flying the Red Ensign on every sea and when the ship-builders, ship-owners and ship-masters of the Eastern Canadian Provinces were building, maintaining and sailing a merchant marine which in the 'seventies ranked fourth among the world's tonnage. In this volume the great sea-writer has delved deep into the past and has succeeded in recording some rare and delightful incidents in the history of the ships, their passages, mishaps and adventures, as well as numerous accurate portrayals of the seamanship and characteristics of those unsentimental and exacting seamen—the Bluenose master and mate. A book man and boy will cherish.

Baptiste Larocque

By Paul A. W. Wallace

The Nugget Gold of French-Canadian Legend Preserved Intact.

In the delicious patois which Dr. Drummond has made famous, Old Baptiste captures the heart with tales weird, fanciful and irresistibly amusing. Baptiste Larocque is the Uncle Remus of Canada.

The heart of French Canada is best seen in its folk tales. To understand the people you must know their legends. Here is the book to meet that need—a collection of authentic folk-tales, retold for English readers by an old habitant, who catches for us with his quaint skill and delightful dialect the true glamour of his native soil.

It is a book for readers, of whatever age, who like Uncle Remus and Hans Andersen, as well as for all who wish to see into the mind of the habitant and to discover for themselves a corner of one of the richest fields of folk-lore in the world to-day.

Blue Water

By Frederick William Wallace

"The story brims over with plot and action moreover it is the most faithful insight into the life of the deep water fishermen that has been given in recent years."—Portland Express.

"His book has a realistic swing and a nautical vigour, which combined with a strong tinge of romance and a continued display of his actual knowledge makes it exceptionally entertaining."—Toronto Star.

The Shack Locker

By Frederick William Wallace

"The Shack Locker" is a carefully selected collection of F. W. Wallace's best yarns of the Bank fishermen. They carry the spirit of adventure and thrill with the reckless daring of the off-shore trawlers of Canada's Atlantic coast, and no more varied tales of seafaring adventure have ever been published. It is a book that will be appreciated by all who love salt water and the atmosphere of those who go down to the sea in ships.

The title of the book is taken from the associations in the mind of every Bank fisherman with the cupboard in the schooner's forecastle in which is to be found the left-over food of the daily meals. A fisherman is always ready to eat, and between meals, he can appease his appetite by a mugful of tea or coffee and a rummage in the shack locker. The locker's contents are necessarily varied—and always appreciated. The stories in this collection are varied too, and are as certain to be relished.

Salt Seas and Sailormen

By Frederick William Wallace

Author of "Blue Water", "The Viking Blood", etc.

There is no greater romance in the world than the life of Canada's fisherman—their ships that sail the seven seas, and the unfailing delight in acquaintance with the lovable and strenuous characters who man them. Frederick William Wallace is their one interpreter; he has lived and sailed with them, fought for their rights, organized and guided them and then with that background behind him, written books about them. You will never forget this book of sailormen stories. James C. Hodgins says of Wallace's work that "only a man soaked with the sea could write such epics." Every page of "Salt Seas and Sailormen" is pungent with fresh briny wind, every sentence round with the full richness of the seafaring life.

Wacousta

By Major John Richardson

Illustrated by C. W. Jeffreys

Canada's first great historical classic—a romance of the Pontiac conspiracy.

Three years before Sir Walter Scott died, when Thackeray was a stripling of eighteen, when Dickens had not yet become a reporter, and Parkman himself was but a boy of nine, Richardson was winning the applause of the English-speaking world for his first work and masterpiece—the Canadian romance "Wacousta."

Based as it is upon the most dramatic episodes in Canadian history, the Pontiac Conspiracy, the story Wacousta is vivid with the alarms and suspense of warfare—an authentic record of pioneer struggle and terrific hazard in which romance still predominated, and the everlasting adventure of love and the quest for hearth and home, made life a thrilling emprise.

"This is a sketch of Brother Andre and his wonderful works at his shrine of St. Joseph, on the northern slope of Mount Royal. 'It should be stated,' says Mr. Ham, 'that, while not of the religious faith of my old friend, I have seen some of the miracles chronicled, and I have gathered other data from persons whose credibility cannot be questioned.' The cures which he describes include cases of tuberculosis, cancer, heart disease, lameness, gangrene, hip disease, etc., etc., and frequently he quotes official statements from qualified medical authorities."—Toronto Globe.

That Body of Yours

By Dr. J. W. Barton

For those who are interested in the cultivation of a strong will, in the stiffening of their mental backbones and getting the best out of their bodies in consequence, this is the book they have been looking for. These articles which have appeared in the Canadian press have attracted more attention than anything of a similar nature in years. Dr. Barton, through whose hands literally thousands of men have passed for physical examination, is the authority in his field in this country. As president of the Army Medical Board he picked out the "physically unfit" in our largest training camp during the war, and he is in a position to know what would have made men "fitter".

Mates of the Tangle

By Archie P. McKishnie

With illustrations by Frank H. Johnston

There has never appeared a more alluring book of the out-of-doors than "Mates of the Tangle." The only comparison into which it can be placed is perhaps with Heming's "Spirit Lake" or Seton-Thompson's "Wild Animals I Have Known." Touched with the mystery of shadow-haunted trails, its originality of theme and color of treatment set it apart. Although chiefly concerned with the lives of animals, it is not only humorous, whimsical and tender, but poignantly dramatic too. If "Bond of Blood" for instance had been written about human beings rather than an old Tom lynx and his young mate, it would put one in mind of a De Maupassant story. The picture of the old age of "The Avenger," The Moose of Timagami, is one of the most appealing pieces of writing imaginable, as is the whole of this most unusual and absorbing glimpse into the everlasting drama of the wild.

SKETCH OF EMANUEL SWEDENBORG

Emanuel Swedenborg was born in Stockholm, Sweden, in 1688, and died in London, England, in 1772, at the age of 84. His father was made Bishop of Skara in 1702, and stood high in his country for learning and integrity of character.

Swedenborg's education was the best the times afforded. After completing his academic course at the University of Upsala, he spent several years as a student in England, France, Germany and Holland. His interests at that time lay primarily in mechanical, scientific and philosophic lines, which he pursued industriously up to his fifty-fifth year. During this period of his life, he enjoyed the friendship and confidence not only of the most distinguished and learned men of his country, but also of the King of Sweden, Charles XII, by whom he was appointed Assessor in the College of Mines, an office which he held with distinguished honor for more than thirty years, and in connection with which he wrote two voluminous treatises on copper and iron.

Soon after his fifty-fifth year, he abandoned his scientific pursuits, and from that time wrote on spiritual and divine subjects alone, publishing many volumes on such themes. This change in occupation was due, he declared, to Divine direction. In many places in his published works and private correspondence he referred with modest brevity to the office and mission to which he was then called. The following statement was written towards the close of his life in response to an inquiry by a friend:

"I have been called," he said, "to a holy office by the Lord Himself, who most graciously manifested Himself to me, His servant, in the year 1743, when He opened my sight to a view of the spiritual world, and granted me the privilege of conversing with spirits and angels, which I enjoy to this day. From that time I began to print and publish various arcana that have been seen by me or revealed to me, as respecting heaven and hell, the state of man after death, the true worship of God, the spiritual sense of the Word, with many other most important matters conducive to salvation and true wisdom."

SWEDENBORG'S THEOLOGICAL WORKS

Note on Editions:—All the editions of Swedenborg's theological works in the table printed below are "complete" so far as works actually published by Swedenborg are concerned. The volumes of each edition are "uniform" in size and binding, except in the London Edition, in which some of the shorter works are procurable in small size only.

The Standard and Library Editions (published by the American Swedenborg Printing and Publishing Society) are printed from the same plates, and are exactly parallel editions, except that at the present time the two volumes of "Posthumous Theological Works" are procurable in the Standard Edition only. The differences between these editions are mainly those of paper and binding, the Standard volumes being of good paper, well bound in dark green book-cloth, while the Library volumes are of superfine paper excellently bound in dark blue linen, thus being remarkably high grade throughout. All the volumes are sold separately. The Library Edition is to be discontinued.

The Rotch Edition (published by the Massachusetts New-Church Union) is procurable in several styles. The various volumes appeared successively during a period of more than thirty years, being bound in approximately uniform dark brown cloth, with bevel-edge covers. Two or three of the volumes are not now available in this form, but only in blue cloth. On the completion of the plates in 1907, they were sent to the Riverside Press of the Houghton Mifflin Co. and all the works were printed on a specially made paper of the best quality, being subsequently bound in thirty-two volumes, either in fine blue buckram with gilt top, or in the best brown morocco, with marble-paper sides, and full gilt edges. Some of the sheets were later bound in a cheaper blue cloth by the J. B. Lippincott Co. In 1926 the entire set was again reprinted and bound by the Riverside Press in the very best manner. All these sets are sold only as sets,—prices as follows (transportation extra):

Special rag paper, half-morocco . .	$125.00
Special rag paper, blue buckram . .	40.00
Special rag paper, (Lippincott binding) .	25.00

The London Edition (published by the Swedenborg Society of England) is printed on good paper and bound in dark blue cloth.

Editions in Latin and some modern languages are available. Information on request.

The five volumes of "Sower Notes," devised for the assistance of parents and Sunday School teachers, furnish an exposition of selected portions of the entire Word.

I. LANGUAGES AND LITERATURE

ENGLISH

THE OUTLOOK FOR AMERICAN PROSE. By Joseph Warren Beach. $2.50, postpaid $2.60.

STYLE is the unequivocal point of view from which Mr. Beach has chosen to survey the field of modern American letters. Armed with intelligent eclecticism and an amazingly thorough knowledge of all that is going on, he has plunged into the literary storm centers, has judged and appraised each controversial figure, and has emerged a keen, competent critic of American prose as it is being written today.

Mr. Beach's scheme brings into juxtaposition such unlikely companions as Van Wyck Brooks, Joseph Hergesheimer, and John Dewey; Cabell, Mencken, and Sherman. Probably the most suggestive and arresting chapter in the book is "Auguries," in which are ranged some of the most interesting figures of modern literature—Alfred Kreymborg, Sherwood Anderson, James Huneker, and Theodore Dreiser. He has put to good practice the "genuine critical spirit"; and whether or not you agree with Mr. Beach that Alfred Kreymborg is the great hope of American literature, you will have to reckon with his essentially fair and well-balanced dicta on current issues.

SOME CONTEMPORARY AMERICANS. By Percy Holmes Boynton. $2.00, postpaid $2.10.

Mr. Boynton writes of Amy Lowell, Robert Frost, and Bostonia as a New Englander, and of Masters, Sandburg, and Dreiser as a Chicagoan. It is a modern discussion of the modern writers who are giving America an indigenous literature.

AMERICAN POEMS. Selected and edited by Walter C. Bronson. $2.75, postpaid $2.85.

AMERICAN PROSE. Selected and edited by Walter C. Bronson. $2.75, postpaid $2.85.

SYLLABUS OF AMERICAN LITERATURE. By William T. Hastings. 75 cents, postpaid 78 cents.

MEEK AMERICANS. And Other European Trifles. By Joseph Warren Beach. $2.00, postpaid $2.10.

Meek Americans is the record of a professorial jaunt abroad. These "familiar essays" are done with grace and precision united to shrewd wit and a humorous sympathy for tourist and European host alike.

THINGS SEEN AND HEARD. By Edgar J. Goodspeed. $2.00, postpaid $2.10.

The excursions into the "outer world" of the distinguished Greek scholar and translator of the New Testament have given us this volume of finely-mirrored impressions and subtle comment. For charm and distinction of style, these essays are worthy of a place with the best in America and abroad.

THE LATER REALISM. A Study of Characterization in the British Novel. By WALTER L. MYERS. $2.00, postpaid $2.10.

PROCEEDING from the late Victorian realism of Eliot and Meredith, Mr. Myers considers in turn Hardy, Wells, Bennett, Galsworthy; and finally takes up the details of highly actual recent portrayal as it is exemplified in Dorothy Richardson, James Joyce, D. H. Lawrence, and May Sinclair. It has not been the author's purpose to present an estimate of the work of these people; his concern is with the larger developments in recent realistic characterization, and he has drawn evidence as it was needed from only the more representative novels.

A MANUAL OF STYLE. (Completely Revised Edition.) Compiled by THE STAFF OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PRESS. $3.00, postpaid $3.15.

In its new edition the book has been completely re-written and greatly enlarged to include specimens of the best available modern type faces. It is the most comprehensive, harmonious, and practical manual of typographic style that has ever been published.

THE TECHNIQUE OF THOMAS HARDY. By JOSEPH WARREN BEACH. $2.50, postpaid $2.60.

Takes up in succession fourteen Hardy novels and groups them under general headings descriptive of the dominant tone of each.

LONDON IN ENGLISH LITERATURE. By PERCY HOLMES BOYNTON. $2.50, postpaid $2.60.

A consecutive, illustrated account of London, not from the point of view of the antiquarian, but from that of the inquiring student of English literary history.

THE MODERN STUDY OF LITERATURE. By RICHARD GREEN MOULTON. $3.00, postpaid $3.15.

An introduction to literary theory and interpretation. Professor Moulton conceives literature to be at once a Mode of Philosophy and a Mode of Art, and believes so thoroughly in its intrinsic value that he can but inspire teacher and reader.

THE COMIC AND THE REALISTIC IN ENGLISH DRAMA. By JOHN B. MOORE. $2.00, postpaid $2.10.

From an extensive investigation of English realistic comedy from its inception to roughly 1600, John B. Moore has formulated in his new book some interesting conclusions, and has examined from this point of view the chief classes of English plays before 1600 in which the comic and the realistic appear.

ENGLISH POEMS. Selected and edited with illustrative and explanatory notes and bibliographies by WALTER C. BRONSON. In four volumes, each $1.75, postpaid $1.85.

This series of four volumes is intended primarily to afford a convenient, inexpensive, and scholarly collection of the most important English poetry:

OLD ENGLISH AND MIDDLE ENGLISH PERIODS

THE ELIZABETHAN AGE AND THE PURITAN PERIOD

SANSKRIT, SEMITICS, AND EGYPTOLOGY

ANCIENT RECORDS OF ASSYRIA AND BABYLONIA. By D. D. Luckenbill. Vols. I and II. Each $4.00, postpaid $4.15.

SEVEN volumes are planned for this series, each to embrace a phase of ancient Assyrian and Babylonian life as it was recorded on tablets, prisms, cylinders of alabaster, obelisks, and temple walls. The first two volumes, which are ready now, contain Assyrian historical inscriptions from Ititi and Adad-Nirari I to Tiglath-pileser III and Shalmaneser V. There are, besides, building inscriptions and the biographies of nobles as they were expressed on the walls of tombs.

These remarkable transcriptions are documentary evidence of an earlier civilization and aids to the social-economic interpretation of history. They enable us to trace the career of man not only through 5,000 years of written history, but through the long ages of pre-history as well. While not in themselves a connected history of Assyria or Babylonia, they have been translated and edited for the critical historian, and will be for him new source material of the first importance.

THE PANCHATANTRA. Translated from the Sanskrit by ARTHUR W. RYDER. $4.00, postpaid $4.15.

THESE five books, the Panchatantra, first gathered together in the Vale of Kashmir over two thousand years ago, are now presented adequately for the first time in English. Here is the first cousin of the Arabian Nights and of Aesop presented in one of the most important pieces of translation that has been made in the history of Sanskrit studies.

Epigrammatic, philosophical, witty, and wise, this rare synthesis of prose and verse takes on new life in Arthur Ryder's translation. His version is racy, colorful, vivid, full of the tang of modern locutions, retaining at the same time the flavor of the centuries that have revelled in these wise tales.

Each of the five books which make up the whole consists of a framing story with numerous inserted stories told, as fit circumstances arise, by one or another of the characters—most of whom are animals—in the main narrative. The tales are charming in themselves; through the additional beauty and wisdom of the verses they transcend even this high level. The animal actors present far more vividly and urbanely than men could do the view of life here recommended—a view shrewd, tolerant, free of all sentimentality; a view that, "piercing the humbug of every fake ideal, reveals with incomparable wit the sources of lasting joy." This popular book is now in its fourth large printing.

GREEK, LATIN, AND COMPARATIVE PHILOLOGY

THE BUSINESS LIFE OF ANCIENT ATHENS. By George Calhoun. $2.00, postpaid $2.10.

MANY aspects of the life of the ancient Athenian have been made familiar, but we know very little of the busy docks and markets in the Piraeus, of the financial district where capital was mobilized and put to work, or the industrial region around Laurium, almost modern in its dirtiness and desolation. In short, for the first time the general reader may now learn the way in which business and finance were carried on in the fourth century B.C. Mr. Calhoun has chosen to emphasize the personal and ethical aspects of the subject rather than the technical processes or purely economic data. His exposition of the ancient Athenians' aims and ideals, their standards of honesty, is offered as a step toward a better appreciation of what business has contributed to the slow building up of the standards and ideals which serve as a background to the commercial activities of the modern world.

III. SCIENCE

THE NATURE OF THE WORLD AND OF MAN. By SIXTEEN MEMBERS OF THE FACULTY OF THE UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO. $4.00, postpaid $4.15.

SO PRETENTIOUS a program as this book presents has seldom been attempted, much less accomplished so successfully: it is an outline of our knowledge of the physical and the biological world, and man's relative position in it. It is designed to give a preliminary view of many rich intellectual fields, all marshaled together, in brief, to assist the individual in the important problem of forming a well-defined conception of the cosmos and his relation to it.

Beginning with the story of life from the origin of the earth to the point when man is defined as man, each of the sixteen authors has described that phase of development with which he is most familiar. And all have emphasized the conception of science as a glowing, living thing inextricably bound up with every human life. These men, specialists in their fields, are the authors: Forest Ray Moulton, Rollin T. Chamberlin, J Harlen Bretz, Harvey B. Lemon, Julius Stieglitz, Horatio Hackett Newman (the editor), Edwin Oakes Jordan, Merle C. Coulter, Henry Chandler Cowles, Warder C. Allee, Alfred S. Romer, Fay-Cooper Cole, Elliot R. Downing, George W. Bartelmez, Anton J. Carlson, and Charles Hubbard Judd.

BIOLOGY

BRAINS OF RATS AND MEN. By C. JUDSON HERRICK. $3.00, postpaid $3.15.

MANY scientists have tried to read human faculties backward into the lower animals. Mr. Herrick reverses the order and, beginning with the simplest structures prophetic of cerebral cortex, he reads this history through to its culmination in man. He centers his discussion about the brains of rats and men, the two species of mammals whose behavior patterns have been studied most intensively under conditions of laboratory control. He demonstrates incisively that the entire intellectual, emotional, and moral life of mankind can be explored as biological functions without loss of their supreme values as distinctively human attributes, and without passing outside the realm of natural laws. This book touches problems that are fundamental to all the sciences that take living things, and man in particular, as their province. It is, moreover, enriched by a literary style seldom found in works of this kind.

A LABORATORY MANUAL FOR COMPARATIVE VERTEBRATE ANATOMY. By LIBBIE HENRIETTA HYMAN. $2.50, postpaid $2.60.

For a long time there has been a need of a laboratory manual of vertebrate anatomy based on the comparative plan. PHYSICS

STUDIES IN OPTICS. By A. A. MICHELSON. $2.00, postpaid $2.10.

PROFESSOR Michelson has demonstrated the possibility of measuring the diameter of stars; he has obtained results by the use of the interferometer which he invented many years ago; under his direction the size of the star Betelgeuze was calculated. All this is simply further indication of Mr. Michelson's great genius as a physicist; his scientific achievements are of the first rank, and are renowned throughout the scientific world.

In his new book he describes in detail the methods used in his more important experiments, and speaks also of other applications of the interferometer. All of Professor Michelson's important researches have turned on the subject of light, and this volume on optics is an important contribution to the field.

NEW METHODS IN EXTERIOR BALLISTICS. By FOREST RAY MOULTON. $4.00, postpaid $4.15.

OUT of the author's work during the war, when he was in charge of the Ballistics Branch of the Ordnance Department of the United States Army, and out of his experience in teaching the subject since at the University of Chicago, has come this book. The general problem is that of determining all the properties of the motion of a projectile which leaves the muzzle of a gun with known velocity and with a given rotation about its axis.

Professor Moulton deals with the ballistics problems raised by the changes in artillery practice necessitated by barrage fire, counter-battery fire, long-range fire, and anti-aircraft fire. Finding classical methods inadequate for the solution of these new problems, he has attacked the subject anew as a scientific problem. He has laid securely the foundations of the theory of the subject, and has tried to put it on a plane where it will require no essential modification for a long time to come.

IV. HISTORY, ECONOMICS, AND SOCIAL SCIENCE

ECONOMICS AND BUSINESS

SOCIAL CONTROL OF BUSINESS. By JOHN MAURICE CLARK. $4.00, postpaid $4.15.

DOES society suffer more when individualism holds the field or when government interferes in business, with all the possibilities of demagogism and incompetent meddling which this may imply? Is individual enterprise a sufficient safeguard for the interests of the public? A comprehensive discussion of these significant questions is John Maurice Clark's new book. The changes in business brought about by the growing domination of the modern scene by the machine are creating and making necessary corresponding changes in society's method of controlling business. Mr. Clark shows control at work in unsuspected places and outlines the entire subject.

HOW TO WRITE BUSINESS LETTERS. By JOHN A. POWELL. $1.50, postpaid $1.60.

This is a practical manual for those who dictate letters and for those who transcribe them. It avoids teaching principles as ends in themselves, and shows in a practical, usable way how the underlying principles of good letter-writing must be applied. No other book has taken into account that equally important contributing factor to a good letter, the stenographer or secretary. Many a letter has lost a large part of its effectiveness through sheer neglect of necessary mechanical details. Mr. Powell covers every practical question that arises in the process of transcription.

A HISTORY OF THE UNITED TYPOTHETAE OF AMERICA. By LEONA M. POWELL. $2.00, postpaid $2.10.

PRINTING craft has played an important part in the history of civilization and a history of the association by which it is served is determined in many important phases by the unique characteristics of the industry itself.

In the course of its existence the United Typothetae of America has found itself composed of two groups with differing labor policy. Its great problem, then, has been to reconcile them; and the actions of the United Typothetae of America on this problem constitute the main thread of its history.

HISTORY AND POLITICAL SCIENCE

THE LIFE AND WORKS OF FRANCIS HOPKINSON. By George Hastings. $4.00, postpaid $4.15.

IF VERSATILITY is the most obvious American characteristic, then Francis Hopkinson, that striking figure of Revolutionary times, was indeed a representative American. Lawyer, inventor, artist, musician, author, and possessor of many other accomplishments, this vigorous personality was still an active participant in the social, intellectual, and religious life of his city. He is, therefore, well worth the study that Mr. Hastings has accorded him, and in his participation in events that have since proved of great historical importance, he has furnished us with a new point of view on the early history of this country.

ELMER E. ELLSWORTH AND THE ZOUAVES OF '61. By Charles A. Ingraham. $2.00, postpaid $2.10.

Colonel Elmer E. Ellsworth was one of that patriotic triad of Civil War heroes and martyrs: John Brown, Ellsworth, and Abraham Lincoln. In view of the vividness of his career, it is surprising that until now, more than sixty years after his death, there has never been an adequate biography of him. Lest Ellsworth's life-story be permitted to lapse from the memory of the American people, Mr. Ingraham introduces us to this remarkable figure in a biography based upon original sources and personal contacts with certain phases of the subject.

STATE RIGHTS IN THE CONFEDERACY. By Frank L. Owsley. $2.50, postpaid $2.60.

For sixty years the student of Civil War history has labored under the impression that the South was overpowered by superior numbers. Mr. Owsley here develops a new point of view, and maintains that the Confederacy collapsed more from internal than external causes. The most disastrous of these internal ailments was the insistence of the southern people in practicing their theory of state rights during the war. The political system of the South broke down under the weight of an impractical doctrine put into practice in the midst of a revolution. Mr. Owsley has made an unusual historical study, uncovering many new facts which have hitherto been unknown even to scholars.

From savagery to civilization—an interesting transformation in a few brief years. And in this history of our country there is no tale more fascinating than that of the evolution of Chicago and the Northwest. Favored with an important strategic location, the early settlement of historic Fort Dearborn has passed rapidly through all the stages of a metropolitan district until now we look back on its early days with wonder and with awe. Milo M. Quaife has prepared for us a picture of that period when Chicago was but a wilderness hunted over by Indians. He has told a tale as fascinating as romance.

Mr. Merriam considers specifically the lines along which there are signs of a new approach to political problems, i.e., the employment of psychology to aid courts, the use of statistical studies, and scientific inquiry into such problems as emigration, group friction, and assimilation. His final chapter points out the probable line of future progress in all of these fields.

SOCIOLOGY

THE GANG. By FREDERIC M. THRASHER. $3.00, postpaid $3.15.

EVERY newspaper reader is familiar with the sporadic flaming of gang warfare in Chicago, with its dramatic criminal episodes in the murders of an O'Bannion or a Genna. What are the conditions that lie back of these spectacular outbreaks of crime? How are they possible in a civilized community? Such questions are being asked everywhere, and to answer them, Frederic M. Thrasher's investigation of gang life in Chicago offers specific facts. Thrasher spent six years in his study of gangland—the poverty belt which surrounds Chicago's loop district. He lived with gangsters, interviewed their leaders, and became intimately acquainted with gang life "from the inside." Mingling with the "Murderers," the "Deadshots," and members of hundreds of other gangs, he learned their mysteries and secret signs, their attitudes toward society and toward each other. And he found in investigating 1,313 gangs of all ages and types, the facts which explain the sensational surface features of gang life which are flaunted in the headlines. A vivid description of gang life as it actually is, it explains the psychology of the gangster, traces the widespread ramifications of gangdom—in organized crime, politics, and bootlegging—and suggests a remedy.

It tells the story of the 1919 riots, describes the Commission's investigations into Negro living conditions in the North, and gives fifty-nine recommendations that the Commission makes to American citizens.

HISTORICAL ASPECTS OF THE IMMIGRATION PROBLEM.

By EDITH ABBOTT. $4.50, postpaid $4.70.

MISS Abbott's new collection of source material for students of immigration carries on the pioneer work begun by her earlier book, Immigration: Select Documents and Case Records. Like its predecessor, the new volume makes available a series of valuable public documents and books long out of print or otherwise inaccessible. The material relates to the history of American immigration during the period before 1882, the period of "old immigration."

The documents cover causes of emigration in the United Kingdom and Northern Europe, economic aspects of the immigration problem from 1789 to 1875, the early problem of assimilation, and public opinion and the immigrant. Certain domestic immigration questions of the period are documented: public health, tenement-house problems, naturalization and the degeneration of the franchise, and immigration in relation to pauperism and crime.

This source material will enable students to achieve more easily a proper historical view of a great American problem.

IMMIGRATION: Select Documents and Case Records. By EDITH ABBOTT. $4.50, postpaid $4.60.

"Stranded en route" is the perilous situation from which bewildered aliens have often to be rescued. Miss Abbott's selection of cases relating to the immigrant's admission, exclusion, or expulsion and attendant difficulties is as interesting a group of sources as has ever been published.

FAMILY WELFARE WORK IN A METROPOLITAN COMMUNITY. By SOPHONISBA P. BRECKINRIDGE. $4.50, postpaid $4.70.

Maggie Kreisberg has been duped into a bigamous marriage; Lewis Morozoff is mentally defective, and his wife isn't quite normal either—what are the principles and methods that govern treatment of these and similar maladjustments?

College students today looking for professional training in social work turn to the classroom for guidance and here the greatest difficulty has been the lack of suitable teaching material. Miss Breckinridge is fairly a pioneer in preparing such material, and her latest book is a distinct step in developing methods of case-work teaching for schools of social work.

TRUANCY AND NON-ATTENDANCE IN THE CHICAGO SCHOOLS. By EDITH ABBOTT and SOPHONISBA P. BRECKINRIDGE. $2.00, postpaid $2.10.

Takes up the broader questions of non-attendance during the compulsory-attendance period and the enforcement of the child-labor laws as a means of protection when the required period of school attendance comes to an end.

EDUCATION FOR SOCIAL WORK. By JESSE F. STEINER. $1.00, postpaid $1.03.

New development in the field of training for social work has inevitably called into question the adequacy of prevailing standards and methods of training, and at the same time has aroused serious doubt as to the advisability of bringing professional training under the control of university leadership. This book throws the light of the author's broad experience on a problem that is still far from settled.

SEX FREEDOM AND SOCIAL CONTROL. By CHARLES W. MARGOLD. $2.00, postpaid $2.10.

HAVELOCK ELLIS denies society's right to concern itself with sex conduct of the individual unless there are children. Mr. Margold criticizes the individualistic presuppositions and the general biological and physiological point of view which Mr. Ellis and other radical writers on sex freedom have maintained to the exclusion of sociological considerations, and successfully proves that throughout the world there is always some social influence which does affect the individual's conduct and which necessarily limits his freedom. His study of the sexual conduct of a wide variety of tribes and peoples makes it clear that distinct factors of social control are present even among people who permit a system of sexual promiscuity. Similarly, Mr. Margold believes that the sexual conduct of all peoples must be social and never purely individual.

THE SOCIAL THEORY OF GEORG SIMMEL. By NICHOLAS J. SPYKMAN. $3.00, postpaid $3.15.

"When these writings are fully understood I am convinced that much of the confusion and uncertainty that now reign in the social sciences will measurably disappear. Mr. Spykman is the first man I have ever met who seemed to me fully to understand the significance of Simmel's work. I say this in spite of the fact that there has recently come into existence a new and flourishing school of sociology based upon Simmel. . . . . For all these reasons this book is of first-rate importance."—Robert E. Park.

ORIGINS OF SOCIOLOGY. By ALBION W. SMALL. $3.00, postpaid $3.15.

Dr. Small's method of approach is entirely new. All previous writers in this field have dealt with the history of opinions. This book delves deeper, and deals with the attempts of nineteenth-century men to develop methods of research which would entitle them to form opinions. In other words, Dr. Small has demonstrated how nineteenth-century social scientists have unintentionally stimulated each other in improving methods of prying into actual human relations instead of constructing irresponsible theories about them.

GENERAL SOCIOLOGY. By ALBION W. SMALL. $4.50, postpaid $4.62.

The right of sociology to be regarded as a science is defended by Professor Small in this important book. He says that the work of surveying the process of human association as a whole is a task distinct from that of a worker in one of the special fields, and that the body of knowledge so gained legitimately ranks as a science.

THE LAWS OF SOCIAL PSYCHOLOGY. By FLORIAN ZNANIECKI. $3.00, postpaid $3.15.

He has applied the principles of the new historical relativism to the realm of human action, a field from which the traditional methodology has all but retired in defeat.

INTELLIGENT PARENTHOOD was chosen as a title for the published proceedings of this association as best representing the emphasis of the significant discussions which this meeting evoked. Groves, Miss Grace Abbott, and Dr. Frankwood E. Williams. Their subjects ranged over such topics as "The Child, the Home, and the Community"; "Health"; "The Importance of the Early Years"; "Problems of the Adolescent"; "Training for Character"; "Nutrition"; and "The Child, the Home, and the School."

V. PHILOSOPHY, PSYCHOLOGY, AND EDUCATION

PHILOSOPHY

THE DEMOCRATIC WAY OF LIFE. By T. V. Smith. $1.75, postpaid $1.85.

LIBERTY, Fraternity, Equality"—worn slogans of a goal that has never been reached—have been re-endowed by Mr. Smith with some of the spirit of their inception. He has formulated a democratic credo, a profession of the social faith of a modern man. Ends, the true values that are compatible with the democratic way of life, rather than the concrete means which are taken to secure these ends, are Mr. Smith's concern. Democracy's direction, its ideals, its compatibility with actual human nature and concrete circumstance—these are basic questions of the book. Fraternity, liberty, equality, their relations to each other and to democracy as a whole Mr. Smith discusses in turn. His concluding paragraph is characteristic: "A social order in which every man lives richly his own life, leads his fellows where his knowledge justifies and follows them where his ignorance compels—that is the way of life which shineth more and more unto a democratic day."

PURPOSE THE VARIANT OF THEORY. By Julius Temple House. $1.25, postpaid $1.35.

The British school of individualism—beginning with Hobbes and ending with John Stuart Mill—afford a splendid field for analysis of the thinker's technique. In Purpose the Variant of Theory, Julius Temple House has treated these men as thinkers really striving to solve the social problems of the day. To determine the social purpose of these thinkers Mr. House makes a sympathetic study of their lives and of the group influence under which they lived.

He makes in these volumes an adequate presentation of an immense amount of material.

CULTURAL REALITY. By Florian Znaniecki. $2.50, postpaid $2.60.

This striking philosophical study formulates and justifies a new conception of reality. It is at once more useful for social and historical sciences and more helpful for cultural progress than the view which has almost exclusively prevailed in the past.

THE PLATONISM OF JOACHIM DU BELLAY. By Robert V. Merrill. $1.50, postpaid $1.60.

This is a thorough study of an interesting phase of French literature. PSYCHOLOGY

READINGS IN GENERAL PSYCHOLOGY. By EDWARD S. ROBINSON and FLORENCE RICHARDSON-ROBINSON. $4.00, postpaid $4.12.

One of the most insistent problems in the teaching of elementary psychology is that of supplying the large number of students enrolled in an introductory course with proper library assignments. This single volume, containing an ample and representative supply of materials, offers a convenient and satisfactory solution of the difficulty.

The selection of readings has been made specifically to meet undergraduate needs. On disputed issues, articles written from different points of view give the student experience with the conflicts of psychology, and offer the instructor an opportunity to emphasize, by judicious selection, certain facts and theories. The manner of arrangement is such that the readings may be taken up in any order which the personal methods of the instructor dictate.

GENERAL PSYCHOLOGY. By WALTER S. HUNTER. $2.00, postpaid $2.10.

Particularly noteworthy is the broad conception of the whole field of psychology which this book opens to the beginning student: he gains a bird's-eye view of the science and is definitely freed of the notion that "normal human adult psychology" is the whole, or even the most vigorous, part of psychological subject matter.

STATISTICAL TABLES FOR STUDENTS IN EDUCATION AND PSYCHOLOGY. By KARL J. HOLZINGER. $1.50; postpaid $1.60.

Most handbooks of calculating tables have been too elaborate to be of any great use to beginning students in educational or psychological statistics. Mr. Holzinger found this to be true in his own classes and set about to make a handbook that would be specifically adapted to the beginning student. This manual greatly simplifies calculation in averages, dispersion, correlation, and uses of a normal curve.

EDUCATION

THE PRACTICE OF TEACHING IN THE SECONDARY SCHOOL. By HENRY C. MORRISON. $4.00, postpaid $4.15.

THE title of this book indicates its scope only when one understands Professor Morrison's conception of the secondary school. He defines it to be that region in the process of education within which the pupil is capable of study but incapable of systematic intellectual growth without the constant aid of the teacher—that is, the period from about the beginning of the fourth grade to the end of the junior college.

Criticizing the present methods of education in so far as they are based upon the "lesson-teaching" theory, Professor Morrison outlines a new technique designed for direct teaching of the true learning products. Here is a book for administrators by an administrator, and for teachers by one who has spent twenty-five years in the experimental study of teaching.

VISUAL EDUCATION. Edited by FRANK NUGENT FREEMAN. $3.50, postpaid $3.70.

Much is expected from the new methods of visual education. NEW TESTAMENT

THE FORMATION OF THE NEW TESTAMENT. By EDGAR J. GOODSPEED. $1.50, postpaid $1.60.

THE well-known translator of the New Testament has again drawn upon his store of knowledge and given us an account of still another phase of the compilation of the New Testament. In this book Dr. Goodspeed has stressed the geographical influences that played so large a part in assembling the books of the Testament. He supports the theory that the New Testament as we know it is the result of many short steps rather than a few long ones; and that its whole history is one of flux. He then traces its rise from Ephesus where the first collection of material was made; to Rome where the collection was first made into the New Testament as such; and to Alexandria where it was greatly expanded. Here is the complete story of the ebb and flow of New Testament books through the middle ages, the Reformation, and on down to our own day.

A HARMONY OF THE SYNOPTIC GOSPELS IN GREEK.

By Ernest D. Burton and Edgar J. Goodspeed. $3.00, postpaid $3.15.

The purpose of this volume is to facilitate that careful comparison of the several gospels, sentence by sentence, even word by word, which is the first condition of success in the study of the mutual relation of the gospels, and an indispensable basis for advanced study of their contents.

THE LIFE OF CHRIST.

By Ernest D. Burton and Shailer Mathews. $1.75, postpaid $1.85.

This, the pioneer volume of the series, has become a standard text for the study of the life of Christ in colleges and seminaries, and has had a wide use in the adult classes of Sunday schools. It is a student's book, scholarly without being heavy, critical without exploiting hazardous theories. It follows the Stevens and Burton Harmony of the Gospels. Extensive references for the advanced student are presented.

WHAT JESUS TAUGHT.

By A. Wakefield Slaten. $1.50, postpaid $1.60.

A book to make better understood the actual teaching of Jesus as presented in the Gospels of Mark, Matthew, and Luke. A study of imperishable values dealing with Jesus' views in regard to hate, non-resistance, war, civilization, religion, democracy, and himself.

THE RISE OF CHRISTIANITY.

By Frederick Owen Norton. $2.00, postpaid $2.10.

A vivid description of the world out of which Christianity arose, and a strictly scientific, yet singularly clear and interesting interpretation of the original sources. The New Testament records are made especially plain, and Christianity's unique message is presented in terms of present-day life and thought.

PRINCIPLES OF CHRISTIAN LIVING.

By Gerald Birney Smith. $2.50, postpaid $2.60.

Ethics is not just a principle about which to theorize; it is one to be applied. This is the theme of Dr. Smith's book on Christian ethics. His aim is to indicate the motives which enter into Christian living as the individual finds himself a member of various groups in actual life.

OLD TESTAMENT AND COMPARATIVE RELIGION

THE PSALMS. Translated from the Hebrew. By J. M. Powis Smith. $3.00, postpaid $3.15.

THE translator has disarmed his critics at once by his expressed admiration for the recognized classical version of the Psalms and his emphatic denial of any attempt to supplant it by his own version. Dr. Smith's purpose is, rather, to express as completely and accurately as limitations of language permit the thought and feeling of the original—to incorporate the scholarship of recent decades. He has sought to avoid a bald literalism but has preferred to err on that side rather than on that of paraphrastic expansion. His chief concern at all times is content, and to this end he has at many points divested the verses as they are best known of an unwarranted meaning which a succession of translators have read into their texts. The official Hebrew text has been accepted where it was susceptible of translation and made reasonable sense, but has been corrected wherever it was manifestly wrong. In this clear, uncorrupted version the reader will be able to see unhampered the beauties and true meaning of the world's greatest hymnbook.

THE RELIGION OF THE PSALMS. By J. M. Powis Smith. $1.75, postpaid $1.85.

The Religion of the Psalms aims to give an understanding of the purpose for which the Psalms were written and of their function in the Jewish community. Its point of view is that the religion of the Psalms cannot be understood apart from some general knowledge of the conditions amid which they were written and the needs they were intended to satisfy.

THE MORAL LIFE OF THE HEBREWS. By J. M. Powis Smith. $2.25, postpaid $2.35.

Morals and religion, ethics and theology, are shown to have been inseparable and to have advanced hand in hand. From love of the moral life for its own rewards alone, to love of morality for its own sake is a long road, and it is Dr. Smith's belief that no people have ever traveled so far in so short a time.

THE PROPHETS AND THEIR TIMES. By J. M. Powis Smith. $2.25, postpaid $2.35.

Spokesmen of the progressive idealism of their day, organs of a noble discontent with the established order, and heralds of a golden age—these were characteristic functions of the early Hebrew prophets. From Elijah and Amos to Zechariah and Daniel is a succession of uncompromising upbraiders of their age and champions of a higher ideal. How they fought and suffered, and finally achieved a religion that commands admiration is the inspiring story that this book tells.

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF RELIGION. By George A. Coe. $2.25, postpaid $2.35.

Religious phenomena analyzed from the point of view of both structure and function is the basis of this handbook for the psychological study of religion. It is an extensive apparatus for the use of minister, student, and teacher.

THE RELIGIONS OF THE WORLD. By GEORGE A. BARTON. $2.25, postpaid $2.35.

After dealing with the origin, history, and principal teachings of all the great religions, the author points out those characteristics of Christianity which make it, as he believes, destined to be the universal religion.

EPOCHS IN BUDDHIST HISTORY. By KENNETH J. SAUNDERS. $3.00, postpaid $3.15.

Dr. Saunders has spent twelve years in the study of Buddhism, and his travels have taken him to monasteries from Ceylon to Japan. He has caught much of the spirit of the great and noble Order of the Yellow Robe, and describes the remarkable process by which Buddhism arose from Brahmanism and spread in an ever-widening stream over the Eastern World.

THE SPREAD OF CHRISTIANITY IN THE MODERN WORLD. By EDWARD C. MOORE. $2.25, postpaid $2.35.

Attempting a survey of the history of missions since the beginning of the modern era, about 1757, the author depicts the missionary movement against the background of general history. He sets forth the relation of missionary endeavor to contemporary conditions, political and commercial, social and intellectual. He shows the part which missions have played in making the modern world what it is, and the part which the modern world with all its manifold elements and complex tendencies has had in making modern missions what they are.

A GUIDE TO THE STUDY OF THE CHRISTIAN RELIGION. Edited by GERALD B. SMITH. $3.00, postpaid $3.12.

A symposium covering the field of modern religious teaching.

The past quarter of a century has seen remarkable growth in theological knowledge and an unusual change in the points of view. Biblical and theological scholars have worked out new methods of studying old subjects which have led to surprisingly fruitful results. The editor of the present volume has compiled a comprehensive survey of this field by twelve well-known scholars.

CHRISTIAN SALVATION. A Modern Interpretation. By GEORGE CROSS. $2.50, postpaid, $2.65.

Mr. Cross's purpose is evangelistic and he has written this book to secure converts to the Christian faith and recruits for the work of the Christian churches. The various Christian attempts to answer the question of personal salvation are traversed with keen criticism and the modern Protestant attitude is given fresh treatment.

PRINCIPLES OF PREACHING. By OZORA S. DAVIS. $2.50, postpaid $2.60.

"Sermons of power" rather than those popularly called "great" have been used in this new text for the student of homiletics and the preacher who desires his sermons to gain in power, persuasiveness, and beauty of form. There are certain principles which contribute to this end, and they are best learned by original inductive study of the sermons in which they are implicit. Dr. Davis supplies this material for study and criticism, together with a plan for sermon analysis. In addition, he sets forth the conclusions which have come out of his own inductive study.

HOW THE BIBLE GREW. By FRANK G. LEWIS. $1.50, postpaid $1.60.

It presents in an interesting way the entire literary development of both Testaments and shows how they have been handled by translators in the production of the many versions.

THE NEW ORTHODOXY. (Revised Edition.) By EDWARD SCRIBNER AMES. $1.50, postpaid $1.60

Thoughtful people everywhere have found in The New Orthodoxy, a satisfying resolution of their religious problems. This new revision is a further definition of orthodoxy, both new and old. A new introduction has been added with as interesting a group of definitions of religion as has ever been formulated.

Social Study

The Scientific Study of Human Society

By FRANKLIN H. GIDDINGS, Ph.D., LL.D., Professor of Sociology and the History of Civilization in Columbia University. 5″ x 7½″. x + 247 pages. Cloth. Postpaid $2.00.

The purpose of this book has been to indicate wherein and to what extent Sociology is indubitably a scientific study of Human Society, and how it can be made more rigorously so. To this end, the author has undertaken to describe strict methods that Sociology can avail itself of, and to point out precautions and limits which must be observed in the use of each.

"I consider Giddings' The Scientific Study of Human Society an indispensable book for the beginner in Sociology. It is a clear presentation of the value of quantitative methods in sociological study. We are expecting to use it in our classes in the University of Missouri." PROFESSOR CHARLES A. ELLWOOD, of the University of Missouri.

"Professor Giddings has done a real service to sociology in his recent book on The Scientific Study of Human Society. It presents to us an entirely new methodology in the study of sociology. I am using the book for that reason in my seminary." PROFESSOR JOHN L. GILLIN of the University of Wisconsin.

(It is worthy of note that The Scientific Study of Human Society was included in the list of forty books published in the United States recommended by the American Library Association to the Committee on Intellectual Coöperation of the League of Nations. This book and Roscoe Pound's Law and Morals were in the group of eight social science volumes.)

Systems of Public Welfare

By HOWARD W. ODUM, Ph.D., Kenan Professor of Sociology and Director of the School of Public Welfare in the University of North Carolina, and D. W. WILLARD, Ph.D., Associate in Research, Lincoln School of Teachers College, Columbia University. 5¼″ x 8″. viii + 302 pages. Cloth with gold stamp. Postpaid $2.00.

This volume is designed to meet the demand for comprehensive information concerning the scope, organization, and administration of public welfare in the United States.

Contents: The New Public Welfare—State Systems—Agencies—Typical State Systems—Functions of Public Welfare Agencies—History and Development of Public Welfare—Attainable Standards for State Departments—The County as a Unit—The Municipal System—How it works in North Carolina; Pennsylvania—The Movement for a Federal Department.

Law and Morals

By ROSCOE POUND, Ph.D., LL.D., Dean of the Harvard Law School. 5″ x 7½″. xviii + 140 pages. Second edition. Cloth. Postpaid $2.00.

A discussion of the evolution of law in relation to morals. The papers present certain important social interpretations and blaze new trails in the field of legal literature. Part I. The Historical View. Part II. The Analytical View. Part III. The Philosophical View.

In any sane study of modern conditions this book presents points of view which cannot be overlooked. For example, this general proposition which Dean Pound makes might well be applied to some of our law-making: "In general law cannot depart far from ethical custom nor lag far behind it. For law does not enforce itself. Its machinery must be set in motion and kept in motion and guided in its motion by individual human beings; and there must be something more than the abstract content of the legal precept to move these human beings to act and to direct their actions." (This volume was also included in the list of forty books published in the United States recommended by the American Library Association to the Committee on Intellectual Coöperation of the League of Nations.)

Roads to Social Peace

By Edward Alsworth Ross, Ph.D., LL.D., Professor of Sociology in the University of Wisconsin. 5¼" x 7½". 133 pages. Cloth. Postpaid $1.50.

In this volume Professor Ross discusses the methods of promoting social peace under the following heads: I. The Avoidance of Sectionalism; II. The Quenching of Sectarian Strife; III. The Promotion of Peace Among Nationalities; IV. The Mitigation of Class Struggle; V. The Allaying of Town-Country Conflict.

Professor Ross "does not know how to write a dull paragraph, and he touches no subject which does not become both more clear and more interesting under his treatment." Christian Century.

"Here is sanity not unmixed with humor."—New York Evening Post.

"The book is one every thoughtful voter will do well to read and ponder." Boston Transcript.

"One of the genuine fruits of a gifted understanding and a golden eloquence." The Nation.

Children's Interests in Reading

By A. M. Jordan, Ph.D., Professor of Educational Psychology in the University of North Carolina. 5¾" x 8½". Cloth. x + 103 pages. Postpaid $1.50. Limp Cloth $1.00.

In this book the author develops practicable methods of determining the reading interests of children; he gives the results of records collected in libraries and schools, first published in 1921, now revised and supplemented with additional data. This book will be found very useful to those who are interested in elementary education.

The Country Newspaper

By M. M. Willey, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Sociology in Dartmouth College. 5¾" x 8½". Cloth. Postpaid $1.50.

This volume is an attempt to solve the problem of newspaper analysis. It is one of the first steps in the development of a quantitative methodology that may in the future be of considerable value to students of social organization and control. To newspaper editors and community workers this volume should be of especial interest.

Social Study

Farm Life Abroad

By E. C. Branson, A.M., Litt.D., Professor of Rural Social Economics in the University of North Carolina. 5½″ x 7¾″. x + 303 pages. Cloth. Postpaid $2.00.

Thirty-six interesting letters written in 1923-24 full of information depicting rural rather than urban life in Denmark, France, and Germany. "Dr. Branson's excellent book ought to do good everywhere." Herbert Quick in the New York Saturday Review of Literature.

"A more entertaining and instructive one on things as they are in the countries visited has rarely been written." Boston Evening Transcript.

"It would be difficult to find a single book more stimulating to the imagination of anyone interested in the happiness and welfare of our farm people than this book of Branson's. But it has a far wider appeal. It possesses considerable value to the student of government or of economics, for it deals freely and broadly with the economic and political philosophy of a highly-successful farm civilization." The Manufacturer's Record.

Education in the South

By Edgar Wallace Knight, Ph.D., Professor of Education in the University of North Carolina. 5½″ x 8″. 32 pages. Cloth. Postpaid 75 cents.

A brief study of education in the Southern States, with bibliography.

Some Cycles of Cathay

By William Allen White. 5½″ x 8″. xiv + 96 pages. Cloth. Postpaid $1.50.

A vivid picture of three cycles in American development and the question of future progress. Are human movements independent of wars? Is the God of Battles a minor God? In the great march of humanity, which way are the new cycles carrying us?

"Mr. White has never written a more stimulating, more carefully thought out, more deeply felt book than this." The New York Times Book Review.

The Negro and His Songs

By Howard W. Odum, Ph.D., Professor of Sociology and Director of the School of Public Welfare in the University of North Carolina, and Guy B. Johnson, A.M., Institute for Research in Social Science in the University of North Carolina. 6″ x 9″. xii + 306 pages. Cloth with gold stamp. Postpaid $3.00.

"The Negro and His Songs is excellently written. Its interpretative comment is thoughtful and interesting; there is evidence not only of careful study but of sympathetic appreciation as well." H. B. in the New York Evening Post.

Social Study

"It is preparation for the work that the South will presently devote to its racial problems, a foundation for a sociological structure which cannot be done elsewhere." LAWRENCE STALLINGS, in the New York World. ". . . heartily recommended to all who are even interested superficially in the subject. To those seriously interested in American folk songs it should be indispensable." The New Orleans Times Picayune.

Negro Workaday Songs

By HOWARD W. ODUM and GUY B. JOHNSON. 6" x 9". xii + 270 pages. Cloth with gold stamp. Postpaid $3.00.

Negro Workaday Songs is the third volume of a series of folk background studies of which The Negro and His Songs was the first and Folk Beliefs of the Southern Negro is the second. In this volume, as in the previous one, the emphasis is primarily social. So far as literary and artistic values are concerned, the authors leave the songs to tell their own story. Table of contents: I. Background Resources in Negro Song and Work. II. The Blues: Workaday Sorrow Songs. III. Songs of the Lonesome Road. IV. Bad Man Ballads and Jamboree. V. Songs of Jail, Chain Gang, and Policemen. VI. Songs of Construction Camps and Gangs. VII. Just Songs to Help with Work. VIII. Man's Song of Woman. IX. Woman's Song of Man. X. Folk Minstrel Types. XI. Workaday Religious Songs. XII. The Annals and Blues of Left Wing Gordon. XIII. John Henry: Epic of the Negro Workingman. XIV. Types of Negro Melodies. XV. Types of Phono-Photographic Records of Negro Singers.

Folk Beliefs of the Southern Negro

By N. N. PUCKETT, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Sociology in Western Reserve University. 6" x 9". xviii + 644 pages. Nine half-tone illustrations. Cloth with gold stamp. Postpaid $5.00.

This volume presents a large amount of previously unpublished lore and contributes material which is indispensable to the student who wishes to understand the mental background of the Southern Negro. Table of Contents: I. Practical and Emotional Backgrounds. II. Burial Customs, Ghosts, and Witches. III. Voodoism and Conjuration. IV. and V. Positive Control-Signs: Minor Charms and Cures. VI. Negative Control-Signs: Taboos. VII. Prophetic Signs or Omens. VIII. Christianity and Superstition: Conclusion.

Religion

Religious Certitude in an Age of Science

By CHARLES ALLEN DINSMORE, Ph.D., D.D., Professor of the Spiritual Interpretation of Religion in the Yale Divinity School. 5" x 7½". viii + 102 pages. Cloth. Postpaid $1.50.

In this unusually sane statement Dr. Dinsmore maintains that the word Knowledge belongs to religion as well as to science and that religious apprehension reaches nearer the heart of its object than scientific knowledge; that the faith upon which our religion is founded is as bold, rational, and as comprehensive as any scientific generalization; and it can prove its truth by its effects upon life.

Religion

Professor Dinsmore's book "is as helpful as it is candid and intellectually sincere." Springfield Republican.

"A book of fine literary finish. The outlook is that of liberalism. Certitude is defended, and treated as vital to religion. But the religion in view is not that of historical Christianity. None the less, many thoughts emerge which are both true and beautifully expressed." The Living Church.

"In this close, clear reasoning the book is rich, and equally rich in the wide knowledge and allusions with which its pages abound. It has been a long, long time since so brief a volume contained so much that would strengthen the faith of thoughtful men." The Richmond News Leader.

"Here is a most admirable statement of the certainty of religious knowledge." The Nashville Christian Advocate.

Can a Man Be a Christian To-day?

By William Louis Poteat, LL.D., President Wake Forest College. 5″ x 7½″. xii + 110 pages. Cloth. Postpaid $1.50.

A clear and forceful presentation of the fundamentals of Christianity, together with a wholesome refutation of the fanatical attacks upon science. "There are hundreds of thousands of honest young people who are in perplexity, and who would like to have an intellectually respectable religion. They will find illumination in this little book." Scribners Magazine.

"Can a Man Be a Christian Today? is not an attempt to reconcile the mass lore of the Bible with the adjustments scientific research has made in beliefs. It is, more likely, the most cogent and winning statement ever made on the religion of a scientist who adheres to the dynamic of Christ's own conduct. It represents forty years as a profound student and inspiring teacher of biology." The New York World.

"The volume is of small compass, only 110 pages, but is to be reckoned by the richness of its contents rather than the number of its pages. It is emphatically a book for such a time as this, if religion and science are to learn how to work together in such a world as this." The Christian Evangelist.

History

Hispanic-American History: A Syllabus

By William Whatley Pierson, Ph.D., Professor of History and Government in the University of North Carolina. 6″ x 9″. viii + 170 pages. Cloth. Postpaid $1.50. Limp cloth $1.25.

This syllabus is designed as a guide to the introductory study of Hispanic-American history and civilization. It may be used with considerable advantage over the old method of having every student purchase one text book. This volume is the only one necessary for the student to purchase; it serves as an outline for him and guides him to text books and reference books which should be available in the college library. It presents a comprehensive outline, limited, of course, by necessary rejection and selection of works which seemed to the author of more or less importance. The author has sought to emphasize institutional, social, intellectual, and economic aspects.

The Civil War and Readjustment in Kentucky

History

By Ellis Merton Coulter, Ph.D., Professor of History in the University of Georgia. 6″ x 9″. xii + 468 pages. Cloth. Postpaid $3.60.

Here for the first time appears the whole story of how Kentucky got into the Civil War, how she developed her strange neutrality doctrine before going in, how upon getting in she immediately became greatly dissatisfied with her position, and how when the war was over she became more Southern in her feelings than even South Carolina. So objectionable did her actions become to the Federal government that she escaped reconstruction only by the slightest margin.

Kentucky has more than once played a unique and interesting role in history, but at no time has she stood out in bolder relief than in the period covered by this book. Many wholly unexploited sources have been used for the first time, such as the Official Records of the Union and Confederate Armies and the manuscript collections of the Breckinridges, Joseph Holt, and J. J. Crittenden.

This book has an added value in that it makes a study of sectionalism in a border state.

Old Days in Chapel Hill

Biography

By Hope Summerell Chamberlain. 6″ x 9″. xvi + 325 pages. Cloth with gold stamp. Fourteen illustrations. Postpaid $3.50.

Someone once remarked to Governor Vance of North Carolina that Cornelia Phillips Spencer in good sense and strength of character was the best woman in the state. "Yes," said Governor Vance, "and she's the best man too." This book, being the life and letters of Cornelia Phillips Spencer, is also the story of the University of North Carolina and life in the South during a large part of the 19th century. It is a clear, delightful picture of a strong, influential personality.

Robert E. Lee: An Interpretation

By Woodrow Wilson. 5″ x 7½″. 42 pages. Cloth with gold stamp. Postpaid $1.00.

A remarkable interpretation of Lee and a vivid self-revelation of Wilson. A book representative of Mr. Wilson's best style and thought.

Southern Pioneers

Edited by Howard W. Odum, Ph.D., Kenan Professor of Sociology and Director of the School of Public Welfare in the University of North Carolina. 5¼″ x 7¾″. 221 pages. Cloth. Postpaid $2.00.

"From the University of North Carolina Press comes this collection of biographical sketches, so replete with human interest, and a profound insight into the problems of our country, so keen and intelligent in its diagnosis of the disorders that hamper its progress, and so correct in the intelligent recommendations for betterment that we would gladly see it introduced in the curriculum of every high school in the land.'' The Memphis Commercial Appeal.

''Each of the sketches is well done, and the book as a whole is not only delightful reading, but thoroughly informative. The University of North Carolina Press is rendering a real service in bringing out such books as this one.'' The Atlanta Journal.

''I rather think that Dr. Odum's essay, A Southern Promise, and Gerald W. Johnson's capital study of Woodrow Wilson should be mailed like the erstwhile congressional seeds, free of charge to every person who resides south of the Mason and Dixon line. Such true talk on the South and its present condition, it is not vouchsafed us every day to hear.'' The Macon Telegraph.

''The studies included in this collection are designed to show what Southern leaders at the dawn of the new epoch have done, and what their successors can do, if they will. The book is well worth reading, if you are interested in the betterment of the South.'' The New Orleans Times Picayune.

SOUL'S SECRET DOOR, (2nd. Ed.).

Writing in free verse, a devout Hindu gives us a book of poems, "Soul's Secret Door", and it is interesting to note how essentially Christian is his Oriental faith.—Literary Digest.

The book sheds an almost tonic sense of peace and repose.—Evening Post, New York.

Here is the calm, exalted type of spirituality which is so distinctive of Hindu thought at its best and highest. A noble mysticism, expressed in lovely, simple, lucid English phrase, is present in all these verses as at once an atmosphere and an illumination.—John Haynes Holmes, Unity, Chicago.

Swami Paramananda, one of the best loved teachers of ancient Oriental wisdom in America, has written a book of poems which, for purity of expression, alone, comprise a refreshing contribution to contemporary poetry.—James M. Warnack, Los Angeles Times, California.

Like the Psalms of King David. They are marked by a fine spirituality and profound devotion. In vers libre, they have an unexpected lyrical quality.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

THE VIGIL, with Portrait of Author.

When Swami Paramananda's earlier volume, "Soul's Secret Door", was published, no one who read it failed to recognize its sincerity, its beauty, its surpassing calm. The present book, it seems to me, is even a higher accomplishment. It has carried the splendid growth of the earlier verse to a more splendid fruition. Swami Paramananda has a message! We are better for listening to it. What a great Christian he is, in spite of the fact that his religion is of the Orient; another surety that God is God, no matter what men of different races call Him or in what language prayers ascend!—John Wellington La Rue, Enquirer, Cincinnati, O.

An interesting collection of verse into which a classic beauty and chasteness of thought have been so interwoven that they strike a high spiritual note and lift one out of the ordinary plane of material things. Mysticism in its truest form finds expression here, and a burning ardor for a more intimate knowledge of the Divine envelopes its pages. This young Hindu poet has struck fire in even the smallest fragment of verse with his limpid honesty of mind.—Buffalo Courier, Buffalo, N. Y.

As we read the poems, we were charmed with the simplicity of their form and the mystical grandeur of their content. All the poems seem to be the spontaneous outpourings of one who has attained communion in his soul with God—the Essence of life and creation.—Prabuddha Bharata, Calcutta, India.

RHYTHM OF LIFE.

As in his two earlier volumes, "Soul's Secret Door" and "The Vigil," here Swami Paramananda, founder and leader of the Vedanta Centre of Boston and the Ananda-Ashrama, in California, reveals himself as also a poet of authentic utterance, a master of simplicity and beauty. In him unite the practical idealism of the West and the supreme mysticism attained by India of old. A book of devotion, inspired and inspiring, of spiritual vision and divine communion, "Rhythm of Life" is an experience and a prayer.—Carleton Noyes in the Foreword.

In reading these offerings of Swami Paramananda's devout muse the feeling is gained that here is a human soul which has achieved that rhythmic attitude of life so desirable. There is a selflessness in these poems of worship suggestive of the songs of the Psalmist when he was closest to Divinity and with an utter forgetfulness of self poured out his soul's longings and his soul's tributes.—Sam T. Clover, Saturday Night, Los Angeles, California.

DEVOTIONAL AND PHILOSOPHICAL

THE PATH OF DEVOTION (6th Edition). Cloth $1.25. Paper, 85c. Postage 10 cts. Contents: I. Devotion. II. Purity. III. Steadfastness. IV. Fearlessness. V. Self-Surrender. VI. Sanskrit Prayers and Salutations with translation.

This is not a book of theory, but of practice. It gives wisdom for the life and its outer manifestations. Without doubt the book will have a wide reading.—Detroit Times.

The words are so alive that they seem rather spoken than written. No one can read the book without gaining a new impetus for the spiritual life in the world.—Indian Review.

The Author breathes a spirit of deep Oriental religious fervor that has for its occidental prototype nothing this side of the devotees of Medieval times. The style of the book is so simple that one scarcely realizes it comes from the pen of a man of the East.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A spirit of deep religious fervor and strength pervades in the whole book and reminds one of Brother Lawrence. It is a book to be read with profit.—Unity, Kansas City.

VEDANTA IN PRACTICE. (3rd Edition). Cloth binding $1.00. Paper, 85c. Postage 10 cts. Contents: I. Need of Spiritual Life. II. Right Discrimination. III. Building of Character. IV. Power of Concentration. V. Self-Realization. VI. Selections from the Upanishads and other Scriptures.

It is a thoughtful companion anywhere on the way of life. This makes a good first book for one who wishes to become acquainted with Oriental philosophy at its best. The book will aid in the cultivation of the habit of concentration.—Chicago Evening Post.

An attractive and useful little volume . . . The author aims to present the principles of Vedanta doctrine in so simple and practical a way that they can be applied in the daily lives of the disciples.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The breadth and tolerance exhibited by the Author in reference to other religions, commend themselves to fair-minded readers.—San Francisco Chronicle.

REINCARNATION AND IMMORTALITY. Cloth $1.00. Postage 10 cts. Contents: I. Life Hereafter. II. Karma and Fate. III. Harvest Field of Life. IV. Law of our Destiny. V. Overcoming Fear of Death. VI. Reincarnation and Immortality.

THE WAY OF PEACE AND BLESSEDNESS, (3rd Edition). Portrait of Author. Cloth binding $1.25. Paper 85c. Postage 10 cts. Contents: I. Worship of Truth. II. The Path of the Spirit. III. The Consecrated Life. IV. Trust in the Divine. V. Service of the Ideal. VI. Purity of Heart.

Writers of the East are finding an ever widening response among the men of the West, perhaps because they bring us something much needed in our hurrying life. For example, "The Way of Peace and Blessedness" by Swami Paramananda—a dainty little volume of meditations and prayers. Although by a Hindu, the English is lucid, strong, graceful, and at times highly poetic. Its teaching, too, could also as well be Christian as Hindu. Its noble catholicity is worthy of the peculiar beauty of its words.—Record-Herald, Chicago.

The book reminds us of the "Theologia Germanica" and the "Imitation of Christ." It is for all—Hindus and Moslems, Christians and Buddhists. We have read the book with delight and recommend it to our readers.—Modern Review, Calcutta.

"The Way of Peace and Blessedness" is a priceless little work on spiritual living. Full of devotion and consecration, each of the six chapters seems more potent than the other. We recommend this work especially for use in meditation, every chapter being opened by a prayer full of aspiration and of peace and by quotations from the Sacred Scriptures of India suited to the subject.—Oriental Esoteric Bulletin, Washington, D. C.

CLASSICS

English translations from the Sanskrit

BHAGAVAD-GITA (3rd Edition). Attractive pocket size. Flexible binding $1.50. Plain cloth $1.25. Postage 8 cts.

The Swami brought to his task a thorough knowledge of the two languages, a profound understanding of the thought and a realization of the thought through the life. No one can read the translation contained in the pages of this little book without feeling convinced that head, heart and soul have co-operated in the making of it. Its language is simple, fervent and spontaneous, and if it lacks the ornate imagery of William Q. Judge's translation for the Theosophists, it is probably a more accurate rendering of the original. From the simplest daily task to the most exalted state of spiritual consciousness, at every step of the soul's evolution, one may turn to this sacred book for strength and inspiration, even though one is not an actual believer in Hindu Philosophy.—Boston Evening Transcript.

The above translation was undertaken as a labor of love for a small group of earnest students in Florence. And this love shines through it in the earnestness and clearness of diction that are some of the special qualities of this author. No longer can anyone complain of the multiplication of Sanskrit terms without a sufficient explanation. . . . The present translation will be a favorite one with all who appreciate the Swami's profound knowledge of his subject and the illumination of his life.—Oriental Esoteric Bulletin, Washington, D.C.

It is called "the Gita clarified" by many who have read it. Those who are familiar with other renderings of this wonderful Aryan Scripture cannot fail to gain new light from this translation. —Unity, Kansas City.

THE UPANISHADS—with commentary, Vol. I, (2nd Edition). Blue cloth, gold lettering $1.50. Plain cloth, $1.25. Postage 10 cts. Contents:

I. Isa-Upanishad—Oneness of the Soul and God, and the value of both faith and works as means of ultimate attainment are the leading themes of this Upanishad.

II. Katha-Upanishad — The most widely known of all the Upanishads. It presents a dialogue between an aspiring disciple and the Ruler of Death regarding the great Hereafter. Edwin Arnold popularized this story in "The Secret of Death" and Emerson gives it in brief in his essay on "Immortality."

III. Kena-Upanishad—This is one of the most analytical and metaphysical of the Upanishads, its purpose being to lead the mind from the gross to the subtle, from effect to cause.

The Upanishads contain the choicest gems of Indo-Aryan thought and culture, and are of equal value to the scholar and to the seeker of spiritual light. The present translation is remarkably lucid as well as faithful to the original, and the commentary makes plain what might otherwise be obscure to the Western mind. It is declared by those who have read it to be "a precious contribution not only to literature itself, but also to those forces that shall ultimately lead mankind out of darkness into Light."

"Like some good people of whom he talks, Dr. Goss has a head that is screwed on right, and a heart in the right place, too. He writes for average men and women, with a brave scorn of folly, meanness and selfishness, under whatever form it may masquerade."—New York Christian Advocate.

MARVELS OF OUR BODILY DWELLING

By Mrs. Mary Wood-Allen, M.D.

Cloth, with cover in four colors, stamped in gold. 328 pages, printed on superb paper, with five half-tone pictures and 72 line drawings. Price, $1.50 net.

This is a wonder-book about this marvelous body of ours. It is a beautiful building, more exquisitely appointed than any structure of man's creation. Not only a dwelling but a wonderful workshop wherein are done wonderful things—a laboratory where many marvelous processes are carried on; a manufactory where worn-out materials are destroyed and new substance created; a structure embodying wonders of mechanism and skill of engineering.

OPINION OF A BIOLOGICAL EXPERT

"This book tells a beautiful story, and in a wonderful way. It is full of information of the right sort, and I regret that there are not more such books, and that they are not more generally in the hands of the public."—The late Wm. F. Craig, A.M., M.D., Professor of Biology, Central High School, Philadelphia, Pa.

It makes a fine present for boys or girls. It tells in as fascinating a manner as does a fairy story, of the proper uses of the human body. It will help them to know what kind of food to avoid and how to take care of their teeth and other parts of their wonderful human structure. It does not touch on the sex question.

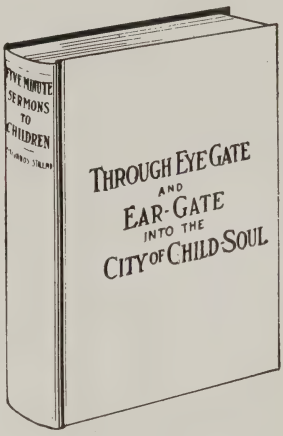
RELIGIOUS BOOKS

Two Books that are in Steady Demand by Ministers, S. S. Superintendents, Bible and Day School Teachers.

FIVE MINUTE OBJECT SERMONS

By Sylvanus Stall, D.D.

Cloth, 12mo. Price, $1.50 net



This is an ideal book—a classic of its class. The forty-three little talks are based upon familiar, everyday objects, treated in the fascinating form of parables, and told in such an easy, interesting way that the reader is left to wonder whether large words are ever needed to express our thought at any time.

It should be familiar to all who in any way are responsible for child nurture and culture. Every parent and teacher would find in it suggestiveness and helpfulness. It has in its teaching that grit and substance which go into the making of sturdy manhood and womanhood.

WARMLY COMMENDED

"Like his Master, Dr. Stall paints beautiful word pictures. Tells his stories so plainly, using common objects as illustrations, that we actually see what he is talking about and the mind sees more than the eye, for the chief excellence of the book is that it suggests so much more than it tells. For this reason it is useful not only to the parent and teacher, but especially helpful to the Minister in preparing sermons for children." —The United Presbyterian.

"It is good for the nursery, the winter evening and Sunday afternoon."—Religious Telescope.

"We have seen several volumes of this kind but never one that contained more practical discourses for the little folks."—Our Bible Teacher.

A KINDERGARTEN METHOD OF TEACHING MORAL TRUTHS IN THE HOME

Introduces "The Indoor Children's Church" in which the children conduct reverently and helpfully these services.

Everybody, even the grown-ups, will get more out of life if they know how to enjoy it, and make play of it, and this "PLAY-CHURCH" idea can be made a feature of Sunday afternoons. It will train the children as speakers and develop whatever talents they may have that are now lying dormant. It will make the children more mentally keen, develop their powers of observation and help fit them for the niche in life that they are afterwards to occupy.

A book that lays the moral foundation, teaches character building truths in a delightful way. For use in the home, The Place for Moral Training. Teaches in an impressive way, through pictures and play lessons planned for each of the fifty-two Sundays of the year.

A Help to Know the Book that Bruce Barton Claims Nobody Knows

The more one searches the Bible, the more he finds its untold wealth that even lies upon its surface and it remained for that plodding, thoughtful student of the Scriptures, W. G. Barnes, to uncover some of its hidden jewels.

What suggested this volume to the author, was the fact that the Master followed the occupation of a carpenter, knowing that honest toil is essential to the well being of the body as well as the mind.

Mr. Barnes made a remarkable and note-worthy discovery that nearly all occupations as we know them today, are mentioned in this much neglected book. The occupations for Women, of Arts and Crafts; Merchants, Farmers, Day-laborers, Manufacturers, Miners, the Navy and Merchant Service, Building, Customers, Sales, Means of Transport, In the Judges' Court, Creditors and Debtors, Property Taxes and Investments, etc., Business Undertakings, Profits and Losses, Wealth and Wealthy Men, Reporters.

This brief mention shows that a great treat is in store for every reader of

STORIES FROM AN INDIAN CAVE By Carolyn Sherwin Bailey

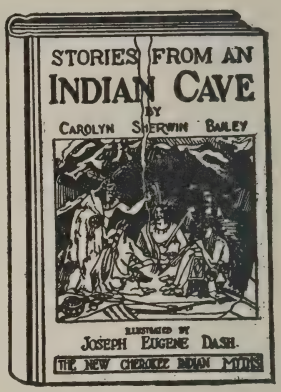
Illustrated by Joseph Eugene Dash



Here are many of the cave stories that everybody will enjoy because they are new and have not been told in other books of Indian tales. They will take you out of doors into the pleasant land of Once-upon-a-time where wonderful and unexpected things happen.

The Bureau of Indian Affairs at Washington furnished the notes for these Cherokee myths. The stories are new in Indian folk lore and have a value for children in the lesson inculcated in addition to their content of interest. The many illustrations are vividly realized.

ICEBOUND IN THE SOUTH POLAR SEAS By Roy J. Snell

Author of "Little Boy France," "Strangeland Bird Life," etc.

Illustrated in color by Olive Lofts; gold stamped title; color jacket; 256 large pages. (Reënforced binding.) Price $1.00.

Icebound is a story about three boys who started with a relief cargo of supplies for the Whaling Station on Deception Island. They received information that gold had been found in the vicinity of that island by an old sailor friend. Supplied with crude maps of its near location the three boys started on an adventure trip. How they became lost is the story that constantly develops action and leads them to true discoveries. The Antarctic Regions vividly portrayed and the Penguin Land real life brought before the reader. The explorer-author of this story has a fascinating manner of telling stories of the Polar Regions, as he is intimately acquainted with the shores of Polar seas.

Printed in large type; illustrated in color; beautifully bound in a very durable manner, making this book an exceptional value. Adults will also find it very interesting reading. (Grades 5-7.) (Endorsed by Chicago B. O. E. and many others.)

Beautifully illustrated in color; enclosed in art box; 128 pages; reënforced binding. Color jacket. Price 75c. (Second printing.)

This title is an innovation in our list of publications. It is unusual for a publisher to secure stories from a group of authors so successful in the child writing world as Frances Kerr Cook, Carolyn Sherwin Bailey, Gladys C. Carpenter, Nelia Gardner White and Dorothy Arno Baldwin, for collective use, in one volume. Such has been our good fortune and each story in this book is worthy of special mention.

The selection of this title for a child means the happy acquaintance of all those notable story tellers by the reading of one book.

Mrs. Cook's colored illustrations are worthy of the text and will be of constant interest to any child reader. For boys and girls from 6 to 10 years old.

RUNAWAY NANNY

By Clara J. Denton

Author of "Real Out-Of-Door Stories," etc.

Illustrated in color by Joseph E. Dash; enclosed in art box; 128 pages; reënforced binding. Color jacket. Price 75c. (Second printing.)

The Little Goat of this story is irresistible. In description the author writes, "There are many stories about Goats; how cross they often are and that they sometimes harm little children and even grownups, but Nanny was not that kind of Goat. She was a dear, kind, gentle Goat and had never harmed anyone in all her goat life." These prevailing virtues do not make Nanny inactive; on the contrary, for from the moment she breaks the rope, she has a series of adventures which contain unlimited entertainment consisting of humor, anxiety, then a perfect adjustment of her trials after a day out. Additional worth-while short stories are also included in this book. For boys and girls from 6 to 10 years old.

JUVENILE

HAWKEYE'S ROOM MATE. A story for boys of preparatory school life by Walter Prichard Eaton. Attractively illustrated. 320 pages, $1.75.

More than an athletic story, for it pictures the very life of a truly American prep school — how the boys studied, played and found lasting friendships and learned the lessons of life. It is a story of the development of mind and character and an insight into the rich and often humorous side of a typical preparatory school.

SPUNK, LEADER OF THE DOG TEAM. By Arthur C. Bartlett. Illustrated. 320 pp. $1.75.

Spunk — strong, masterful, intelligent Spunk won his place in the heart of his master and as leader of the dog team through weeks and months of training. He acquired his name because he refused to whimper when broken limbs had to be set and he justified his name when on the ice fields of Mount Washington he refused to yield an inch when yielding would mean certain death and destruction to all. And when the winning team of the great Derby of dog racing, "mushed" in with Spunk in the lead, he verified all the confidence his master had in him when he christened him "Spunk".
It's a great story of a great dog and other dogs, too, and of a boy who might never have been what he became had it not been for Spunk.

IN THE HEART OF THE EVERGLADES. A story of Florida by Kirk Munroe. Illustrated. 164 pp. $1.50.

Here is a true picture of the early homesteading days of Florida and of the Seminole Indians, who are the most picturesque of all the American Indians. But they had no legal rights which the white man was bound to respect and in the early pioneer days this often brought the two into conflict.

ALOFT IN THE SHENANDOAH II. By Lewis E. Theiss. Illustrated by Frank T. Merrill. 320 pp. $1.75.

In this story of the building and launching of the Navy's new and mammoth dirigible, the author pays great tribute to those who became martyrs to the development of aerial knowledge when the Shenandoah crashed to earth. The author was indebted to these very men for the information upon which this story is built, for with them he lived and worked for weeks just prior to the fatal flight. Therefore, this story of the building of a fine, large and more useful ship is dedicated to them, whose cry was to forever "carry on".

JUNE DUNCAN. A story by Amy E. Blanchard. Illustrated. 320 pp. $1.75.

Country life was forced upon June Duncan, as it has been on many others. She, with her mother and sister, moved from the city, where living costs seem to forever increase, into an ancestral home in a nearby suburb. Here means were found to increase the family income and although the town promised few excitements at first, June found plenty as she became a part of the town's life, helping to restore a broken romance and finally becoming the heroine of one herself.

MISS JEFFREY'S NEIGHBORHOOD. A story by Lucy L. Montgomery. Illustrated. 320 pp. $1.75.

LIEUTENANT RALPH OSBORN ABOARD A TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYER. 342 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

Commander E. L. Beach's stories for boys of the United States have helped immensely to explain the inner workings of an American man-of-war and to inspire patriotism and heroism in the young men of this generation. Mr. Beach writes of real events and true incidents in the Navy, and brings into play all the expert knowledge of the Navy which he has gained through years of experience.
Naval officers are one of the few classes of Americans who actually have interesting adventures now-a-days; consequently the navy appeals to the boy's imagination much as it did in the days of wooden ships. Commander Beach has put into his series of stories about Ralph Osborn some valuable information about the American navy, and much of his own life experience.

THE MYSTERY OF CHIMNEY ROCK. New. Being a story of the search for gold in the land of the Ute Indians in the days of '49. Illustrated with colored jacket and frontispiece. 320 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

A fascinating story of the opening up of the great western part of this country. Through the experiences of his characters, Mr. Cheley shows just what this country was before the craze for gold lured thousands of easterners to trek westward. Many portions were inhabited by Indians who looked upon their coming as an invasion of their rights. This added to the settlers' hardships and with the natural privations which they suffered, their quest for gold and adventure proved a serious undertaking and in many cases, disastrous. The story of this wonderful period in our country's history should interest every boy.

THE BOYS' BOOK OF CAMP-FIRES. By Frank H. Cheley. Illustrated with many line-cuts and 12 full page plates. 400 pp. Cloth. $2.50.

The average boy, to a very large degree, has lost much of the real appreciation of wide open spaces, of the wilderness, the desert and mighty mountain stretches. It is because of this alarming condition that the well conducted summer camp for boys renders so fundamental a contribution to his best unfoldment. It will make him a bigger, finer spirited, more capable man, able to live more abundantly, possessed with rich treasures of character that can not be cashed, that have nothing to do with making a living, but that have everything to do with helping to live sane and wholesome and vigorous—and for a boy masculine.

This book is offered to your boy to stir, if by chance it may, his inherent savagery into constructive action out of doors.

For years under Mr. Stearns' guidance and moulded by his high standards the youth have gone forth to higher schools of learning. The tendencies of the age, the temptations which modern life brings, its standards of moral and business life, the attitude of the home and society all bring to our youth a testing which challenges the attention of the older generation. Mr. Stearns champions the cause of our country's youth and no parent can afford to miss his wonderful discussion of facts and influences. It is a strong, virile volume, filled with anecdotes and stories of student life which grip the reader's attention. It is a wonderful treatment of the most important subject which we, as a people, face today.

THE WIRELESS PATROL AT CAMP BRADY. A story of how the boy campers, through their knowledge of wireless, "did their bit." Illustrated with colored frontispiece. 320 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

There are few boys who do not appreciate the tremendous value of the wireless but there are many who do not understand it. The campers at Camp Brady saw their opportunity of being of service to their country and although declaration of war brought orders to dismantle all the apparatus which they had been able to make in their amateur way, yet the knowledge which they had gained before the war served as a foundation so that they, although too young for actual enlistment, had a chance to "do their bit."

THE SECRET WIRELESS. A story of the Camp Brady Patrol. 320 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

This wireless patrol was officially called upon by the government to serve their country. From their lookouts along the water front, through watching, spying, listening in and even following, they contributed "their bit" in protecting Uncle Sam's boys as they started to go across.

THE HIDDEN AERIAL. The Spy Line on the Mountain. Colored illustration and jacket. 320 pp. $1.75.

A story of the boys' working reserve, in which they serve their country in more ways than one. This author is known for his stories on the wireless and the characters in this story will be familiar to many who have read his previous volumes. Every boy will be interested in learning of the wireless spy hunt.

THE YOUNG WIRELESS OPERATOR — AFLOAT. Or How Roy Mercer Won His Spurs in the Merchant Marine. Illustrated by original photographs. 320 pp. $1.75.

THE YOUNG WIRELESS OPERATOR — AS A FIRE PATROL. Being the story of a young wireless amateur who made good as a Fire Patrol. Colored jacket, frontispiece and original photographs. 352 pp. $1.75.

Interesting to young and old alike. The former will find interesting and thrilling experiences such as any two wide-awake young amateur wireless boys might have, while older readers will enjoy the beautiful description of the great out-of-doors world which Mr. Theiss loves so deeply, and which he knows how to paint so well.

THE YOUNG WIRELESS OPERATOR—WITH THE OYSTER FLEET. How Alec Cunningham Won His Way to the Top inthe Oyster Business. By Lewis E. Theiss. Illustrated colored jacket and cover. 328 pp. Cloth, $1.75.

It is safe to say there is hardly a single boy who is not interested in radio. Some are regular operators listening in every night to concerts, daily news items, base ball scores and other interesting things, of which the air is so full every minute of the day. Others will soon be having their radios working. To every boy this story will appeal for it shows how a member of the Camp Brady Wireless Patrol used his knowledge of the radio when he started in to learn the oyster business. How many know how oysters are planted, fed, gathered and marketed? It is a wonderful industry in itself.

THE YOUNG WIRELESS OPERATOR—WITH THE U. S. SECRET SERVICE. Or Winning His Way in the Secret Service. Illustrated and with colored jacket. 310 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

This is a wonderful story of Secret Service work in which every incident is based upon an actual occurrence. Readers will be interested in these true accounts of the smugglers and other offenders against the government. Every boy will long remember the account of the pursuit of the rum runners in storm and darkness through the inky waters of New York Harbor. Best of all, the boys will not forget how this boy through his qualities of observation and deduction which he had acquired as a scout in the woods and through his connection with the Radio Club, achieved success and a permanent place in his government's Secret Service work, in spite of a big handicap.

THE WIRELESS OPERATOR—WITH THE U. S. COAST GUARD. New. Illustrated with colored jacket and black and white illustrations. 320 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

This is a remarkable picture of the service performed by the patrols along our Coast: of the wonderful services rendered for the protection of life as well as the enforcement of our laws and the author vouches for the accuracy of every incident. How the U. S. Coast Guard "Iroquois" engaged in struggles with storms and derelicts; how she saved vessels on the sands and far out in the tempest-torn ocean, and finally how Henry Harper, the young wireless operator, proved his physical bravery as well as his mental worth in volunteering to help work a stricken freighter to port, supply incident after incident that will keep the young reader's interest from cover to cover.

THE FLUME IN THE MOUNTAINS. The Story of the Building of a Great Power Plant. Illustrated with colored jacket and black and white illustrations. 320 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

It is the purpose of this story to call attention to the romance of electricity and to suggest the part it is destined to play in our national life. The author spent many days in the power plant, living with the men, and observing every phase of the work. He has endeavored to produce a true picture of the work—true both in fact and spirit. The descriptions of the regions are accurate. Practically all the incidents used are based upon actual happenings either in that or similar engineering construction jobs.

THE ORCUTT GIRLS. Or, One Term at the Academy. Illustrated. 316 pp. Cloth. $1.75.

An old-fashioned academy in New England and its life have suggested the chief scenes, and many older readers will enjoy being reminded of early experiences, while the boys and girls will be interested in such pictures of the education and younger life of their fathers and mothers. It is by no means a cause for gratitude that the old-fashioned New England academy has so largely disappeared.

The central figure in this story is a dreamy, studious, imaginative young woman with a thirst for learning. Her struggles against odds of poverty and opportunity are well described, and the youthful reader who breathlessly follows Sue's career puts the story aside with the comforting assurance that it all came out right in the end, and that Sue Orcutt deserved her lover and her fortune.

Mary Hazelton Wade

TEN LITTLE INDIANS. Stories of how Indian children lived and played. Ten illustrations. 247 pp. Cloth. $1.50.

It may not be generally known that the red men possessed a large body of literature even though it existed in oral form, but as a matter of fact very many tales have been handed down from one generation to another. It has been the author's aim to present a number of these, particularly those which are similar to our fairy tales, in such a manner as to interest young readers, and at the same time to give an instructive lesson in Indian life and character. There can be no doubt that any boy or girl who has read the books of this series has a far better idea of the actual nature and history of the red man than before.

Rev. A. H. McKinney

A TOPNOTCH TEACHER. 256 pp. Cloth. $1.50.

A man is more than a machine however large and effective that machine may be. A man's personality is greater than his methods. In presenting truth to others, what the teacher is, is of far more importance than his method of presentation. This does not mean that methods are not necessary but that personality overshadows them. A truly great personality may be trusted to find the proper method. There are helpful books on methods without number. This handbook is not one of them; it deals with what the teacher is. It is intended, primarily, for teachers in the church school, but it may be studied with profit by all teachers. It is a book to be read and then studied chapter by chapter with a view to self-improvement. The teacher who thinks himself to be below par in certain requirements for teaching will find suggestions for the correctives in this manual. A good teacher will discover in it much that will inspire him to more effective effort. A poor teacher ought to become a much better teacher after studying its pages.

Winston Books and Bibles are found wherever books are sold in all parts of the world

1884 The John C. Winston Company had its origin in the year 1884, in the second story front room of a typical old Philadelphia dwelling house at 1009 Arch Street, directly opposite to where now stands the prominent Winston Building covering 135,000 square feet of floor space.

For the first few years the publication and sale of one book engrossed the attention of the new publisher. This book proved very successful, and other equally fortunate publications followed which very quickly gave the firm a creditable reputation in the publishing world.

1900 In this year the business was incorporated, and about the same time the Company entered the field of Bible publication by seizing a favorable opportunity to purchase the entire stock, plant, and good-will of the "International" Series of Bibles—the largest line of Self-Pronouncing Bibles in the world.

1904 The business continued to grow so rapidly that in 1904 the Winston Building, which occupies nearly half an acre of ground in the heart of the city, was erected to meet the special requirements of the publishing business. The building and business represent an investment of over $1,500,000. Every facility for the rapid handling of the business of the Company has been incorporated, including not only the latest but also much specially built machinery.

1905 Scarcely a year had elapsed after the occupation of the new building, when another large addition was acquired by the purchase of the publishing business of Messrs. Henry T. Coates & Company, successors to Porter & Coates, and a notable pedigree of publishers. This acquisition included a large line of Standard Books, Juvenile Books and other meritorious publications, which have been augmented from year to year by the issue of many new volumes.

1914 The John C. Winston Company, who some years ago erected an eight-story building with a frontage on Arch Street of 100 feet and a depth of 150 feet, is now building an inclosed bridge to span the street in the rear, connecting them with the Harrison Building, thus securing six additional floors.—The Publishers' Weekly, July, 1914.

1918 The John C. Winston Company will enter the school-book field on the first of January. The Winston Company, which in thirty years' experience has acquired a long list of publications, among which are many notable titles, has entered the educational field with a sincere effort to make a distinct contribution to text-book literature. —The Progressive Teacher.

1926 The John C. Winston Company is now a factor in every market where books and Bibles are sold. Its text-books are now in use in every state in the Union. The whole United States, Canada, Great Britain and Australia are its principal territory, while to Europe, Africa, India, China, Japan, Mexico, South America and our Island Possessions — wherever the English language is spoken throughout the world—its publications find their way.

THE MEMOIRS OF WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN

BY HIMSELF AND HIS WIFE
MARY BAIRD BRYAN

Mr. Bryan began his autobiography and in his will directed that his wife should complete the work.

MUCH HERETOFORE UNWRITTEN HISTORY

It was not possible to give to the world during Mr. Bryan's life the real facts concerning many of his activities, but in justice to her husband, Mrs. Bryan feels that the time has now come when the truth should be told. Starting with a masterly analysis of Mr. Bryan's character, she lifts the curtain on certain events that aroused the interest of two continents in the days when history was being made. In the preparation of the work Mrs. Bryan was guided by her diary, a diary of keen discernment and wit, supported by Mr. Bryan's private correspondence and official documents. There is an appendix to the work containing Mr. Bryan's outstanding addresses and his undelivered speech on the Dayton trial.

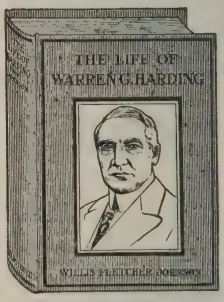
THE LIFE OF WARREN G. HARDING



This book tells the whole story from the simple life of the farm to the glamor and power of the White House with a completeness of detail and anecdote that makes it read like a romance. An inspiration to young and old. President Harding's ideals and processes of thought were those of the average American. He was born on the farm. He became a printer and went to the village of Marion, Ohio, to work in the village newspaper office. In the course of time he bought the newspaper. As Marion grew to a small city, the weekly grew to a daily. Mr. Harding was elected to the Ohio Legislature, to the United States Senate, then to the Presidency of the United States. That this sort of thing can be done and does happen in the United States distinguishes it from all great nations of the world. It justifies the boast of which little has been heard in recent years—that every boy born in America has a chance to become President. Cloth. 288 pages. Illustrated. Price .....Net $1.75

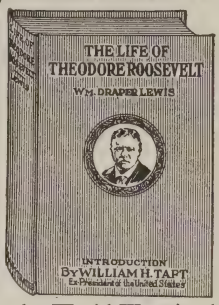
THE LIFE OF THEODORE ROOSEVELT with an introduction by William Howard Taft, Ex-President of the United States.



This book, written by one who was associated with him for many years, tells the whole thrilling story of his wonderfull versatile, life of his boyhood and early life, of how he became a leader of the New York Assembly at twenty-four, a candidate for Mayor of New York at twenty-eight, Civil Service Commissioner at thirty-one, Police Commissioner of New York at thirty-seven, Assistant Secretary of the Navy at thirty-nine, and Army Colonel at forty, Governor of New York at forty-one, Vice-President at forty-two, and President of the United States at forty-three, the youngest man who ever filled that office. It tells of how he hunted big game in the United States, in Africa and in South America. It tells of how he organized the Rough Riders, and LED THE CHARGE OF SAN JUAN HILL. It tells of how he settled the Great Coal Strike, of how he made the Panama Canal possible, of how, during the World War, in the greatest crisis in our country's history, he has held up the Torch of Americanism as did no other man. The book contains 500 octavo pages, with over 50 illustrations, printed from large type, on high grade paper, and richly and durably bound. Price.....Net $2.00

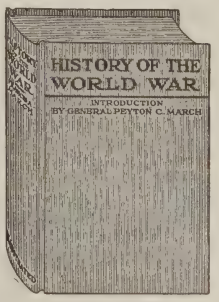
HISTORY OF THE WORLD WAR—PEACE EDITION



A complete and authentic narrative, illustrated with official war pictures of the American, Canadian, British, French and Italian Governments. Including the Treaty of Peace and League of Nations Covenant.

In the foreword of this book the Author says: "Two ideals have been before us in the preparation of this necessary work. These are simplicity and thoroughness. It is of no avail to describe the greatest of human events if the description is so confused that the reader loses interest. Thoroughness is an historical essential beyond price. So it is that official documents prepared in many instances upon the field of battle and others taken from the files of the governments at war, are the basis of this work. Maps and photographs of unusual clearness and high authenticity illuminate the text. All that have gone into war making, into the regeneration of the world, are herein set forth with historical particularity. The book comprises 800 octavo pages (size 6⅞ x 9½ inches), over 200 illustrations, including portraits, maps, etc. Handsomely Bound in Cloth with Title Stamped on Side and back in Gold. Price.....Net $3.50

Pennypacker, Samuel W., former Governor of Pennsylvania

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF A PENNSYLVANIAN UNALTERED UNEXPURGATED UNEDITED

Probably no writer dealing with public affairs and public men, since the publication of the famous "Pepys' Diary" has exercised so much freedom and intimate knowledge in commenting upon men and events. THE HANDY BOOK WITH THE BIG MAPS
All the Peace Maps and New Boundaries

Winston's New and Complete ATLAS OF THE WORLD

WITH LATEST CENSUS

With New Maps of Europe; of Canada and its Provinces; of the United States, its Forty-eight States, its Territories and Insular Possessions and Maps of the Whole World with Boundaries as Established by the Treaties of Peace following the World War :: :: :: :: ::

THE WORLD RE-MAPPED

When the Treaties of Peace were signed following the World War, a new world figuratively was created as far as an Atlas is concerned. Marked changes have been made in three continents—in the Islands of the Pacific, millions of square miles of territory have changed hands; new nations have been born; boundary lines have been redrawn, and even in our own country, names of towns have also been changed. It will, therefore, be seen that any Atlas previously published is practically obsolete and that a new Atlas containing changes in the maps of every portion of the globe is absolutely necessary.

This New Atlas, the Handy Book with the Big Maps, shows Every Country of the World with Boundaries as Established by the Provisions of the Treaties of Peace following the World War :: ::

With New Maps of France, Africa, Poland, Czecho-Slovakia, and all other countries affected by the War, as well as complete maps of our own country.

The maps embody the very latest idea in map-making. Their accuracy is fully established by the fact that they were engraved under the personal supervision of L. L. POATES, whose reputation as cartographer is known to educators the world over and whose services are sought by leading technical institutions and societies and by the Government in the making of maps in which clear definition and accuracy of detail are essential.

The Last Word in Map Making

Complete work comprises 224 pages, 192 pages of which are maps printed in five and six colors. It is printed on sturdy super-calendered paper and bound in the following styles:

Cloth, ink stamping.....$2.50
Flexible French Morocco, round corners, red under gold edges.... 4.50

FEATURES THAT MAKE THIS ATLAS INDISPENSABLE IN HOME, SCHOOL AND OFFICE

192 Pages of Maps are comprised in this Atlas. Besides new maps of the nations of Europe and other countries of the world, it contains a map of Canada, separate maps of the Provinces, map of the United States, separate maps of each state, territory and insular possession.

The Maps are Printed in Five and Six Colors of Ink instead of three colors—yellow, red and blue—as ordinarily employed.

The Locations of Towns, Rivers, Mountains and Boundaries are clearly Defined instead of the confused form of other Atlases.

Railroads are represented by a thin line of Red Ink, thereby clearly defining them. In other Atlases, railroads are printed in black ink which makes it difficult to distinguish them from river and boundary lines.

Mountain Ranges shown in Brown Ink, making it easier to distinguish the towns than if printed in black ink.

The Maps are 8½ x 10¾ inches in size.

The handy size of the volume fits it for a bookcase and the library table; it can be carried in a grip which opens a wide use for an Atlas for business men and travelers. The Atlas closed measures only 7 x 9½ inches. A full size map, such as is found in an Atlas that measures twice the size, is presented in the open book which measures 14 x 9½ inches.

A Gazetteer of the countries, of leading cities of the world, with their locations on the maps.

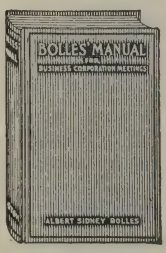
PARLIAMENTARY MANUAL FOR BUSINESS CORPORATION MEETINGS

Founded on the judicial interpretation of the rules of parliamentary law, applicable to all the states of the Union and to Canada.



This work covers a field not within the scope of any other parliamentary manual. It contains a full legal exposition of all matters of parliamentary practice by all the courts of last resort in the United States and Canada, as well as all the decisions of the courts of Great Britain deemed applicable to the subject. In the ordinary parliamentary manual, very little attention is given to the time and place of the meetings of associations, yet these matters have been the subject of much judicial inquiry and decision. What meetings, if any, can a business corporation hold outside the state of its incorporation is a live question, asked constantly, but to which no answer can be found in parliamentary manuals. The qualifications and duties of inspectors of elections are of growing complexity and importance. Likewise, the mode of holding meetings, the selection and duties of the chairman, the rule of the majority, the right of discussion at meetings, the rights of absentees, and how their absence affects the legality of a meeting's proceedings. Who can vote, is another question with many applications, to trustees, executors, option holders, corporations, pledgors and pledgees of stock, etc. There is a chapter also on voting, the rights of corporations to vote, and all the judicial decisions relating to cumulative voting. Voting agreements have been the subject of frequent judicial inquiry. The courts have greatly modified their earlier views, and the present state of the law is here fully set forth. Beside these matters, many others, pertaining to elections, by-laws, remedies for impending improper action, or for acts unlawfully done, keeping of the minutes, etc., render this a needful book to every business corporation. 16mo. 518 pages.

THE COMPLETE BOOK of ETIQUETTE

By HALLIE ERMINIE RIVES

MORE COMPLETE MORE COMPREHENSIVE MORE AUTHORITATIVE

A FIRST AND FINAL AUTHORITY

The author, Hallie Erminie Rives, brings to this work a rare equipment. In addition to the social opportunities that come with fortunate birth and wide friendships, she has known intimately the social world of Washington and the official society of half a dozen of the greater Capitals of Europe, and the skill and certainty as a writer which have given her novels such fame have enabled her to clothe her work in a style that sets The Complete Book of Etiquette in a class by itself. Following are some of the "best sellers" which have been written by this distinguished author: "Hearts Courageous," "Satan Sanderson," "The Castaways," "The Kingdom of Slender Swords," "The Valiants of Virginia," and "The Long Lane's Turning." Hallie Erminie Rives has a large following as is evidenced by the combined sale of her books which has run into several million copies. Few authors have ever had six "best sellers." This shows literary genius.

SOCIAL FORMS FOR ALL AGES AND OCCASIONS

The Complete Book of Etiquette may be distinguished from other books of a like nature by its angle of approach. The scope of the book includes the entire lifetime of the individual whether it be passed in the simpler activities of the country or in the more exacting complexities of the great city. Its advice and rulings may safely be followed in hamlet or camp, village or metropolis. Nowhere is a custom, long banal and out-of-date, gravely cited as correct. There is no other book on the subject that is as complete. This book contains everything that is contained in any other book on the subject.

INCLUDES MANY NEW SUBJECTS

Many subjects will be found treated of in The Complete Book of Etiquette to which other compendiums of social behavior give scant attention, if any. Among these might be cited, The Business Woman as an Executive; The Independent Business Woman; The "Teen-Age" Boy or Girl; Life in a Hotel; Maid Service for the Business Couple; Jewish and Catholic Wedding Customs; and a host of others. The vast increase in travel abroad since the Great War justifies the space devoted to foreign etiquette and to official entertaining in foreign capitals.

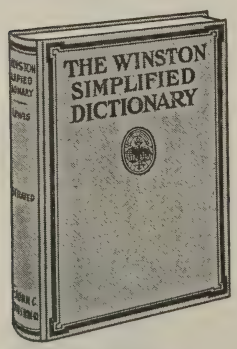
CLEAR AND EASILY UNDERSTOOD DEFINITIONS

Other dictionaries of like purpose have been made by condensing larger works. This plan resulted in definitions which are harder to understand than those of a larger dictionary. For example, you find that contagion is "transmission of disease," but fail to get the idea unless you know the meaning of transmission. If you look at the word "contagious," you find that it is "communicable or spreading by contagion." If you are industrious enough to look up transmission, you find that it is "the act of transmitting; state of being transmitted." You may look below to the verb transmit and find the key to this problem; or you may satisfy yourself with a guess long before you have run the definition down by repeated references. THE WINSTON SIMPLIFIED DICTIONARY makes every entry clear, and explains every word in such simple language that only a single reference will be needed. Even in closely related words like the noun "transmission," and the verb "transmit," each definition is complete in itself.



School Edition

UNLIKE ANY OTHER DICTIONARY

An extraordinary amount of the most careful and original work has been given to this book by experienced scholars and experts. New kinds of material have been introduced; new methods of clarifying meanings discovered; and the entire book harmonized. Careful judgment has been exercised on every question of method and form, while the simplicity and adequacy of all scientific statements have been carefully verified. THE WINSTON SIMPLIFIED DICTIONARY represents Careful Scholarship and Wide Experience, such as has not been given to any dictionary of like purpose previously published.

A LARGE AND CAREFULLY SELECTED VOCABULARY—LISTS OVER FORTY THOUSAND WORDS

Each set out in bold type to catch the untrained eye, and each defined in terms easy to understand. It will be found useful in home and office and an aid to teachers in the elementary and high schools of the country, of particular value in vocational and continuation schools, and in Americanization classes, where older men and women are endeavoring to get a command of the language to fit them for intelligent citizenship.

"It is a public benefaction to get out such a book"

BLACK FACE TYPE
Dictionaries are so flexible and so durable that they can be rolled without injury to binding or sewing.

SELF-PRONOUNCING

The Winston Universal Black Face Type Dictionaries are not called "Webster's" because no dictionary can claim to be modern or useful at the present time which has not been so much changed since the death of Webster in the year 1843 as to render the use of his name as the author of it a misnomer.

As the Language changes and grows Dictionaries must change and grow with it. Dictionaries made a few years ago, even with frequent revision, fail to meet the needs of today. It requires rebuilding to give the proper balance between the words and definitions in use today and those of yesterday.

The Winston Universal Black Face Type Dictionaries are based upon the foundation laid by NOAH WEBSTER and other lexicographers, modernized by W. J. PELO, A.M. (Harvard.)

In clearness of type and the ease with which the eye finds the word; in simplicity and accuracy of definition; in fullness of contents and logical arrangement Winston Universal Black Face Type will be found to excel other dictionaries.

Among the Noteworthy Features are the following:

Words defined are printed in bold-face type with definitions in clear, easily read type.

Each word is divided into syllables to show the proper syllabication of words.

The capitalization of words. All proper words begin with capital letters, common words with small letters.

Compound words have a bold-face hyphen.

Synonyms and antonyms are given in the body of the dictionary following the definitions of the words.

The Pronunciation of words is shown by a clear and properly accented system of phonetic spelling with key to pronunciation at the bottom of each page.

The parts of speech are given.

All definitions are given in simple language that is easily understood.

Each word and its derivation are defined separately instead of the derivatives being crowded in with the definitions; an expedient which saves space but lacks utility.

Issued in six different forms each containing the largest possible type in a book of the size, and planned to meet the requirements of every variety of service.

William Nyce and Hubert Bunyea

Brief prayers for every day in the year collected from many sources and arranged. Additional forms for national feast days, so that the monotony of repetition of a single form of grace each day is happily avoided. The book is printed from handsome black type, is attractive in appearance, and will appeal to all persons who customarily say grace before meals, as well as to those who do not make a practice of saying grace, and it is hoped to many who have not been accustomed to this beautiful and simple form of devotion. 16 mo. in size.

TALES FROM SHAKESPEARE

By CHARLES AND MARY LAMB

PHOTOGRAVURE GIFT EDITION

These famous tales, to the number of twenty, were prepared for the purpose of putting into attractive prose the stories of Shakespeare's plays. They were constructed by weaving into the narrative the very words of Shakespeare wherever it seemed possible to bring them in—a method which the gifted brother and sister pursued with such success that this volume has taken a sure place in classical literature. There is no introduction to the study of Shakespeare at once so winning and so helpful as that supplied by these prose stories.

This edition of Tales from Shakespeare is printed on high-grade paper, and is illustrated with fifteen Photogravure plates. The book is richly bound in the finest quality of book cloth. It has gilt tops, headband and silk marker, with artistic cover design stamped in gold, and is boxed. Complete in One Volume. Price.....Net $2.50

AMERICA'S GIFT TO THE WORLD

THE "LOSEY" SHAKESPEARE

In commemoration of the Sesqui-Centennial of the Founding of our Republic, which will be celebrated this year, we present to the booklovers of the world this new edition of Shakespeare, complete in one volume, as an example of present-day scholarly and mechanical achievement.

Shakespeare

A TRIUMPH OF THE GRAPHIC ARTS

The Complete Dramatic and Poetic Works of WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE

With Biography and an Introduction to Each Play

By FREDERICK D. LOSEY, A.M., (Harvard)
Shakespearean Scholar and Lecturer
Formerly Professor of Rhetoric and Public Speaking, Syracuse University

It would be useless to hope, as it would be arrogant to assume, that any tribute of praise or thanksgiving can glorify with any further glory the name of Shakespeare. Of poetry, pure and simple, imaginative and sublime, there is no master who has left us more. Of humor there is no master who has left us as much of so high a quality and so deep an insight. Of women as of men, there is no poet who has created so many so surely endowed with everlasting life. It is the crowning glory of mankind that William Shakespeare should ever have been born.

"LOSEY" SELF-INTERPRETING EDITION

This edition has been prepared in the belief that world events of the past ten years have rendered almost imperative a re-valuation of his plays. The problems we are facing today are essentially the same that Shakespeare saw and incorporated in the structure of his plays—problems of peace and war, of national sovereignty and ethics, of education and authority, of the revolt of youth. In many instances, new light has been thrown on the plays, sometimes to the point of changing their entire significance by the new emphasis which new conditions have thrown on old problems.

SCHOLARSHIP

The tens of thousands of people who have heard Losey's interpretation of Shakespeare's plays will need no further evidence of his pre-eminent qualifications as editor of the world's greatest drama.

In his introduction to Shakespeare's Plays and Poems in this volume, Professor Losey has condensed as thorough a knowledge of the subject as is possessed by any living man. He makes Shakespeare an interpreter of life today and holds the mirror of the world's greatest mind up to our human follies, foibles and problems. In this reflection we see how little life has changed from the days of Queen Elizabeth to those of Calvin Coolidge.

MECHANICAL EXCELLENCE
Black Face Type

In the editions of Shakespeare in one volume advertised in recent years, it is conspicuous that no mention is ever made of type—the unreadable type from which these books are printed. This defect is obviated in the Losey Shakespeare, which is printed from larger type—much larger type—clearer and more easily read Black Face Type than any other edition published.

The type and the type page were selected by typographical experts and the type was molded and set in the Winston plant which, through its wide experience in the making of Bibles, has achieved a reputation in the manufacture of clear, easily read editions of thin paper books that extends all over the world.

FALSTAFF EDITION—ILLUSTRATED

Edited by GEORGE LONG DUYCKINCK, with a full and comprehensive Life of Shakespeare by J. PAYNE COLLIER, A.M. Illustrated with 32 portraits of famous actors and actresses whose names are linked with Shakespearian productions

This set of Shakespeare combines neatness with serviceability. The books are small, but stoutly as well as handsomely bound, and the type is clear and easily read, printed on good stout paper. There is nothing of the toy about this little library of the immortal Shakespeare. The books are made to be handled and read, not to be put on the shelf for show purposes.

Notes are avoided as far as possible, but preceding each play is an explanatory introduction, and in addition there is a glossary which clarifies unusual words. It will be remembered that Shakespeare had a greater vocabulary than any other man; nearly three times as extensive as that of the man in the street.

As well as the plays and poems of Shakespeare, there is an entertaining history of the English stage and drama to the time of the master playwright; a backward glance revealing simplicity of stage settings without any of the mechanical facilities that mean so much to the modern stage manager. Also there is a vivid word-picture of the life of Shakespeare himself.

TREASURE ISLAND AND KIDNAPPED

By ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

COMPLETE IN ONE VOLUME

These two great tales by Robert Louis Stevenson are his masterpieces of adventure. Of all his works these are by far the most popular and have, therefore, been included in one volume that will be eagerly read.

TREASURE ISLAND Probably no book ever written by Stevenson has had the widespread popularity of "TREASURE ISLAND." It is a thrilling tale of pirates, written in the finest English and a story that you cannot leave until you finish. This story has maintained its popularity and proved itself an inspiration and a delight to hundreds of thousands of boys and girls. One writer declares it is "read with delight by boys and girls of sixteen to sixty."

KIDNAPPED In his own opinion this was Stevenson's best work; and it is generally regarded as one of his finest performances in romantic story-telling. It tells of the adventures of Robert Balfour; how he was kidnapped and castaway; his sufferings on a desert isle; his journey in the wild highlands; his fight in the roundhouse of the brig; and many other happenings that grip the attention of the reader.

EIGHT COLORED ILLUSTRATIONS

This volume is printed on extra quality, smooth finish paper from larger, clearer type than any edition of Stevenson published. The volume comprises 652 pages and eight (8) colored plates and twenty (20) black and white illustrations drawn by Frank Godwin, one of America's prominent artists. Each story contains a glossary of words and phrases, as well as footnotes, that explain little used terms. It is one of the largest books published at the price, and in point of paper, type, illustrations and binding it is one of the finest books ever published at the price. The cover is beautifully stamped in gold, with an attractive colored inlay. Octavo. Extra Cloth. 652 pages. Illustrated. PRICE.....Net $2.00

These books have been read by librarians, educators, booksellers, in fact, by all types of persons qualified to judge juvenile books of this character and have been pronounced by them in every instance as the best stories of their type written.

FOR CHILDREN BETWEEN THE AGES OF SIX AND TEN

These stories appeal to children between the ages of six and ten, which represents an important period in the average child's life, and for which comparatively little has been written. It is at this age that they begin doing their own reading and a better selection of books for this purpose could not be found. They also make ideal stories to be read to the still younger children at the bedtime hour.

ATTRACTIVELY AND SUBSTANTIALLY MADE

We have made every effort possible to make these books attractive by printing from large readable type, using suitable illustrations made especially for this series by Frederick Richardson, one of America's foremost illustrators, and binding them in durable form. We also provide an allover colored jacket by Frederick Richardson.

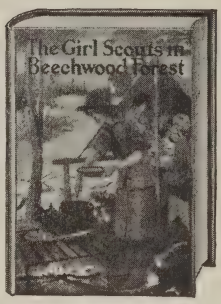
The "Girl Scouts" Series

By MARGARET VANDERCOOK



The Girl Scout movement is today playing an important part in the girl-life of our land. Its noble purposes make an exceedingly strong appeal to the red-blooded true American girl and they are joining the organization by the thousands. The unusual interest in the movement makes this new series of Girls' Books exceptionally timely.

While Margaret Vandercook, author of these books, is widely known both in this country and abroad for her short stories, poems, and other articles contributed to magazines and more recently as a novelist, her enviable reputation rests chiefly on her popularity as a writer of Girls' Books. Her ability has been well demonstrated in other series of Girls' Books that we publish, which because of their popularity have reached a wide sale. Her host of friends will be pleased to know of this new effort on her part and their interest without doubt will be materially noticed by the demand for these books, as a result of the publicity that we propose giving to this new series. The books are handsomely bound in durable cloth, illustrated and have an attractive cover design.

1 The genealogy of Jesus Christ: 18 Mary's miraculous conception; Jesus is born: 21, 23 his names.

THE book of the generation of Jē'sus Christ, the son of Dā'vid, the son of ā'bra-hăm.
2 ā'bra-hăm begat I'saac; and I'saac begat Jā'cob; and Jā'cob begat Jū'das and his brethren;
3 And Jū'das begat Phā'rēs and Zā'ra of Thā'mär; and Phā'rēs begat ĕs'rom; and ĕs'rom begat ā'răm;
4 And ā'răm begat ă-mĭn'a-dăb; and ă-mĭn'a-dăb begat Nā'as-son; and Nā'as-son begat Săl'mon;
5 And Săl'mon begat Bŏ'ŏz of Rā'chăb; and Bŏ'ŏz begat ō'bed of Ruth; and ō'bed begat Jĕs'se;
6 And Jĕs'se begat Dā'vid the king; and Dā'vid the king begat Sŏl'o-mon was on this wise: When as his mother Mā'rў was espoused to Jō'seph, before they came together, she was found with child of the Hō'lў Ghŏst.

19 Then Jō'seph her husband, being a just man, and not willing to make her a publick example, was minded to put her away privily.
20 But while he thought on these things, behold, the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a dream, saying, Jō'seph, thou son of Dā'vid, fear not to take unto thee Mā'rў thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Hō'lў Ghŏst.
21 And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name JĒ'SUS: for he shall save his people from their sins.
22 Now all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken

Solomon's adversaries. I K

Mō'ab, in the hill that is before Je-ru'sa-lĕm: and for Mō'lech, the abomination of the children of Am'mon.

8 And likewise did he for all his strange wives, which burnt incense, and sacrificed unto their gods.

9 And the LORD was angry with Sŏl'o-mon, because his heart was turned from the LORD God of Is'ra-el, which had appeared unto him twice,

10 And had commanded him concerning this thing, that he should not go after other gods: but he kept not that which the LORD commanded.

11 Wherefore the LORD said unto Sŏl'o-mon, Forasmuch as this is done of thee, and thou hast not kept my covenant and my statutes, which I have commanded thee, I will surely rend the kingdom from thee, and will give it to thy servant.

25 And he was an adversary to Is'ra-el all the days of Sŏl'o-mon, beside the mischief that Hā'dăd did: and he abhorred Is'ra-el, and reigned over Sȳr'i-a.

26 And Jĕr-o-bō'am the son of Nē'băt, an Ĕph'rath-īte of Zĕr'e-da, Sŏl'o-mon's servant, (whose mother's name was Ze-ru'ah, a widow woman,) even he lifted up his hand against the king.

27 And this was the cause that he lifted up his hand against the king: Sŏl'o-mon built Mĭl'lo, and repaired the breaches of the city of Dā'vid his father.

28 And the man Jĕr-o-bō'am was a mighty man of valour: and Sŏl'o-mon seeing the young man that he was industrious, he made him ruler over all the charge of the house of Jō'seph.

29 And it came to pass at that time, when Jĕr-o-bō'am went out of Je-ru'sa-

6 CHAPTER 6

1 Sermon on the mount continued. 24 Serving God and mammon. 25 Exhortation to care little for worldly things. 33 Seeking the kingdom of God.

TAKE heed that ye do not your alms before men, to be seen of them: otherwise ye have no reward of your Father which is in heaven.

2 Therefore when thou doest thine alms, do not sound a trumpet before thee, as the hypocrites do in the synagogues and in the streets, that they may have glory of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.

3 But when thou doest alms, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth:

4 That thine alms may be in secret: and thy Father which seeth in secret himself shall reward thee openly.

5 ¶ And when thou prayest, thou shalt not be as the hypocrites are: for they love to pray standing in the synagogues and in the corners of the streets, that they may be seen of men. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.

6 But thou, when thou prayest, enter into thy closet, and when thou hast shut thy door, pray to thy Father which is in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly.

7 But when ye pray, use not vain repetitions, as the heathen do: for they think that they shall be heard for their much speaking.

8 Be not ye therefore like unto them: for your Father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him.

9 After this manner therefore pray ye: Our Father which art in heaven, Hallowed be thy name.

10 Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven.

11 Give us this day our daily bread.

12 And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors.

13 And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever. A-mĕn'.

14 For if ye forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgive you:

15 But if ye forgive not men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive your trespasses.

16 ¶ Moreover when ye fast, be not, as the hypocrites, of a sad countenance: for they disfigure their faces, that they may appear unto men to fast. Verily I say unto you, They have their reward.

17 But thou, when thou fastest, anoint thine head, and wash thy face;

18 That thou appear not unto men to fast, but unto thy Father which is in secret: and thy Father, which seeth in secret, shall reward thee openly.

19 ¶ Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and rust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal:

20 But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through nor steal:

21 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

22 The light of the body is the eye: if therefore thine eye be single, thy whole body shall be full of light.

23 But if thine eye be evil, thy whole body shall be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness!

24 ¶ No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.

25 Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?

26 Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?

27 Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?

28 And why take ye thought for raiment? Consider the lilies of LORD'S: and he is the governor among the nations.

29 All they that be fat upon earth shall eat and worship: all they that go down to the dust shall bow before him: and none can keep alive his own soul.

30 A seed shall serve him; it shall be accounted to the LORD for a generation.

31 They shall come, and shall declare his righteousness unto a people that shall be born, that he hath done this.

501 PSALM 23

David's confidence in the grace of God.

A Psalm of David.

THE LORD is my shepherd; I shall not want.

2 He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: he leadeth me beside the still waters.

3 He restoreth my soul: he leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.

4 Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

5 Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.

6 Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the LORD for ever.

502 PSALM 24

The citizens of God's spiritual kingdom.

A Psalm of David.

THE earth is the LORD'S, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein.

2 For he hath founded it upon the seas, and established it upon the floods.

3 Who shall ascend into the hill of the LORD? or who shall stand in his holy place?

4 He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully.

5 He shall receive the blessing from the LORD, and righteousness from the God of his salvation.

6 This is the generation of them that seek him, that seek thy face, O Jā'cob. Sē'lah.

7 Lift up your heads, O ye gates; and be ye lift up, ye everlasting doors; and the King of glory shall come in.

8 Who is this King of glory? The LORD strong and mighty, the LORD mighty in battle.

9 Lift up your heads, O ye gates; even lift them up, ye everlasting doors; and the King of glory shall come in.

10 Who is this King of glory? The LORD of hosts, he is the King of glory. Sē'lah.

PSALM 25 503

1 David's trust in prayer. 7 Prayer for remission of sins.

A Psalm of David.

UNTO thee, O LORD, do I lift up my soul.

2 O my God, I trust in thee: let me not be ashamed, let not mine enemies triumph over me.

3 Yea, let none that wait on thee be ashamed: let them be ashamed which transgress without cause.

4 Shew me thy ways, O LORD; teach me thy paths.

5 Lead me in thy truth, and teach me: for thou art the God of my salvation; on thee do I wait all the day.

6 Remember, O LORD, thy tender mercies and thy lovingkindnesses; for they have been ever of old.

7 Remember not the sins of my youth, nor my transgressions: according to thy mercy remember thou me for thy goodness' sake, O LORD.

8 Good and upright is the LORD: therefore will he teach sinners in the way.

9 The meek will he guide in judgment: and the meek will he teach his way.

DESIGNED FOR THE HOME

For many years there has been an increasing interest in the Study of the Bible, due largely to the well organized efforts of all Christian denominations in practically every hamlet, village, and city of the land. A generation of Bible readers is constantly coming forward, which is the reason why the Bible easily outsells every other book.

THE HOME DEVOTIONAL BIBLE is prepared to meet the demand that has existed for many years for a Bible with large clear type that can be easily read, and yet of such size that the book can be handled with convenience. Heretofore it has been a matter of selecting between a comparatively small type Bible in an average size book, or a large type Bible in a book so big as to make it inconvenient to handle.

BEAUTIFULLY PRINTED AND BOUND

While THE HOME DEVOTIONAL BIBLE comprises about 1900 pages, it does not make a thick book, due to the extra quality of thin light-weight paper used in this work. In length and width it resembles the average Teacher's Bible, and is as easily handled as any other book in the home. From the standpoint of manufacture every detail has been given careful attention. This Bible is printed on extra quality of paper, while the colored plates are works of art. Care has been given to the selection of suitable paper for the marriage certificate and family record, and in securing durable and very attractive bindings. It represents a very high development in modern book making.

FULL CONTENTS

THE HOME DEVOTIONAL BIBLE contains the King James or Authorized Version of both the Old and New Testaments. It has the Self-Pronouncing Text, all the proper words being accented and divided into syllables for quick and easy pronunciation. This feature is of inestimable value to all Bible readers and students. A Series of Helps to the Study of the Bible, including Bible Answers to Forty Difficult Questions pertaining to Daily Living and Christian Life. Calendar for the Daily Reading of the Scriptures, whereby the Bible may be systematically read through in a year. Maps of Bible Lands Printed in Colors compiled from authoritative sources. A Superb Family Record. Thirty-two Beautiful Colored Illustrations by World-Famed Artists, depicting scenes and incidents of Bible History.

AMERICA'S CONTRIBUTION to the BIBLE READERS of the WORLD

Among the many firsts of which Philadelphia is justly proud, it takes special pride in having printed the first Bible in America in 1743. It, therefore, seems fitting that in this the Sesqui-Centennial year of our country's independence, we, as Philadelphia publishers and recognized as the largest American Bible publishers, should commemorate the event by giving to the world the finest and most usable edition of the book that has meant so much in our country's progress and in the progress of civilization.

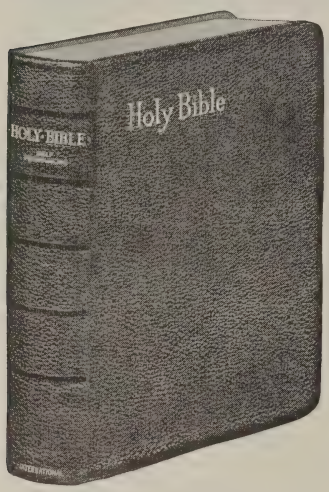
A HAND BIBLE, WITH THE LARGE, CLEAR, EASILY READ TYPE OF A PULPIT BIBLE



LIMP STYLE

"What beautiful type" is the expression that is heard when you open the Perfection Type Bible. It is a surprise to Bible readers because it reveals to them what they have long sought and never before found—larger, clearer, blacker face type in a smaller, thinner, lighter weight self-pronouncing Bible than has heretofore been published.

THE HIGHEST ACHIEVEMENT IN BIBLE-MAKING

While type is the first consideration in the making of this Bible and the first consideration of the Bible user in the selection of a Bible, other features have been incorporated in the Perfection Type Bible to make it more readable and more usable.

1 The text is Self-Pronouncing. All proper words throughout the Old and New Testaments are divided into syllables and accented to make pronunciation easy.

2 Names of the Books of the Bible on outside margins. This facilitates the finding of the Books of the Bible by merely flirting the corners of the book.

3 Chapters Numbered in Arabic and also Numbered Consecutively. The numbering of chapters in Arabic numerals is much preferred today to the old-fashioned form of printing the chapter heads in Roman numerals.

FOR PULPIT AND LECTERN, FOR SCHOOL READING DESK AND LODGE ALTAR. The small light weight Bible with its large type specially adapts the Perfection Type Bible to every use where a large, clear type is desirable. Also issued in styles specially fitted for every use.

FOR THE HOME, FOR AGED PERSONS OR THOSE WITH IMPAIRED EYESIGHT. The Perfection Type Bible is especially adapted for home devotional reading. This HOME EDITION contains additional features that make it especially desirable for home use, including Family Records of Births, Marriages, etc., a Marriage Certificate, a Presentation Plate and many colored illustrations. (For Description and Prices see page 89).

A TRIUMPH OF THE GRAPHIC ARTS

The selection of type and the size of the type page for the PERFECTION TYPE BIBLE was made after a careful study by leading typographical experts. Certain changes in type forms were suggested and the necessary special casting matrices were made to carry out these suggestions. The type was molded and set in the Winston plant, where the subsequent processes of manufacture, including the printing and binding, were also completed. Special paper of light weight and unusual opacity was made especially for the Bible and even special ink was manufactured and used to produce a sharp, clear, black impression on the page without the ink striking through.

BEAUTIFUL BINDINGS

The Bible is issued in the superior flexible bindings for which Winston "International" Bibles are well known, and also in other bindings to best fit the many purposes for which the Bible will be used.

GENESIS

CHAPTER 1

1 The creation of heaven and earth. 26 Man is made in the image of God.

IN the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.

2 And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters.

3 ¶ And God said, Let there be light: and there was light.

4 And God saw the light, that it was good: and God divided the light from the darkness.

5 And God called the light Day, and the darkness he called Night. And the evening and the morning were the first day.

6 ¶ And God said, Let there be a firmament in the midst of the waters, and let it divide the waters from the waters.

7 And God made the firmament, and divided the waters which were under the firmament from the waters which were above the firmament: and it was so.

8 And God called the firmament Heaven. And the evening and the morning were the second day.

9 ¶ And God said, Let the waters under the heaven be gathered together unto one place, and let the dry land appear: and it was so.

10 And God called the dry land Earth; and the gathering together of the waters called he Seas: and God saw that it was good.

11 And God said, Let the earth bring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit after his kind, whose seed is in itself, upon the earth: and it was so.

12 And the earth brought forth grass, and herb yielding seed after his kind, and the tree yielding fruit, whose seed was in itself, after his kind: and God saw that it was good.

13 And the evening and the morning were the third day.

14 ¶ And God said, Let there be lights in the firmament of the heaven to divide the day from the night; and let them be for signs, and for seasons, and for days, and years:

15 And let them be for lights in the firmament of the heaven to give light upon the earth: and it was so.

16 And God made two great lights; the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night: he made the stars also.

17 And God set them in the firmament of the heaven to give light upon the earth.

captains, and principal men of the city, at Fĕs'tus' commandment Paul was brought forth.

24 And Fĕs'tus said, King Ă-grĭp'pȧ, and all men which are here present with us, ye see this man, about whom all the multitude of the Jews have dealt with me, both at Jĕ-ru'sȧ-lĕm, and also here, crying that he ought [m]not to live any longer.

25 But when I found that [n]he had committed nothing worthy of death, and that he himself hath appealed to Au-gŭs'tus, I have determined to send him.

26 Of whom I have no certain thing to write unto my lord. Wherefore I have brought him forth before you, and specially before thee, O king Ă-grĭp'pȧ, that, after examination had, I might have somewhat to write.

27 For it seemeth to me unreasonable to send a prisoner, and not withal to signify the crimes laid against him.

THEN Ă-grĭp'pȧ said unto Paul, Thou art permitted to speak for thyself. Then Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for himself:

2 I think myself happy, king Ă-grĭp'pȧ, because I shall answer for myself this day before thee touching all the things whereof I am accused of the Jews:

3 Especially because I know thee to be [1a]expert in all customs and questions which are among the Jews: wherefore I beseech thee to hear me patiently.

4 My manner of life from my youth, which was at the first among mine own nation at Jĕ-ru'sȧ-lĕm, know all the Jews;

5 Which knew me from the beginning, if they would testify, that after [b]the most straitest sect of our religion I lived a Phăr'ĭ-see.

6 And now I stand and am judged for the hope of [c]the prom[2]se made of God unto our fathers:

7 Unto which promise [d]our twelve tribes, instantly serving God [2]day and night, [e]hope to come. For which hope's sake, king Ă-grĭp'pȧ, I am accused of the Jews.

8 Why should it be thought a thing incredible with you, that God should [f]raise the dead?

9 [g]I verily thought with myself, that I ought to do many things contrary to the name of Jē'sus of Năz'ă-rĕth.

12 [k]Whereupon as I went to Dă-măs'cus with authority and commission from the chief priests,

13 At midday, O king, I saw in the way a light from heaven, above the brightness of the sun, shining round about me and them which journeyed with me.

14 And when we were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voice speaking unto me, and saying in the Hē'brew tongue, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? it is hard for thee to kick against the pricks.

15 And I said, Who art thou, Lord? And he said, I am Jē'sus whom thou persecutest.

16 But rise, and stand upon thy feet: for I have appeared unto thee for this purpose, [l]to make thee a minister and a witness both of these things which thou hast seen, and of those things in the which I will appear unto thee;

17 Delivering thee from the people, and from the Gĕn'tiles, [m]unto whom now I send thee,

18 [n]To open their eyes, and [o]to turn them from darkness to light, and [p]from the power of Sā'tan unto God, [q]that they may receive forgiveness of sins, and [r]inheritance among them which are [s]sanctified by faith that is in me.

19 Whereupon, O king Ă-grĭp'pȧ, I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision:

20 But [t]shewed first unto them of Dă-măs'cus, and at Jĕ-ru'sȧ-lĕm, and throughout all the coasts of Jū-dæ'ȧ, and then to the Gĕn'tiles, that they should repent and turn to God, and do [u]works meet for repentance.

21 For these causes [v]the Jews caught me in the temple, and went about to kill me.

22 Having therefore obtained help of God, I continue unto this day, witnessing both to small and great, saying none other things than those [w]which the prophets and [x]Mō'ses did say should come:

23 [y]That Christ should suffer, and [z]that he should be the first that should rise from the dead, and [a]should shew light unto the people, and to the Gĕn'tiles.

24 And as he thus spake for himself, Fĕs'tus said with a loud voice, Paul, [b]thou art beside thyself; much learning doth make thee mad.

25 But he said, I am not mad, most noble Fĕs'tus; but speak forth the words of truth and soberness.

SELF-PRONOUNCING LOOSE-LEAF BIBLE

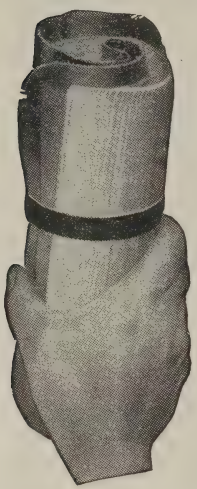
PROTECTED BY UNITED STATES AND CANADIAN PATENT RIGHTS

COMPRISING THE KING JAMES OR AUTHORIZED VERSION OF THE BIBLE IN LOOSE-LEAF FORM

AND

OVER 250 LOOSE-LEAF PAGES FOR PERSONAL NOTES THAT CAN BE INSERTED IN ANY NUMBER OF PAGES, BETWEEN ANY PAGES OF THE BIBLE

A PRACTICAL BIBLE FOR NOTES



Stronger than a regular bound Bible and more flexible, too, for the Loose-Leaf Bible can be rolled without injury to binding and without danger of loosening the pages

The granting of final patents by the United States Government on August 27, 1918, and on June 24, 1919, by the Canadian Government on this Invisible Loose-Leaf binder, solved the problem for a Bible in which pages containing notes can be inserted ANYWHERE in ANY NUMBER.

Years ago the wide margin Bible was made to meet this demand, but failed because it made too bulky a volume and gave too little writing space.

This was followed by the interleaved Bible with a page of writing paper between every other page, which was equally unsatisfactory.

The event of India Paper made possible an interleaved Bible with a page of writing paper between every page of the Bible, but even this thin paper made a thick, unhandy volume and added useless blank pages where they would never be used and only one page where several pages were wanted, and the blank pages being placed between every page of the Bible broke the continuity of the printed text of the Bible. All these disadvantages are overcome in the "International" Loose-Leaf Bible.

Looks exactly like a regular divinity circuit bound Bible. It has no outside metal parts to mar the desk or table. Neither has it any rings or springs to get out of order. The binding device is invisible

ELASTICITY

Add pages anywhere In any number

With the "International" Loose-Leaf Bible, pages containing your notes can be added in any number anywhere in the Bible. Included with the Bible are more than 250 pages of faintly ruled writing paper which can be used to write on the lines or without regard to the lines and can be inserted right with the passage in the Bible to which your notes refer.

LOOSE-LEAF ADVANTAGES

The writing pages can be separated from the volume, thereby making it more convenient to write upon than if bound with the volume. For those who use a typewriter, this system will also be found a great convenience.

These pages with your notes can be inserted right with the passage to which the notes refer and more than one leaf can be inserted. Many students add notes at the beginning of the books of the Bible and by the Loose-Leaf method, which provides elasticity, any number of pages can be inserted in such portions of the Bible. In fact, its flexibility fits it for any individual use.

THE SIMPLICITY OF THE MECHANISM GUARANTEES ITS PERFECT ACTION

It is only a matter of a few seconds to insert blank pages or written pages containing your notes in any number of pages—anywhere in the Bible.

The Bible can be opened anywhere and new pages added without any danger of the leaves scattering.

Every page is held as tight as the pages in a regular sewed book; in fact it is much stronger than a regular sewed book.

There are no unsightly outside metal parts to mar the desk or table. No rings or springs to get out of order.

FORM OF THE VOLUME NOT CHANGED BY ADDING PAGES

Pages in addition to those furnished with the Bible can also be supplied. These pages are punched ready for insertion and have red under gold edges, so as to conform with the edges of the pages of the Bible and with the blank pages furnished with the Bible. The binder expands automatically to include extra pages and this expansion does not change the form of the Bible as the binding device is invisible. Additional Writing Paper, in packages of 100 pages (50 sheets) with red under gold edges and punched ready for use are supplied at 50 cents per package.

ONLY ONE INCH THICK

The "International" Loose-Leaf Bible is printed from black face type on India Paper so thin that a thousand pages measure only five-eighths of an inch thick. The complete Loose-Leaf Bible including the more than 250 pages of writing paper make the complete volume only one inch thick. The volume measures 6 x 7-⅞ thick.

NAMES ON BIBLES

We have so many inquiries with reference to lettering Bibles that we call attention of the trade to the fact that we are prepared to fill all orders for lettering, stamping the names in pure gold.

In placing orders for lettering, state whether you want lettering on the outside or the inside front cover. Also whether you want the lettering in Roman or Old English types. When no choice is expressed we will put the name on the outside front cover and in Roman type.

The International Note Book

This book was prepared originally for pastors, but evangelists, teachers, and others have found it a most useful book for recording notes, sermons, essays, and Scriptural references of all kinds.

IN APPEARANCE the book looks like a Divinity Circuit Bible, and therefore does not make the carrying of sermons or notes as conspicuous as would any other form of book. It has no printed matter inside and has no lettering on the outside cover. Pastors can use the book to record their sermons, and will find it more satisfactory to lay the book open before them when delivering their sermons than the use of loose memorandum sheets, and by using the book for this purpose it also preserves their sermons and notes in substantial form.

HOW THE BOOK IS MADE. The book contains over 500 pages ruled with horizontal faint blue lines, thereby making it equally suitable to those who like to write on lines and those who prefer a page without lines.

BINDING. The book is bound in French Morocco, Divinity Circuit style, round corners, red under gold edges, and has silk marker.

ST. MATTHEW. Parable of the talents. [64]

thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord.

24 Then he which had received the one talent came and said, Lord, I knew thee that thou art an hard man, reaping where thou hast not sown, and gathering where thou hast not strawed:

25 And I was afraid, and went and hid thy talent in the earth: lo, there thou hast that is thine.

26 His lord answered and said unto him, Thou wicked and slothful servant, thou knewest that I reap where I sowed not, and gather where I have not strawed:

27 Thou oughtest therefore to have put my money to the exchangers, and then at my coming I should have received mine own with usury.

28 Take therefore the talent from him, and give it unto him which hath ten talents.

29 For unto every one that hath shall be given, and he shall have abundance: but from him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath.

30 And cast ye the unprofitable servant into outer darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

31 ¶ When the Son of man shall come in his glory, and all the holy angels with him, then shall he sit upon the throne of his glory:

32 And before him shall be gathered all nations: and he shall separate them one from another, as a shepherd divideth his sheep from the goats:

33 And he shall set the sheep on his right hand, but the goats on the left.

34 Then shall the King say unto them on his right hand, Come, ye blessed of my father, inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world:

35 For I was an hungered, and ye gave me meat: I was thirsty, and ye gave me drink: I was a stranger, and ye took me in:

36 Naked, and ye clothed me: I was sick, and ye visited me: I was in prison, and ye came unto me.

37 Then shall the righteous answer him,

All the New Testament story, its wonderful teachings and marvelous interest center around the living Words of Jesus. It is therefore of the greatest importance to have these beautiful life-giving Words to stand out in bold relief, and to give them the prominence which they, above all other passages of the Bible, demand. These words printed in red, catch the eye, and carry the words of Jesus to the heart of every reader.

THE WOMANS PRESS

600 Lexington Ave. New York

Autumn, 1926

THE WOMANS PRESS is the publication department of the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Associations founded in 1906.

In January, 1918, the name and device of THE WOMANS PRESS were formally assumed, while at the same time the national Association magazine, The Association Monthly, began its twelfth volume in a new and enlarged form. In order to allow for greater expansion in the realm of women's interests our magazine, The Association Monthly, has been changed to The Womans Press. With this title as a guide we feel that we shall be able to reach the interest not only of Association members but also of all other women concerned with Christian progress.

THE WOMANS PRESS, while organized and staffed entirely by women, does not confine itself to the use of women writers. Its primary concern is that women shall think, particularly on the pressing current issues of economics, industry, social problems, and religious education, and to this end it desires to use all forms of expression, from texts to fiction. It believes that in the development of publishing in America there is a place for the Young Women's Christian Association to make a strong contribution from the angle of the Christian Woman Movement.

The colophon of THE WOMANS PRESS is the sacred chalice, radiating light against the background of a book. The symbolism of this device is not far to seek. According to the old legend, the Holy Grail was said to have lost its effulgence and to have vanished from sight if approached by a person not perfectly pure and holy.

Books of General Interest

ALIEN REGISTRATION

Published by The Inquiry. 30 cents.

Distributed by THE WOMANS PRESS.

The present keen interest in the immigration question will make of especial value this discussion of the proposed bill for compulsory registration of aliens.

It plans to have the group face squarely the situation as it is, the interests which seem in favor and those which are against the bill and the practical issues involved. It offers a real chance for the private citizen to understand something of the way legislation works, to find out where he stands and why, and to discover ways of putting the group conclusions into some sort of practical concrete action—a chance to do real law-making.

ALL COLORS

Published by The Inquiry. $1.00.

Distributed by THE WOMANS PRESS.

A study outline on woman's stake in race relations.

Lucy had invited a colored classmate to her birthday party—that is how the trouble began. And that is how a group of intelligent women, anxious to be honest with themselves and with others, came to look into this business of race friction, of jealousies between Americans of diverse national origins, of difficulties that different groups have in understanding each other. This study outline has its origin in a number of such discussions—among college girls, among women in professions and in business, among mothers and teachers. It attempts to get at the problems that lie below the surface of immediate situations but to get back from the broader scientific and ethical aspects of the matter to the concrete difficulties in personal behavior and in neighborhood life.

AMERICAN INDIANS AND THEIR MUSIC, THE

By Frances Densmore Probably $2.00.

"Music," says the author, "is closely entwined with the life of every race. We understand the people better if we know their music, and we appreciate the music better if we understand the people themselves. A portion of this book is devoted to the history and customs of the Indians and a portion to their music in its various phases, but the chief purpose of the book is to assist an acquaintance with our nearest neighbor—the American Indian."

A few of the chapter headings give an idea of the richness and usability of the book for teachers, groups studying Americanization, librarians and musicians:

Home Life.
Arts and Crafts.
Ceremonies.
Dances.
Games.
Why Do Indians Sing?
Words of Indian Songs.
Musical Instruments.
The "Scale" in Indian Music.
Certain Peculiarities of Indian Music.

The words and music of eight Indian songs are included.

AND WHO IS MY NEIGHBOR?

Published by The Inquiry. 75 cents.

Distributed by THE WOMANS PRESS.

For discussion groups studying interracial questions.

Written to set clearly before us the problems for discussion, not to find solutions; to find out what we are up against; to understand if possible, some of the consequences of different social arrangements and actions. A story of happenings big and little with suggestions in the form of questions as to the real problems they contain.

ASCENDING LIFE, THE

By Richard Roberts, D.D. 75 cents.

"The secret of Dr. Roberts' translucent style is that he has something new to say and passionately desires to communicate it. To the many recent interpretations of the last period of Jesus' life he has added one in which those moments are singled out that have most significance for the young people of the present day." —The Survey.

"Devotional and inspirational, making clear, with penetrating insight the inner meaning of these epochal experiences in the life of Christ. To read this little book sympathetically is to share in the joy and power of the ascending life."—The Expositor.

"What is essential is understanding of the soul and its needs coupled with ability to express in sympathy what we tongue-tied mortals cannot say for ourselves. These qualities Dr. Roberts has, and by them his little book is made noteworthy."—The Universalist Leader.

ASSOCIATION HYMNAL, THE

Single copies, paper 75 cents; cloth 90 cents. In lots of 25 or more, 50 cents in paper; 65 cents in cloth.

A new collection of those hymns that have proved most helpful and inspiring.

A clergyman at one of the summer conferences pronounced this the best small hymnal he has ever seen. More and more groups are buying it for their own use, proving the truth of his words.

BIBLE STUDIES IN THE BOOK OF ACTS

By H. W. Oldham. 50 cents.

A practical division of the book for daily reading. Notes and thought provoking suggestions. A careful study of the life and teachings of St. Paul and the beginnings of Christianity.

BREAK DOWN BARRIERS 15 cents.

A song especially for industrial clubs and groups whose interest is the bettering of social conditions.

BUILDING OF THE KINGDOM, THE

By Almira Holmes. 30 cents.

A discussion course in seven lessons on the qualifications necessary in those who are to help bring in the new Christian social order.

CAFETERIA RECIPES

By Mabel E. Schadt. $2.50.

Recipes in three proportions for cafeterias, schools and institutions. A new departure in a usable cook book for cafeteria directors. With each book comes a pad of duplicate pages ready to be taken out as the director desires and given to the cook. Additional pads can also be purchased. Saves hours of time in copying recipes.

"A welcome and exceedingly valuable addition to the extremely limited literature of quantity cookery. The author, Mrs. Schadt, is the successful manager of the Y. W. C. A. cafeteria at Fairmont, West Virginia, where the recipes were carefully worked out and tested by actual use."

—Restaurant and Tea Room Journal.

"Looking at the book from its organization standpoint, I immediately appreciated the three proportion arrangement and the duplicate pad material. I hope the time will come when all cook books will be set up in this form. Miss Schadt has made a distinct contribution along this line."—Office of Research in Household Art Education, Teachers College.

CANTICLE OF THE YEAR, A

Compiled by Elvira J. Slack. 75 cents.

A poetry birthday book. The best possible companion to the Girls Year Book, and a capital introduction to some of our best poetry.

You will find in it verses from Alice Meynell, Richard Watson Gilder, Jean Kenyon Mackenzie, Theodosia Garrison, Hermann Hagedorn, Louis Untermeyer among the moderns, and Shakespeare, Ben Jonson, Tennyson, Sir Philip Sidney and a host of other old friends. A bit for each day's memorizing will make you 365 days richer next year.

CEREMONIALS OF COMMON DAYS

By Abbie Graham. $1.50.

"A daintily contrived secular breviary in which Miss Graham has set down her own personal observances for events she finds crucial. Her excitements are full of quaint tender humor. Some of the times and matters for which she has devised Ceremonials are Christmas Eve, New Year's Eve, The Eve of Being Bored, The First Radishes, Letters, Coffee, Rain, Hotel Stationery, Pullman Porters, The First Fire of Winter, Maps and Ink. It belongs, if not on the same shelf, at any rate in the same bookcase, with Trivia. Its paragraphs have the delicate mental flavor of fine verse."—Christopher Morley.

It is indeed delightful—a book of most delicious whimsy and of common sense—full of the pleasures of recognition and the pleasures of surprise. I think it wonderfully well sustained on its unique note; so that those readers who like the least of it will like it throughout. Whether or not it shall have the sale it deserves, it is in itself a successful book and that must be a great satisfaction to Miss Abbie Graham.

CHEERO

By Annie Marion MacLean. 75 cents.

A bit of courage and cheer from one who has far more reason for needing them than most of us. Jane's prescription for rheumatism fits most of the ills of life: "Keep a stiff upper lip—stiff joints will take care of themselves."

CHRISTIAN CITIZENSHIP FOR GIRLS

By Helen Thoburn 50 cents.

How a girl should live in her home, her work, her worship, her recreation, with her friends.

A new revised edition of this helpful little book for individual reading or group discussion among younger girls. Written in an intimate conversational style, the little book is a beautiful delineation of the Christian life.

SUGGESTIONS TO LEADERS is an outline which the leader of the group will find suggestive in bringing out the value of the lessons. 10 cents.

CHRISTIAN FUNDAMENTALS

By Oolooah Burner. 20 cents.

A simple study in the discovery of what faith can reasonably be—arranged in the form of questions to arouse intelligent thinking on the subject, thinking that will later be carried over into action.

CHRISTIAN PRINCIPLES AND RACE RELATIONS

C. C. A. imprint. 35 cents.

Published by The Association Press.

Distributed by THE WOMANS PRESS.

A discussion course especially for students on the application of the principles of Jesus to present-day human situations. Beginning with a careful study of the nature and scope of the problem and the principles laid down in the gospels which bear directly on this, the discussions go on to study the race situation in the south from the angles of background, education, economics and citizenship, and the Christian student's part in the job.

CHRISTIANITY AND ART

By Percy Dearmer. C. C. A. imprint. 85 cents.

Published by The Association Press.

Distributed by THE WOMANS PRESS.

A clearing up of some confused ideas of the relationship between Art and Religion which had their rise in a "long-established historical mistake." "Art," says the author, "exists to make our highest thoughts more luminous." A short historical sketch of the development of Art from the early Christian time to the modern period, written in a simple, non-technical manner.

CHRISTIANITY AND THE RACE PROBLEM

By J. H. Oldham. C. C. A. imprint. $1.00.

Published by The Association Press.

Distributed by THE WOMANS PRESS.

More and more are such books as these seeking to have people face honestly such present problems as the race question, in the light of those Christian ideals which they hold.

A few of the chapter headings suggest how very usable the book is for study groups, particularly for students.

The Christian View and Its Relation to Facts
The Fact of Inequality
The Truth of Equality
Intermarriage
Social Equality
Political Equality

CHRISTIANIZING COMMUNITY LIFE

By Harry F. Ward and Richard H. Edwards. 50 cents.

How to make the social principles of Christ really operative in one's own community.

A survey of our community life today and a study of the principles on which Christ founded his Kingdom. How far will community life today fit on that foundation and how must it be changed—since the foundation cannot be?

CHRIST IN THE POETRY OF TODAY

By Martha Foote Crow. $2.00.

An anthology from modern American poets.

"So many young Americans have turned to this theme to sing their psalm, in spite of most varied lives and convictions —an impressive evidence of this modern worship of Christ in America."
—Vachel Lindsay.

"It is the special merit of her charming anthology that it shows how Christ has been all things to all men."—Marguerite Wilkinson.

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR SONGS

Each 50 cents: $11.00 for 25; $20.00 for 50; $35.00 for 100.

In its gay cover of holly and gold this delightful collection of carols makes a charming Christmas gift. For churches, schools and choruses it is rich in songs for the Christmas season which are new to most of us though in the countries of their birth they have been loved and sung for generations.

CHRISTMAS SHRINE, THE

By Winifred Kirkland. 50 cents.

A timely booklet with its message of peace and woman's responsibility for it.

"Men think peace is made by guns, women know it is made by mercy. Men think peace is made by laws, women know it is made by love. Today there is no power possessed by women that is being so severely tested as that power to live peace, for if women do not bring peace to the world, who can or will?"—From the book.

COOPERATIVE TECHNIQUE FOR CONFLICT, A

Published by The Inquiry. 20 cents.

Distributed by THE WOMANS PRESS.

Of the greatest possible help to clubs and classes interested in discussion of present-day problems. It lights up the whole question of what results one should expect from a discussion and how to make the discussion produce results that are really group decisions.

COMMUNITY STUDIES 50 cents.

Although planned chiefly for Y. W. C. A. workers in cities, this will be useful to all social workers who desire to make surveys in their communities. It is loose leaf in form, with twelve carefully outlined questionnaires on such subjects as living conditions, educational and recreational facilities, industrial relations, sanitation, religious and social forces, and with a list of sources of information.

COURAGE

By Jeannette Marks. $1.00.

"It is a plea, in twelve chapters, for what is positive, constructive, fortifying and high-hearted, as opposed to what is negative, destructive, enfeebling, and low-spirited. The old adage that to be weak is to be miserable re-appears in the assertion that 'for any sort of moral weakness there is but one cure; cultivation of more will-power.'"—The Nation.

CREATIVE DISCUSSION

Published by The Inquiry. 35 cents.

Distributed by THE WOMANS PRESS.

Many leaders ask how to keep group discussion from deteriorating into aimless talk. Here is a clear, untechnical guide to help you "get somewhere." This pamphlet puts the leader and group members at the heart of learning as a democratic process. It shows in sharp outline the principles by which any average group can open up an issue in ways to assure an orderly and searching procedure. Members of committees, conferences, and study circles will find in its pages new suggestions for making group experience rewarding.

CRUCIFIERS, THE

By Lyman Abbott, D.D. 75 cents.

Dr. Abbott is not content to leave that group as mere figures of history. "Whoever," he says, "accepts 'we' as his sovereign in business and in society during the week and endeavors to appease his conscience by adoring Christ in church on Sunday has entered on the path which Judas trod."

And again, "Whoever puts the interests of that division of the church to which he belongs in competition with the progress of real piety will find that the spirit of the Jewish Sanhedrim is precisely his."

"I have read it with the greatest appreciation, and believe it is the kind of book we will want to push with all our might among the students of this country. I hope I may be of assistance in creating quite a large demand for it."—J. W. Bergthold, International Council Y.M.C.A.

DO'S AND DON'TS FOR BUSINESS WOMEN

By Jean Rich (Helen Thompson). $1.00.

Every business girl wants to know how to dress appropriately; how to get along with her associates; how to make her services indispensable to her employer; how to progress in business. Jean Rich (Helen Thompson) in this book talks to the business girl in her own language in a series of articles which originally ran as a syndicated feature in the daily press.

DREAMS AND VOICES

By Grace Hyde Trine. Special price 50 cents.

"Oh don't you love a windy line,
With small gay clothes to make it fine?
The one next door is such a joy—
They have a little girl and boy.
I sit and sit to watch their frocks
That blow and bow like hollyhocks.
Look—Peter's rompers, pink and blue,
They always seem to beckon you."

Mrs. Trine aims to present some of the best poems by modern writers on mother and child relationship. While it is of chief interest to mothers, anyone who enjoys poems about children will like this book. It contains selections by such interesting people as Grace Hazard Conkling, Alice Kilmer, Christopher Morley, Henry van Dyke and Marguerite Wilkinson.

This book is bound in blue-flecked paper, stiff-covered and boxed to match, and makes a delightful gift.

EDUCATIONAL PRINCIPLES AND METHODS 65 cents.

A comprehensive statement of the goal of the Association's educational program, the girl as the center, and the content dependent on her immediate needs. EXPLORERS—A Camp Project

By Marion Dudley. 50 cents.

A framework for camp programs and a source from which to draw ideals. The emotion of discovery—adventure which especially fits the camp environment—is used to discover relationships with other explorers in the realms of living. The ideal of exploring tends to make the girl watch for and dare the new and the different, choose the best way out of many possibilities, find zest in the everyday world.

With this aim the pamphlet works out a consecutive program for a series of days, suggests organization, gives special events for each day, plans for services of worship, discussion courses, camp fire and the whole content of the camp program.

A history of the Young Women's Christian Association in the United States of America from 1866 to 1916.

FLORENCE SIMMS

By Richard Roberts, D.D. Probably $1.50.

"Florence Simms," says the author, "was and remains significant because she was the manifest embodiment of a contemporary spirit. A movement was incarnate in her, and to her friends she still lives as their symbol of the most important development of the thought and feeling of the last half century, a sign and portent of a better day."

For those whose major interest lies in social and industrial questions there is a rare treat in store. Dr. Roberts says of her interest in these questions: "The experience had cracked the shell of her original conservatism and the living faith within grew into a larger and more catholic understanding and practise of Christianity."

FOLK FESTIVALS AND THE FOREIGN COMMUNITY

By Dorothy Gladys Spicer. $1.50.

"We fear that this book (if they encountered it) would bring more than dismay to extreme Americans: it would bring hostility, denunciation, positively persecution to the author from some members of the Union League club. For besides pleading for a sympathetic attitude towards the folk festivals among the foreign communities, the book argues for their continuance and suggests that social workers among the foreign colonies familiarize themselves with the folk festivals and dances and cooperate in their production.

"The book would be a good hand-book in the hands of any instructor and worker among Americans. For it is a fact that our Americans do not know how to play as the peasants of Europe do."—Syracuse Post Standard.

FOLK SONGS OF POLAND

Reprinted from FOLK SONGS OF MANY PEOPLES. 75 cents.

"The glory of Poland is in its music. It is just as necessary to the daily life of the peddlar, the goose girl, the wandering violinist, the tailor, the blacksmith, and the children as is the bread they eat. Civilization may in time do away with the simpler arts of men, but the spirit of these songs will live on."—From the foreword by Eric P. Kelly.

With the coming emphasis in all mission study on Latin America and its peoples this collection of songs from Mexico and South America is valuable as revealing something of the character and temperament of this people. Music is the greatest interpreter and the mission study circle would do well to add this little book to its source material. It will help in an understanding of our southern neighbors and aid in making them more real to others. There is an introduction which discusses very simply what this folk music means to the Latin American.

Ready January, 1927.

Reprinted from FOLK SONGS OF MANY PEOPLES. 75 cents.

Since oriental music is so different from our own it is rarely available for use by most of us. With all our use of the picturesque costumes and customs of those far away lands in teas and entertainments it is seldom that we have music at hand that fits. By lifting this section from the folk song book we are making available to everyone who plays some of the real oriental folk music as it has been translated for our use by those who understand the harmonies of both occidental and oriental music.

The Silver Bay prize song 1920.

FOOD CHARTS—12 in set $1.00.

Twelve delightful posters in color emphasizing a balanced diet. Reprinted in large size, 10 x 14, from the following pamphlet.

"There is, to begin with, the classification of foods, a picture of the food family. Brother Protein, looking strangely like an amiable egg, heads the list. Big Brother Fat sticks his head out of a pound of butter and the Carbohydrate Twins—Potato and Striped Stick-Candy—hang together. They are given first place, as is due the old settlers, but the very important Vitamin Triplets—Bottle of Milk, Red Tomato and Orange, followed by seven very lively Mineral Salt gnomes and some willowy Water Drop fairies—are fully recognized and are given their share of space in the picture.

Another chart has an especial appeal in the springtime, with housecleaning more or less on all our minds. It is entitled "Keeping Your House in Order." Cheese, the Carpenter, Life-Saver Lettuce, Furnace Stoker Fat, Spinach, the Plumber, Water, the Superintendent, and the Athletic Potato all co-operate to do the body's work.

All of the drawings are lively and interesting—good for schoolroom or home nursery. Having neither of these at hand, we are hanging our charts in the Institute laboratory."—New York Herald Tribune.

FOOD FOR THE BODY AND FOOD FOR THOUGHT

By Lucy Marvin Adams. 75 cents.

Capital for the physical director in teaching intelligent eating. Dr. Josephine Kenyon says, "For so short a book it is the most accurate and practical that I have seen."

This by no means aims to be a technical treatise nor the scientific deductions of a dietitian. It is that much rarer thing, a practical stimulating little outline that the physical director or any individual can use in the selection of a well balanced diet. Where a technical booklet would have frightened away the very person who needs instruction most, this popularly written pamphlet with its amusing illustrations will get over its points with ease.

FUNDS AND FRIENDS

By Tolman Lee. $1.50.

"It is most admirable in its analysis of the selling side of raising money. I was particularly pleased with the emphasis placed upon the necessity of the solicitors being thoroughly informed. Most of the failures in joint financial drives have been due to lack of information.

"Every Community Chest might place this book in the hands of key men in the organization. I commend the book in all particulars."

—Halsted L. Ritter.

"Religious work always will need money, and an hour invested in this book ought to mean larger funds for any institution with which the reader is connected." —William Chalmers Covert, D.D., Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

"That which impresses one most is the absolutely common sense approach to the problem. The writer does not seem to major on 'trusting in the Lord,' which to my mind is the unpardonable sin of most Christians.

"There is an insistence of definite, precise and complete knowledge on the part of the solicitor, the keeping of human values always in the foreground, emphasis on the necessity of a friendly relationship with the giver.

"The Lord can usually be fairly well depended upon to attend to his part of the transaction, but He does not propose to atone for our lack of common sense and toil.

"The book ought to be gotten into the hands of those who make the canvass in connection with the Every Member Canvass in the churches of all denominations."—William S. Beard, Laymen's Advisory Committee, Commission on Missions, National Council of Congregational Churches.

GRACE H. DODGE. A WOMAN OF CREATIVE FAITH 25 cents.

GRACE H. DODGE: MERCHANT OF DREAMS

By Abbie Graham. $2.00.

This biography covers a very significant period in the history of American women—1856-1914. In this half-century the women of America, thrown into public life by the Civil War, had a generation of peace in which to prepare themselves for and enter into the responsibilities of the greater community from which they had been largely barred. Miss Dodge, at the center of the eastern activities, was a member of an old New York family. Inheriting the business acumen of the Dodges, she went into business for the dreams of her generation, and is largely responsible for Teacher's College of Columbia University, the National Y.W.C.A., the National Travelers Aid and many other movements and organizations. The history of women is incomplete without the story of this quiet, conservative, far-seeing business woman whose life though rooted in the old period yet looked forward to the new.

"'I dreamed that college once,' remarked Grace H. Dodge, as she drove past Teachers College, which had grown out of her early labors with the Kitchen Garden Association. She might have said the same of numerous institutions into which she poured an astonishing amount of educational, social and humanitarian energy over a long period ending only with her death in 1924. J. Pierpont Morgan said of Miss Dodge that 'she had the finest business brain in the United States, not excepting that of any man.'"—New York Herald Tribune.

"Every New Yorker and every Columbia student, especially, should know what her life means to them. Miss Graham somehow, elusively yet definitely, has captured the slow dignity of Miss Dodge's personality in her narrative and you feel you have been in her very presence."

—Editor John Martin's Book.

LITTLE ROBIN STAY-BEHIND AND OTHER PLAYS IN VERSE FOR CHILDREN

By Katharine Lee Bates. $1.50.

"This dainty volume of child plays by a professor of English literature at Wellesley College is intended to celebrate a special occasion in each month of the year. A splendid book for neighborhood groups as it furnishes material for the entire year. LITTLE ROBIN STAY-BEHIND is based on the migration of birds in the autumn, for eight children, eight to ten years. Time twenty minutes."—Syracuse Herald.

"Dancing delights await the fortunate children, from seven to seventy, who enter fairy-land through the portals of Katharine Lee Bates' volume of plays, LITTLE ROBIN STAY-BEHIND. Into a blithe world she leads us, and the best is that it is the old world we know after all. Not that allegory is here to pester; but modern meanings play through the dainty verse, and in the midst of our chuckles comes a sudden catch of the breath. The Reformed Fourth, a hundred-per-cent-American drama, ends its jolly fooling with a very solemn appeal. Not only public affairs echo through these tripping melodies, the small actors of the little plays will gain a wholesome intimacy with folk-lore, astronomy, what you will; better still, they will gain a new intimacy with the joy of mere living."

SAINTS AND LADIES

By Clarissa H. Spencer. $1.50.

"It is a very enlightening little book and one that women in this turbulent age of constant revolutionary changes are likely to enjoy reading."

—The Continent.

"This is a book of the times. It simply had to be written and it is doubtful if anyone in America is better qualified than the author. Most of the volume is given over to a review of the place and work of women in the Ministry of Jesus. The closing chapter discusses their present status. In brief compass the author reveals both the failure of the Church to act as if it really believed in the spiritual equality of the sexes and also the enlarging horizon of woman's work. It is trite to say that 'every minister should read this book,' but the present reviewer has never said it more honestly than now."—Federal Council Bulletin.

"Saints and Ladies is finely done. It is the record of the women who have been the friends of Jesus from the first century to this. It avoids, for the most part, sweeping generalities and gives us, in concise form, moving accounts of such women as Monica, among the 'Saints and Martyrs'; Hilda, among the 'Statesmen and Mystics'; Katie von Bora (Luther's wife), Elizabeth Fry, and Sara Pierrepont (wife of Jonathan Edwards), among the 'Wives and Preachers.'"

STAR-PROMISE, THE

By Margaret E. Burton. $1.50.

Some of the best thinking that others have done on the unending worthwhileness of life woven together with the author's own thoughts. She takes her title from a suggestive sentence of Sidney Lovett: "There shines... the star promise of God, bright with the assurance that human life shall not long be halted or ever concluded in the desert of despair . . . but must move the revelation of all that is hid."

"Reflections upon immortality, in a modern key, and rising to eagle heights. The march of human life is triumphant, 'moving with irresistible purpose to the consummation of all that is partial, to the completion of all that is fragmentary in Him from whom all life is come forth, and to whom all life is set to return.' This is a golden book of good cheer and abiding faith."—The Sierra Educational News.

The ten tales, each of them true and sympathetically told, make certain phases of Chinese life graphic to the reader. Mrs. Fisher's previous books on China have established her reputation as a convincing and very agreeable writer."—The Continent.

THROUGH AN INDIAN COUNTING GLASS

By Elizabeth Wilson. $1.00.

The story of the launching of the Weaving School which has been taken over by the government.

Weaving prior to this pioneer effort was limited to men. Women were debarred from the classes conducted at the Institute by the government in Serampore. "Nearly every mission doing a large work with women and girls in India has become obliged to introduce some industry for their occupation and support," says Miss Wilson. "This is true of both widows and orphans and women in the villages who need employment in their own homes. Weaving cotton materials seemed so well suited to the situation that it was proposed that the Y.W.C.A. take the initiative in opening a normal weaving school for women. The Bengal government promised grants."

The school, opened and run under Miss Wilson's supervision, was located at Serampore, near Government Institute, with which it was later incorporated. The opening was due to the joint effort of Christian missions and the Association. The Bengal Department of Industries made grants.

WAYS OF A BUSINESS WOMAN, THE

By Norris and Clapp. 75 cents.

Each chapter in this book brings out an outstanding phase of character, such as tact, and through a story illustrates its value in the life of a business girl. To form character, to teach one to think, helping one to be a follower of Christ, is the task accomplished by these lessons.

Published by The Inquiry. 75 cents.

Instead of talking in terms that only an expert can understand, it asks you to think of the part played in "making up your mind" by the history you studied in public school, by the foreign born people you knew in your own community, by the yarns you heard during the war, by the newspaper you read every morning. It is arranged, with the aid of many concrete examples, to help you discover how you really got your present opinions.

"The book is specially commended to students and teachers of educational psychology. It presents a point of view fundamentally sound and significant in the investigation of the direct share of sex in the production of mental differences."—Journal of Educational Psychology.

"In a discussion of the health of woman she has turned her attention actually to health, not to ill health, so that her volume might well serve as a handbook for the normal woman bent on the retention of physical well being."—School and Society.

"WOMAN'S PHYSICAL FREEDOM will be invaluable to thousands of women not only college-bred but also those who usually have no access to the most modern views of women's so-called handicaps. YELENKA THE WISE

By Anne Charlotte Darlington. $1.50.

A book of dramatized folk tales. Eleven old folk tales from Russian, Serbian, Roumanian, Hungarian, Polish, Italian, and Greek sources are collected here in book form. Most dramatic and not difficult to produce, they will be eagerly welcome by all groups interested in plays, as well as those whose interest is the customs and lore of other races. Two, The Stars and The Torch of Hellas, are long. At the Fair is an operetta.

The plays, which are based on old legends and folk tales of the European countries they represent, were intended primarily to give the foreign born an opportunity to express for us in this country something of the life and color of their own countries. For that reason the dramatic forms have been kept very simple. Few production details are given and there are almost no stage directions, groups being left free to work up the action, costuming, and settings for themselves, consulting, if necessary, some of the many excellent books available on those subjects.

The plays are, however, equally well suited to American groups. It is felt that they will be particularly welcomed for camp, school, and club use.

A little dance-play in rhymed verse about an heiress who has refused offers of comfort, wealth and beauty. When Beau in despair presents love in a cottage, she delightedly accepts. Care must be given to making the least detail perfect or the effect of a quaintly formal dialogue of Dresden china figurines will be lost. Popular for Saint Valentine's Day.

BRIGHTNESS OF HIS RISING, THE 50 cents.

The historical setting into which Christ came is portrayed in a dramatic prologue. The first of the three episodes which follow gives the plea of Truth, Justice, and other spirits for relief for the Children of Men; the second episode shows Earth's preparation; and the last is the familiar nativity scene in the stable at Bethlehem. Celestial Love. 7 characters. Settings: Imaginary.

A pretty little pantomime featuring the property-man, who is characteristic of all Chinese drama. The tragedy of the fate of the unhappy lovers, who are slain by an irate father, is relieved by the matter-of-fact ways of the property-man.

TRANSFIGURATION OF THE GIFTS, THE 50 cents.

By Frances Cavanah. 8 adults, 5 children, a choir. Time: 30 minutes. Setting: Interior of the stable at Bethlehem.

A play for Christmas time which may precede or conclude a Christmas entertainment or may be given independently, in hall or church. An imaginative interpretation of the Christmas story, where the gifts of little children are turned to beauty because of the love for the little Christ-child.

TREE OF LIFE, THE 50 cents.

By Esther Willard Bates. Royalty $5.00. About 18 principal characters, singers, hidden voices, etc. Setting: The platform of a church. Lighting arrangements should lend themselves to raising and lowering of the illumination.

An Easter pageant of unusual beauty which permits of a cast that can be increased at will by the enlarging of the groups and choruses. In the final episode the bare cross becomes a green and living tree as the palm branches carried by the characters are placed on it.

TWO INDIAN LEGENDS 50 cents.

By Frances Densmore.

The Race of the Ants. 5 girls, 9 boys, and groups of children. Setting: A field.

The chief of the ants announces a great race. The ants enter the event enthusiastically, but one of them, because he is so sure of himself, is hurt by a hail stone. The chief then calls in the Hail, the Cloud, the Wind, the Mouse, the Cat, the Wood, the House, and the Farmer, and demands why they caused the misfortunes. The Farmer, because he is the biggest, drives them all away.

How the Turtles Went to War. 16 or 18 little boys and girls. Setting: Easily improvised.

The animals want revenge on the Indian who stole Mrs. Rabbit's babies, but they are all too timid to lead the attack. The Snapping Turtle finally gets up a war party, but refuses all offers for assistance except that of the little turtles. When the battle finally occurs, the turtles are defeated and would have been quite eaten up if the other animals, whose help they had rejected, had not come to their aid.

Both these simple dramatizations are based upon a story of an Arizona Indian story teller, and are unusually delightful.

TWO WATER PAGEANTS 50 cents.

By Lucy South Proudfoot.

A Fairy Water Play. 4 principal characters, wood and water nymphs. 2 acts. Setting: A lake with a wooded background.

A picturesque and colorful water pageant with wood nymphs, satyrs, water nymphs, and a frog.

The Giant's Garden.

This fairy tale is suited for dramatization in an indoor pool, and combines dancing and pantomime with swimming. Fancy diving and swimming are called for. The interest of both these plays lies in the clever use of excellent swimmers.

TWO WEEKS WITH PAY 50 cents.

By Barbara Abel. About 30 girls, 10 principal characters. Setting: A barren roadside.

A dramatic skit on the vacation theme. This might well be used by club groups in the spring to awaken interest in the summer camp and vacations that really refresh. It is also usable for money raising.

VICTORY OF LIGHT, THE 50 cents.

By Helen Willcox. 4 principal characters; a large company of dancers.

A beautiful masque, showing in symbolic figures the victory of light over darkness. In its interpretation, its verse, its use of dances, color and light, this is far above the average and we suggest it for commencement, camp, and festival presentation.

WAIF, THE 50 cents.

By Elizabeth Grimball. 8 principal characters, 3 minor characters. Setting: A narrow street.

The Christmas Spirit, in the guise of a forlorn waif, seeks the Golden Star. In weariness and confusion, he loses his way, and begs the passers-by —Vanity, Greed, Sorrow and Pleasure—to help him find the way. They will not stop, but Faith, a bedraggled traveller, joins him in his search. Service finally comes to their aid and guides them to the light they seek. A modern "morality" that has been widely used.

WAYSIDE PIPER, THE 50 cents.

By Mary S. Edgar. 21 characters. Prologue, 4 episodes, epilogue. 6 scenes. Settings: A wayside; an arbor; a workshop; out of doors.

Into the Piper's flute, Faith, Hope and Love, have breathed the essence of themselves to produce a clear, beautiful melody. With this the Piper goes forth into the wayside places of life, awakening a responsiveness from those who hear him, as he calls for the latent music of individual expression from all kinds of girls.

WHICH WAY OUT 50 cents.

By Florence Wells. 7 men, 3 women. Time: 45 minutes. Setting: A prosperous Chinese home.

A clever comedy, full of dramatic possibilities and consequently easily played. A Chinese girl returns home from school determined to become a physician. How, with the aid of a school friend, she escapes the marriage arranged for her by her father, but escapes in such a way that her father does not "lose face," is the story of the play.

WOOINGS AND WITCHES 50 cents.

By Vida R. Sutton. 15 characters. Settings: A wood; an improvised balcony; a street; a room simply furnished; a luxurious interior—made from a set of hangings and a few properties.

The Jester introduces Titania and Bottom, Romeo and Juliet, Henry V and Katherine, Petruchio and Katharine the Shrew, Richard II and Anne. After they have given their love scenes he calls in the witches, who mix a brew and confuse the lovers. Wrongly paired, each answers the speeches of the other, with mirth-provoking results, until the jester releases them.

9 WEST 64TH STREET, NEW YORK CITY

FOUNDED in 1915 by James Philip MacCarthy, then of the editorial staff of the New York Herald; and L. J. de Bekker, then of the editorial staff of the New York Evening Post, The Writers Publishing Company was a copartnership. It took over the business of The Authors' Guild, which published MacCarthy's "The Newspaper Worker." The first books to bear the imprint of The Writers Publishing Company were De Bekker's "The Serio-Comic Profession," and MacCarthy's "The Rise of Dennis Hathnaught."

THE public and the book trade took the newspapermen's joke seriously, and the partnership became a corporation under the laws of New York. James Philip MacCarthy, first president of The Writers Publishing Company, Inc. (an office he held until his death), looked upon the corporation as the servant, first, of a small group of authors who sought to control their own output, then of the book buying public.

THAT is precisely the view of the present officers. The corporation has no retail shop, but is building a more efficient organization for the sale of books to the public and through the trade by mail only. Three rules, which have governed from the first, are adhered to:

To publish at rare intervals.
To give the public good service.
To buy and sell for cash only.

SCHOOLS, Libraries and the Book Trade will benefit from the last rule by sending cheque, draft or P. O. order with their shipping instructions, and at the customary discounts, in which event books will go forward free of delivery costs. Otherwise all prices quoted in this catalogue are f.o.b., New York City.

THE WRITERS PUBLISHING CO., Inc.

PUBLIC UTILITIES AND THE LAW. WM. M. WHERRY, JR. $3.00

The first book in which the legal relations of public service corporations to the public are discussed by a lawyer who has worked out the principles in successful litigation and practice.

FRANKLIN AND OTHER PLAYS. RITA BENTON. $2.50

Three full-length dramas, including "Coming Down the Mount," and "Margaret of Salem." B. F. M. writes in Unity:

But the best of the three is "Franklin." The picture is authentic. It is the living Franklin, and his environment and associates, whether in London, New York or Paris, are correct. Furthermore the excellent dramatic structure of the piece shows a skilled hand. . . .

"Margaret of Salem" is a sharply drawn tragedy of the earlier intolerant days in America. All the unregenerate devils in China could hardly hope to equal the depravity of the degraded perversion of the fanatical Puritanism of our fathers. . . . The development of this horror from its simple beginning to its inevitable climax is displayed with vivid clarity.

Says the Boston Transcript of "Coming Down the Mount":

Jesus never appears on the stage but in every scene of the play his presence is felt. He is the universal spirit which affects the players, each one in a different way and degree; his teaching is the mainspring of the action, bringing inevitably with admirable dramatic effect the death of his body, the eternality of his ideals.

With no hint of cant or superstition, no trace of pietism or of theological demonstration, Miss Benton has woven a sound, compact, and compelling play. Stimulating to read, the play should, with competent direction, be no less inspiring in actual production.

THE STAR CHILD AND OTHER PLAYS. BENTON. $5.00

Of the original printing of these charming children's plays, the few remaining copies are held as collector's items at the advanced price.

SHORTER BIBLE PLAYS. BENTON. $1.25

Little plays for little folk, on religious themes.

BIBLE PLAYS. BENTON. $2.00

Eight biblical plays for amateurs.

BIBLE PLAY WORKSHOP. BENTON. $1.00

All of Miss Benton's plays for children, more than 36 in all, are being staged in various parts of America. This book tells how to produce them.

THE NEWSPAPER WORKER. JAMES PHILIP MACCARTHY. $2.50

New edition of a standard book. The author was for 25 years one of the editors of the New York Herald, and president of The Writers Publishing Co., Inc. With portrait. Introduction by L. J. de Bekker, a chapter on "Libel" by William M. Wherry, Jr., and one on Tabloids and Pictorials by Francis Judson Tietsort.

"All Books of All Publishers, by Mail Only."

THE WRITERS PUBLISHING CO., Inc.

THE RISE OF DENNIS HATHNAUGHT. MACCARTHY. $1.50

A history of the rise of the proletariat, too evenly balanced to be favoured as propaganda by either Capital or Labour.

THE PLOT AGAINST MEXICO. L. J. DE BEKKER $5.00

The book which exposed and prevented the attempted intervention of 1919. The author's 1926 postscript, with additional facts, is an excuse for the higher price. "A fine object lesson in the methods of imperialism the world over," said the London Daily Herald.

De BEKKER'S MUSIC AND MUSICIANS. $6.00

The only one-volume work covering the whole range of music from the beginning to 1925. "One of the most sensible musicians' extant," writes Alfred Human in Musical America.

One new and significant feature is introduced: broadcasting makes its appearance as an acknowledged feature of modern musical life—probably for the first time in any such book—and some of the technicalities of wireless telephony are defined.—The Manchester Guardian.

Technical information is given briefly, and is reliable, and the plots of the principal operas are related in considerable detail. On the biographical side a vast number of contemporary musicians have been included. Every article has been brought up to date, almost to the moment of publication. The book is very well designed to suit the needs of those whose knowledge of music is not great but growing.—The London Times.

The biographical section is unusually complete, embracing a large number of living musicians, both European and American, who cannot be found in any other musical reference book. The biographies are well proportioned in length. Particular care has been taken to list as many as possible of the works of all the major composers; in the case of Beethoven and Mozart, in fact, the list is quite complete (the entire Koechel catalog of Mozart's works is included). There are innumerable cross-references made easily discernible by a simple typographical device. A vast array of brief articles upon theoretical and historical topics, and detailed synopses of the plots of virtually all the operas in the existing repertoire in America and abroad. The book is almost alarmingly up-to-date. Tiring of Bach, equal temperament and the sonata form, one may bridge the centuries and learn of jazz radio. Darius Milhaud, the League of Composers and last season's performances in New York of "Le Sacre du Printemps."—Deems Taylor in The New York World.

The De Bekker book is astonishingly comprehensive, and one of its features which readers are sure to appreciate is a summary of the plot and a brief catalogue of the chief musical divisions of a large number of operas.—The Nation.

THE SERIO-COMIC PROFESSION. DE BEKKER. $1.25

A book for writers, newspapermen, and all who may be interested in them and their craft.

DESKBOOK OF ENGLISH IDIOMS, ETC. VIZETELLY and DE BEKKER. $2.00

More than 11,000 phrases and expressions in vernacular English explained.

Absalom Grimes

Confederate Mail Runner

EDITED FROM CAPTAIN GRIMES' OWN STORY

BY MILO M. QUAIFE

of the Burton Historical Collection.

For ten years preceding the outbreak of the Civil War, Absalom Grimes was a Mississippi River pilot running between St. Louis and St. Paul. At the beginning of the war, he promptly enrolled in one of the small irregular companies being raised to recruit the Confederate Army. It was in this same company that Samuel Clemens (Mark Twain) had his "short and inglorious" experience as a soldier. Grimes' account of this experience, and particularly of Mark Twain's part in it, is funnier than anything Twain ever wrote. It is here published for the first time in book form.

Shortly after the break-up of this detachment, Grimes voluntarily constituted himself mail carrier extraordinary between the Missouri and Kentucky Confederate battalions in the South and their relatives at home. Repeatedly he ran the lines between the two armies, incurring, whenever he entered the Union lines, the peril of apprehension as a spy.

He ran the blockade into Vicksburg by the simple expedient of wiring his mail in tin boxes to the bottom of an overturned skiff and floating beside it through the Union gunboats.

He was repeatedly captured, and twice sentenced to death. He spent much time in old Gratiot Prison, St. Louis, and the account of his escapes is as entertaining as it is amazing. He was under sentence of death when the war ended and escaped only by the personal intervention of President Lincoln, who gave him an unconditional pardon. History records few more intrepid spirits than Absalom Grimes, and his story is well worth preservation.

300 pages. 8vo. Illustrated. Price, about $3.00.

James Durand

An Able Seaman of 1812

His Adventures on "Old Ironsides," and as an Impressed Sailor in the British Navy

EDITED BY GEORGE S. BROOKS

WITH A FOREWORD BY COMMANDER HERBERT L. SATTERLEE of the Naval Order of the United States.

After a few coasting voyages Durand, at the age of fourteen, shipped on the frigate John Adams, in 1804, for the war against the Turks. During the blockade of Tunis he was transferred to the Constitution, where he remained through 1807. Two years later, while first mate of a Swedish vessel at anchor off Plymouth, England, he was impressed by H. M. S. Narcissus, and was "held in detestable bondage for more than seven years." Finally obtaining his release, he wrote his adventures as an "admonition to all youth to avoid the snares and usages of the English men-of-wars men."

Durand's story is a moving account of perils, hardships, and brutality, and a vivid picture of the life of a common sailor. At times he is unconsciously amusing, as when he states that Cairo is on the site of ancient Babylon, or when he says of Napoleon, "The most I can say of him is that he is small in stature, dark complexion, but has a sharp and expressive countenance."

Illustrated. Price, $1.50.

The Analysis of Art

By De Witt H. Parker

Professor of Philosophy in the University of Michigan. Author of "The Self in Nature," "The Principles of Æsthetics," etc.

Professor Parker presents in this volume a thoroughly sound and, at the same time, entirely readable discussion of the philosophy of art. His point of view is essential and modern without exclusive championship of any particular school. The author utilizes the light which modern psychological thought throws on æsthetic problems, without accepting any of these theories in their entirety.

Professor Parker defines art as the expression of imagination in terms of the senses. On the basis of this definition, he discusses qualities of design common to all art, the relation between form and representation in painting, and the perplexing fact that works dealing with essentially painful subjects can give us pleasure.

In his chapter on the industrial arts, he points out that while such art may fulfill a utilitarian object it must have in addition an element of "pure beauty" which may be appreciated through the imagination.

In his final chapter, Professor Parker sets forth his theory of the function of art: that it provides us with an expression and satisfaction in the imagination of our necessarily excessive desires; that it extends our experience to the past and to otherwise alien peoples; that it transforms the background of action by providing a more enlightened scale of values; that it aids religion by bringing it closer to us; and that it gives us, in the midst of the confused incompleteness of life, perfect moments.

As is indicated by its title, the book is intended not only to show that art does give pleasure but how and why. Throughout Professor Parker points his observations by references to outstanding works of art, reproductions of which are included in the book.

Profusely illustrated. Price, about $4.00.

A Canyon Voyage

The Narrative of the Second Powell Expedition Down the Green-Colorado River from Wyoming, and the Explorations on Land, in the Years 1871 and 1872

By Frederick S. Dellenbaugh

Artist and Assistant Topographer of the Expedition.

Prior to 1869, the Colorado River country was almost a complete blank on the maps of the United States. The Canyon itself had never been traversed by white men. In this year, Major Powell made his famous first descent of the Green-Colorado River from the Union Pacific Railway in Wyoming to the mouth of the Virgin River in Nevada, a feat of exploration unsurpassed, perhaps unequalled, on this continent. So far as being useful in mapping the river, however, the trip was a failure due to the almost complete loss of the records and photographs through various mishaps, including the wrecking of the boats and the massacre of one of the parties by Indians.

It became necessary, therefore, to make a second expedition and it is this descent of the Canyon which is described by Mr. Dellenbaugh, who as artist and topographer was one of the eleven men on the expedition of 1871-1872.

Backed by a government commission and under the nominal direction of the Smithsonian Institution, the expedition started on April 29, 1871, from the point where the Union Pacific Railway crossed the Green River. For over four months these intrepid explorers plunged and whirled in their frail canoes through canyons sometimes so narrow that the sun was not visible for days at a time while the walls on either side were thousands of feet high; through rock strewn rapids where the boats had to be lowered by means of block and tackle or shot at the risk of eminent destruction.

It is now over fifty years since the expedition was made. Mr. Dellenbaugh's account is and will remain for all time the authentic story of the trip.

Second and Revised Edition. Profusely illustrated with photographs, colored plates, sketches, and maps made by the members of the expedition. Price, about $4.00.

The Threat of Leisure

By George Barton Cutten

President of Colgate University, author of "Mind: Its Origin and Goal."

Contents: Leisure? How Did We Obtain Our Leisure? Shall We Standardize Work and Play? How Are We Investing Our Leisure? Is Leisure a Menace? Can We Use Leisure to Advantage? Is Education a Solution?

A century ago people were rejoicing in the decrease of the working day from sixteen to twelve hours. In 1890 the average workday was ten hours; in 1920 it was eight hours; within a decade we may expect to see it reduced to six hours. Modern machinery has increased the output per laborer from ten to hundreds and even thousands of times that which was possible a hundred years ago.

Leisure, to a disconcerting amount, has come upon us. What are we doing with it? Commercial agencies have been quick to exploit the time gained from the treadmill of labor. It is estimated that more money is spent in America on commercialized leisure than on anything else except food.

But commercialized leisure is accompanied by serious deficiencies, to say nothing of actual evils. Consider, for example, its effect on individual initiative: Fifty years ago each member of the average family could perform more or less credibly on any one of a half dozen musical instruments. Then came the mechanical piano, to be followed shortly by the phonograph, and now we have the radio before which the family sits passively and listens. We are taking our leisure ready made, we do not contribute to it; we accept what is offered. Such an organization of society can scarcely be expected to develop constructive leadership.

With Bibliography. Price, $2.00.

Mind: Its Origin and Goal

By George Barton Cutten

"A clear exposition of the most important conclusions of modern evolutionary science is here presented. Unlike the pussy-footing of many scientific writers which makes them more contemptible than their outspoken fundamentalist opponents, this book by the president of Colgate University makes no concessions to popular prejudice. He argues frankly that our minds as well as our bodies have evolved from animal ancestry, that differences between animal and human intelligence are quantitative not qualitative, that there is no soul other than the mind, and that morality and religion undergo constant change.—Saturday Review.

With Bibliography and Index. Price, $2.50.

Man and the State

By William Ernest Hocking

Alford Professor of Natural Religion, Moral Philosophy and Civil Polity, Harvard University. Author of "The Meaning of God in Human Experience," Human Nature and Its Remaking."

Politics is the most practical of the arts; and on this account requires, even more than most arts, a science of human nature, that is, a psychology; a science of right, that is, an ethics; and a view of man's place in the world, that is, a metaphysics. It is such an interpretation that Professor Hocking sets forth in his present volume.

Early American Wall Paintings

1710-1850

By Edward B. Allen

In the opening years of the eighteenth century the first American wall paintings made their appearance in the homes of the colonial aristocracy, the officers of the crown, and wealthy merchants. The painters of these earliest panels have long been forgotten; probably they were itinerant portrait painters, willing to turn their hands to interior decoration, or the painting of coaches or tavern signs. These panels were followed by a more ambitious group of frescoes, including the work of Cornè and the American landscape group. Last of all is the elaborate decorative treatment of a Connecticut house, attributed to Brumidi.

The author has spent many years in the collection of material for this noteworthy contribution to the history of American art, and has obtained many splendid photographs illustrating these old mural decorations.

Small quarto. Price, about $7.50. (Ready in October.)

A Background to Architecture

By Seward Hume Rathbun

In this analysis of the great periods of architecture from the philosophical standpoint, the author shows the principles in which the recognized architectural achievements have depended for their success, and explains how intimately these achievements have been connected with the other manifestations of the period or race which produces them. To demonstrate how the grouped factors of each civilization create the background for its particular style of architecture, the chapter analyzing each period is preceded by one setting forth the characteristics of the civilization which inevitably result in a given style.

*With many illustrations and plans. Price, about $4.00.

Christianity and Naturalism

By Robert Shafer

Associate Professor of Literature, Graduate School, University of Cincinnati.

The book opens with a brief sketch of the age-long conflict between the religious and the naturalistic interpretation of life. Then comes a discussion of religious thought in England during the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries.

From this point the problem is developed through a series of studies of the lives, beliefs and writings of such representative men as Coleridge, Newman, Huxley, Matthew Arnold, Butler, and Hardy. A concluding chapter sums up the problem as we find it to-day: science vs. religion—irreconciled and irreconcilable.

"Christianity," says Professor Shafer, "is moribund, as practically every one sees. And it is moribund not so much from the 'wickedness of the people,' though they are wicked enough, as from its own internal failures. Gradually it has sunk lower and lower in the scale of existence, until it has so nearly severed all intelligence and enlightenment from itself as to make men wonder how its few great outstanding figures can have honestly and sincerely taken up the cross."

"Naturalism," says Professor Shafer, "is as old as philosophy, and it will probably continue to manifest itself in ever new forms as long as men attempt to construct philosophical systems. The secret of its perennial strength lies on the surface of our Western civilization. For naturalism takes its origin from the desire to know, from men's desire to visualize their environment in simple comprehensive terms, from the desire somehow to grasp reality as an order, a system of the understanding, directed against crude, contradictory, and incomplete explanations of the universe and life drawn from traditional sources. As such it not only deserves to be welcomed by all true friends of humanity, but it has again and again vindicated itself in ways whose impressiveness and fruitfulness for civilization none can deny."

Price, $4.00.

Progress and Science

The tragic story of the French occupation of Isle St. Jean is here for the first time authentically told. The United States Oil Policy

By John Ise

Professor of Economics in the University of Kansas, author of "The United States Forest Policy."

The question of conservation is one of the most important problems confronting the American people; for whatever preëminence this country may have among the nations of the world in wealth, in enterprise, and in standards of comfort in living, must be attributed to its great natural resources. In this book, the second of a series covering the land policy of the United States, Professor Ise deals with one of the most important of these resources.

The following list of chapter headings will give some idea of the comprehensiveness of the work: Petroleum in Ancient and Medieval Times; Early History of Petroleum in Pennsylvania and New York; Significant Features of Early Pennsylvania Oil History: Instability—Over-Production—Waste of Oil—Waste of Capital and Energy—Monopoly Conditions; Oil Exploitation in Other Eastern and Central-Eastern States—in the Southern States—in the Mid-Continent Field—in California—in Wyoming and the Rocky Mountain States; Disappointing Fields of Exploration; The Over-Production Spree of 1921-1923; Over-Production and Curtailment Agreements; Waste of Oil; Waste of Capital and Energy; Monopolistic Conditions in the Oil Industry: The Standard Oil Company—Large Scale Organization in General; Development of Conservation Sentiment; The Public Oil Lands: Manner of Disposition—The Placer Law—Withdrawals—Discussions in Congress—The Leasing Law; The Naval Reserves and the Teapot Dome Investigation; Indian Oil Lands; Results of Our Oil Policy: The Present Situation; The Question of Substitutes for Oil Products; The Questions of Foreign Supplies of Oil; Conclusions.

The Pueblo of Jemez

By Elsie Clews Parsons

This volume represents field-work done by Dr. Parsons in 1921 and 1922, as part of a general ethnological survey which she is conducting among the Pueblos of Arizona and New Mexico, and is incorporated in the Phillips Academy, Department of Archæology studies because Jemez is connected in many ways with Pecos, the ruined pueblo at which the Department has for several years been carrying on excavations.

The study begins with an Historical Survey of the people of Jemez and proceeds with an examination of their Economic Life, Family and Personal Life, Secular Government, and Religious Practices.

It is a thoroughly technical and highly specialized piece of work with many tables, drawings (many of which are in color), diagrams, maps, and geographic illustrations. The edition is limited to 500 copies, more than half of which are already subscribed for.

Illustrated. 144 pages. Bibliography. Price, $7.50.

Down the Santa Fé Trail

and Into Mexico

Diary of Susan Shelby Magoffin
1846-1847

EDITED BY STELLA M. DRUMM

Librarian of The Missouri Historical Society.

The diary begins June 12, 1846. The author is eighteen years old, a Kentuckian, and the bride of a trader; with him and his outfit she sets out from Independence, Kansas, for Mexico. They travel in a carriage, or on horseback: the goods are drawn by ox-teams.

The trip lasts fourteen months, and in the course of it they visit Las Vegas, Santa Fé, Socorro, El Paso, Chihuahua, Saltillo, Monterey, and Mier, where the journey ends, as they are about to take a steamboat for Comargo.

Samuel Magoffin was an intrepid soul, and his wife Susan a woman of keen observation and rare courage. Much of the diary was written in Mexican villages, where there was imminent danger for Americans, for the war with Mexico was in progress, and a victory for the Mexican arms would inevitably be followed by an uprising, followed by the capture and probable murder of the traders. These entries show that the dangers, like the hardships and discomforts, were accepted as part of the day's work.

Susan Magoffin describes vividly the slow and painful progress of the ox-team, and the daily incidents of her life; the squalor of the Mexican villages; the people she meets. Of Zachary Taylor she says: "He wore his uniform which I am told is no common custom with him, and I should think so from the number of wrinkles in it, the work of many weeks packing."

Lady Miller and the Batheaston Literary Circle

By Ruth A. Hesselgrave, M.A.

Lady Miller, the prototype of Mrs. Leo Hunter of "Pickwick Papers," was the leader of a little group of eighteenth century serious thinkers. These she gathered about her by a series of literary contests which, topped off by sumptuous breakfasts, were a boon to hungry poets, many of whose verses were afterward published in four volumes of "Poetical Amusements at a Villa."

Not only is this account of Lady Miller's activities amusing; it is an interesting study of human nature and ambitions as well.

Characters and Epithets

A Study in Vergil's Aeneid

By Nicholas Moseley

Professor of Classics in Albertus Magnus College.

The book opens with a study of the technique of the epithet as displayed by Homer and Vergil's other predecessors and by Vergil himself. This is followed by a series of character studies—Dido, Juno, Venus, Ascanius, Æneas—based on the epithets which throw new light on Vergil's own conception of these figures and the way in which his contemporaries must have viewed them. Tables in the back of the book show each occurrence of every personal epithet. These tables are arranged alphabetically and under the separate characters and should prove invaluable to those who wish to study the Æneid, its sources or its influences.

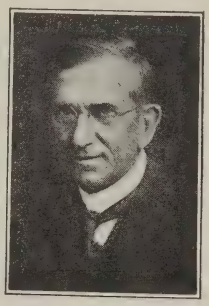
Where Do You Live?



By Charles Reynolds Brown

Dean of the Divinity School, Yale University and Pastor of the University Church.

"Where Do You Live?" With characteristic force Dean Brown flings this question to Young America. "Where do you really live? It is not a question of geography. You cannot tell where any man lives by looking at the map or in the city directory. You must examine the contents of the man."

With unerring directness, the author goes straight to the moral and spiritual problems of the young man of to-day. Caring nothing for niceties of creed and doctrine, he lives and preaches the golden rule—the practical application of Christianity. "This is the doctrine Paul preached and there is none better. It is acceptable to the Fundamentalist and also to the Modernist. William Jennings Bryan believed in it and Harry Emerson Fosdick preaches it every Sunday. It is good, sound doctrine at Dayton, Tennessee or at Princeton or in Boston."

The titles of the "talks" in this new volume are: Where Do You Live?; Have We Outgrown Fear?; The Jericho Road; Equipment; The Challenge of the Unattained; The Failures of Success; The Study of Religion; What Is That to Thee?; The Man and the Machine; The Summons of a New Day.

They are live topics, treated with gentle humor, with keen satire, with sound common-sense; and always with a true sense of moral and spiritual values.

"Where Do You Live?" is a book which should be in the hands of every young fellow who is graduating from high school, starting into college, or going out into the struggle of life.

Council and Courts in Anglo-Norman England

By George Burton Adams, Litt.D., LL.D.

Late Professor of History Emeritus in Yale University.

"It is the purpose of this book to trace the history of English judicial institutions from the Norman Conquest through their first age of growth; to attempt to show what they were in themselves and how they were transformed; to indicate their setting in the general constitution of the state, and to trace the influence upon that constitution of the changes which they underwent; and thirdly in some cases at least to point out the Anglo-Saxon foundation upon which they rested, or the lack of that foundation, and to what extent in the former instance the character of the final building was affected by the character of the foundation."—From the Introduction.

Italy

The Central Problem of the Mediterranean

By Count Antonio Cippico

Senator of the Realm of Italy.

"The Italian problem is set forth briefly and persuasively in Count Cippico's six lectures delivered before the Williamstown Institute of Politics and now issued in book form. Its broad historic survey of the course of Empire is suggestive of possible future stages in that course. Its statement of Italy's case is reasonable. Its idealization of Italian international policies is natural in one who is presenting before the bar of world opinion the cause of a nation which has never in modern times received adequate recognition or just treatment at the hands of the more strongly-entrenched world powers."—Saturday Review of Literature.

Introduction to The American Official Sources for the Social and Economic History of the World War

COMPILED BY
WALDO G. LELAND AND NEWTON D. MERENESS

This is the first volume in the American Series of "The Economic and Social History of the World War." In its preparation the authors have had the coöperation, not only of officials, including custodians of records, but of historical scholars who held war-time positions in Washington which gave them a special knowledge of certain important categories of records.

The volume has an added value because of the chaotic and anarchic character of the archival situation in Washington. The public records of the Government are housed wherever room can be found for them. Some of the most valuable are in temporary quarters, or stored in attics and basements. They are constantly menaced by fire, damp, dirt, and by all the other enemies of paper documents. They are so scattered about the District of Columbia and the surrounding territory that a comprehensive and systematic account of them is practically impossible. Some of the most interesting war archives are still boxed up and with many others are inaccessible. The volume now being published naturally does not cover manuscripts with the same comprehensiveness as it is able to deal with printed documents, for the conditions just described make that impossible. Fortunately, however, much material, which in other countries has remained in manuscript, has in the case of the United States been printed or at least mimeographed and thus the inequality in the treatment of the manuscript records is to a large extent lessened.

The last section of the volume deals with the local collections which have been gathered in most of the States by the special committees that were constituted for that purpose during or immediately after the war. The object of these committees was to collect all possible material that would throw light on the participation of their respective States in the war and on the social and economic conditions prevailing during the period. In many cases the collections thus formed are very extensive and of the greatest value to the investigator. Their inclusion in the present volume, although it enlarges its scope somewhat beyond the indications of its title, adds much to its value and suggestiveness and increases its range of usefulness.

The Whalers of Akutan

An Account of Modern Whaling in the Aleutian Islands

By Knut B. Birkeland

Ever since man learned to sail the sea in ships, the pursuit of the whale has had a peculiar fascination for the adventurous. Ranging all the waters of the globe, and in times past offering rich pecuniary reward to the successful, this hugest of creatures has been sought for hundreds of years, wherever vessels could follow.

The utilization of petroleum brought an end to the great epoch of whaling, as typified by the splendid New Bedford fleet. Four-year voyages to the South Seas and the Desolation Islands, with their ordeals of thirst and scurvy, are no more; but there is still a demand for whale oil and whalebone, and men still go forth to obtain them.

"The Whalers of Akutan" is a description of modern whaling, and more: it is a remarkable human document, which gives in simple and telling fashion the story of the author's initiation into the business of whaling at the age of fifty-nine. As a narrative of adventure, a story of an indomitable and courageous spirit, and a study in human relations, "The Whalers of Akutan" is sure to hold every reader's attention. The book contains many splendid photographs which portray every phase of the life, at sea and ashore.

Illustrated. Price, $3.00.

Knocking About

Like many another lad of the old New England coast towns, Augustus Baker Peirce early succumbed to the call of the sea. In 1859, at the age of nineteen, we find him sailing out of Boston in an old square-rigger bound for the South Seas. In Melbourne harbor he deserted his ship and for thirty years rambled from one part of Australia to another. Gold-digger, soldier, sailor, necromancer, actor, and what-not he came to know the wild, primitive life of the country as few men could.

Profusely illustrated from drawings by the author. Price, $3.00.

Island-India

By Augusta de Wit

In these sketches there unfolds before the reader something absolutely new in literature. The scenes are set in the great islands of the Indies. They illuminate, as has never been done before, the brown man's soul. They are romantic; one critic speaks of Miss de Wit's work as "an incomparably rare and precious deposit of facts, traditions, and memories bearing on the deepest spiritual realities in the life of the people of Java."

Extra large 8vo. Illustrated. Price, $3.00.

By Cheyenne Camp Fires

By George Bird Grinnell

Author of "The Cheyenne Indians," "When Buffalo Ran," etc.

This collection of folk tales gathered by one of our greatest authorities on the American Indian is a real contribution to our knowledge of aboriginal oral literature. The stories show vividly the range of the Indian's ideas, the things that interested him, the activities of his life, and the crude mythology which made up a large part of his religion.

"By Cheyenne Camp Fires" contains: Hero Myths, The Earliest Stories, Culture Hero Stories, and Wihio Stories. Wihio is the simpleton who always makes his magic once too often, to his own discomfiture, and the corresponding delight of his fellows.

Illustrated. Price, about $4.00.

The Cheyenne Indians

Their History and Ways of Life

By George Bird Grinnell

"The value of such a work as Mr. Grinnell has produced can hardly be overstated. The Indians are a vanishing race, and the remnant that remains is rapidly losing the traditions which link it with the past. It is highly important that what can still be learned about the race be recorded while there is yet time, and this can be done through the patient and painstaking labors of such devoted students of Indian lore as George Bird Grinnell and a few others like him."—The New York Times.

Two volumes. With 50 illustrations from photographs and drawings. Price, $10.00.

When Buffalo Ran

By George Bird Grinnell

"It is hard to classify this book. It might be called a straightforward narrative of real adventure in the fashion of Defoe; it might be called a book for boys who like to read the romance of the old west; it might have been printed as a contribution to the sociology of the American Indian. In any case, it is a remarkable story and as interesting as it is remarkable."—Literary Review, New York Post.

"This is an exceedingly interesting, true story of an Indian boy of more than fifty years ago, written by a man who started in life as a brave little Indian, who is now a cultured American."—Journal of Education.

In this attractively illustrated volume the younger readers will find a charming successor to "The Fortunate Days," "The Broom Fairies" and "Tales from the Secret Kingdom" by the same author.

Miss Gate's special magic is the power to create stories which seem, to young and old alike, as if she were merely retelling them—as if they must always have existed as part of our folk-lore. They sound as old as The Arabian Nights—and as new. To the youngster of from six to twelve this group of tales is a veritable argosy of Arabia.

This exhaustive study of the estimates of Fielding and his work, from the date of his first publication to the present, is of unusual interest and value to students of English literature. It presents the great novelist as an exponent of the mind and temper of his age; the unique quality of his art, realistic, interpretative, wholesome and humane; his influence vital not only upon the course of the modern English novel, but, through successive schools of criticism, upon the theory of literary art, and, as a result, upon widely diversified fashions and movements of critical and constructive fiction.

Fifty Years on the Old Frontier

As Cowboy, Hunter, Guide, Scout, and Ranchman

By James H. Cook

"This volume of reminiscences adds another to the list of books whereby Yale University Press—to which all honor for the enterprise—is helping to make clear certain phases of American history. Mr. Cook saw so much of the beginnings and early march of the outposts of civilization as they pushed toward the frontier across far western plains and mountains that he has rendered a distinct public service in setting down his memories, as the Yale University Press has done also in putting them into permanent form. The work affords, of course, the entertainment always to be found by those who enjoy narratives of adventure and danger and for all who are interested in the thrilling story of the winning of the West its tale is brimful of pleasurable and valuable reading. But over and above both of these the volume has much value as a source book of American history during those troubled years of war with the Apaches in the southwest and the Sioux and the Cheyennes in the northwest, for of it all the author can say, 'all of which I saw and a part of which I was.' . . . Mr. Cook's volume is a notable contribution to the chronicles of American development."—The New York Times.

Six Years with the Texas Rangers

By Captain James B. Gillett

Edited with an Introduction by M. M. Quaife of the Burton Historical Collection, Detroit.

James B. Gillett was born at Austin, Texas, November 4, 1856. At the age of sixteen he was a full-fledged cowboy. At nineteen he was a Ranger. He was active in suppressing the cattle wars and Indian raids which were at the time disturbing western Texas.

He had a part in the capture of Wes. Hardin—the most notorious gunman of the West—and of Sam Bass, the pleasant young cowboy who held up the Union Pacific and appropriated $60,000.

He was with Baylor on the scout into Old Mexico after Victorio and his bloodthirsty Apaches. He went on a private expedition into Mexico, kidnapped a murderer and brought him across the Rio to justice—and almost precipitated an international situation. He was Marshal of El Paso when no one else could keep the town quiet.

New edition, with many illustrations from rare old photographs. Price, $4.00.

KELLY'S DUEL WITH TWO SIOUX WARRIORS

From an illustration by C. M. Russell, in "Back-Trailing on the Old-Frontiers."

"Yellowstone Kelly"

The Memoirs of Luther S. Kelly

EDITED BY MILO M. QUAIFE

of the Burton Historical Collection.

WITH A FOREWORD BY GENERAL NELSON A. MILES

In the last year of the Civil War, Luther S. Kelly, as yet under sixteen years of age, enlisted in the Union Army. At the close of the war, he was sent with his regiment to the Dakota Frontier.

With the expiration of his enlistment in 1868, he took up the life of hunter, trapper, and explorer on the upper courses of the Missouri and Yellowstone rivers. The accounts of his various expeditions and of his encounters with the Indians—both as friends and enemies—are always intensely interesting and often thrilling. One episode in particular, which occurred while he was carrying the U. S. mail from Fort Buford to Fort Stevenson and which has become a classic of western history, is here told authentically for the first time.

His intimate acquaintance with the country and with the various Indian tribes led to his being appointed Chief of Scouts to General Miles during the Yellowstone River campaigns, the outstanding result of which was the submission of the Nez Percés under Chief Joseph.

All in all, the story is rich in excitement and adventure, besides throwing much light on the type of men who gave their lives to the conquest of the Northwest.

8vo. 300 pages. With illustrations and maps. Price, $4.00.

Conflicts with Oblivion

Being Historical Studies of Pepys, Colonel Thomas Blood, Sir William Monson, Oliver Cromwell, Sir John Wentworth, Disraeli, Venerable Bede, and "Colonel" John Scott

By Wilbur C. Abbott

Professor of History, Harvard University.

"While the book gives evidence of careful research, its historical details are carried with the easy grace of romance; it possesses the solidity of fact and the buoyancy of fiction; it is the product of a scholar who is also an artist."—Literary Review.

"Brilliant studies of eccentric souls. . . . All the figures are set solidly and substantially in their background. Professor Abbott's erudition is not only extensive and thorough, it is manageable, malleable, comes at call, without intruding itself unseasonably."—Saturday Review of Literature.

"An extraordinarily interesting book concerning a few men who typify the capricious fate of those whom the world remembers."—The Independent.

"This is an intensely human book. It is a unique book, a fascinating, entertaining, instructive, and excellently written book."—James Truslow Adams, in The New Republic.

Large 8vo. 400 pages. Illustrated. Price, $4.00.

The Yale Shield on a Book

The Life and Letters of James Abram Garfield

By Theodore C. Smith, Ph.D.

Professor of History in Williams College.

"It is not unfair to say that this is one of the most important biographies written of an American statesman in many years, perhaps even during the lifetime of the Republic. This statement seems no doubt to approach the superlative. No matter! The plain facts are that very few biographies have gone so far and so convincingly to present an historical character in a guise that is so different from that of popular estimate."—Boston Evening Transcript.

"It is the only life of Garfield worthy of the name and it will undoubtedly and rightly take its place in that small group of works bearing upon American history, its men and institutions, which will always deserve to be studied. . . . We wish this book might be studied by every young American of the present day and generation. It would do them more good than any book we can name of contemporary interest. It covers a section of American history, the study of which is essential if one wishes to know the present."—Thomas L. Masson in the New York Evening Post.

Two volumes, boxed. Frontispieces. Price, $12.00.

The Yale Shield on a Book

What the Yale Shield means on a Book

means more than a publisher's imprint; it means that that book has been approved by a competent editor; it means that it has been carefully considered and found worthy by the Council's Committee on Publications of Yale University.

In Content and in Mechanical Excellence

It means that it has been printed from specially selected type on high grade paper, and bound with distinction.

It means that it is a book of more than ordinary importance, unique in its field, and of lasting value, a book that the discriminating reader, the student, and the library may purchase with complete assurance as to its worth.

Where Yale Books may be Purchased

The editorial and business offices of the Yale University Press are at the Earl Trumbull Williams Memorial, New Haven, Connecticut.

The New York offices are at 522 Fifth Avenue, where the visitor will find a complete library of Press publications.

In Great Britain the Oxford University Press is the authorized agent of the Yale University Press.

Yale University Press books are available at all good bookstores in the United States and Great Britain.

A printing plant that you owe it to yourself to inspect—

Why our business has more than doubled in the last three years:

1. night and day service, and "service" that is a fact, not just a word (ask our customers),
2. a modern and complete plant under one roof,
3. equipment and efficiency in operation that enable us to meet successfully even out-of-town competition, and
4. a staff especially experienced in handling every sort of book publishers' publicity.

The first step in being convinced is to call and look over our plant: the second step is to talk over your work with us and ask us to submit you an estimate!

THE MAP OF AMERICA'S MAKING

FOR

THOSE WHO WOULD THROUGH BOOKS

SAIL WITH THE DISCOVERERS, SEEK FREEDOM WITH THE COLONISTS, THRILL WITH THE SOUND OF THE LIBERTY BELL, FOLLOW THE WESTWARD TRAILS, AND BEHOLD

THE BUILDING OF THE GREAT REPUBLIC

NOW IN ITS ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTIETH YEAR

"My good ship sails away with me
Across adventure's tossing sea;
I am the Captain in command,
I steer my ship with steady hand.
I see the good, I meet the great,
I find at last my Golden Gate."

¶ If you were one of the 259 booksellers who ordered a copy or more of Paul Paine's Map of Adventures from us you will know something of the thrill of interest that map awoke in you as you followed some literary trail, something of the satisfaction it was to sell this map because it was a beautiful and effective decoration for library and child's room.

¶ And now comes THE MAP OF AMERICA'S MAKING by the same draughtsman, more beautiful in execution, more exciting in personal and patriotic memory and more timely because this is the 150th anniversary of the signing of the DECLARATION.

¶ These maps sell to librarians, teachers and parents for children's rooms and class rooms. Each copy sold stimulates folks to renewed reading and so promotes bookselling. Each copy is packed in display envelope or an extra heavy mailing tube. Price $2.50.
